Asks Laws To Close Loophole

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California has become the nation's leading source of obscenity—from "nudie" magazines aimed at teenagers to mail order sexual devices—Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch said today.

There is a distinct and immediate demand for legal action against the smut dealers, Lynch told the legislature in a 107-page report on how the state's obscenity industry works.

Lynch said he would testify at a Senate hearing today for bills to fill a legal gap regarding what is obscene and what isn't, and to keep obscene material from falling into the hands of children. The measures have the backing of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

LOS ANGELES CITED

Los Angeles in particular is the production and distribution center for such matter, Lynch said. He called it the undisputed king of the "girlie" and "nudie" magazines.

Law officers trying to attack the problem are confronted with a confusing legal gap between the scope and intent of recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions and interpretation of California law by state courts, Lynch said.

At issue, he added, is whether California law should apply only to hard-core pornography, as state courts have ruled, or if it should also cover some obscenity, a path cleared by U.S. Supreme Court rulings.

FIRST AMENDMENT

Lynch said he is aware of opposition to the bills by those who believe they may violate the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, guaranteeing freedom of speech.

But Lynch said the U.S. Supreme Court has found the First Amendment does not protect pandering in publication.

"I also am aware that opposition comes from those who march . . . under the flag of the green dollar. This is a very big business, as our report shows, but I see no reason why it should be protected by society and government."

Lynch said the California-based obscenity industry grosses an estimated $19 million a year. No one knows the retail value, he said.

Bombing Plot Is Shunned By Humphrey

BERLIN (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today ignored what police called a bomb plot against his life and carried out his scheduled program under a strong security guard.

There were no major incidents but five student organizations called a major demonstration today against American policy in Vietnam and against Humphrey.

Humphrey was cheered by thousands of Berliners as he drove from the airport to City Hall. At City Hall he defended U.S. policies in Vietnam and likened the strong stand there with the strong stand that saved West Berlin.

He said of all people Berliners should realize the value of friends and allies standing by their commitments.

Humphrey read a personal message from President Johnson in which the President expressed the conviction Germany one day would be reunited.

Humphrey recalled that when Johnson visited Berlin as Vice President on Aug. 20, 1961, one week after the Berlin Wall was built, Johnson gave a pledge of American support.

"I renew that pledge," Humphrey said.

Hardcastle Backs Aid To Commuters

Marin Transit District Board last night unanimously endorsed using Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District funds to help improve Marin-San Francisco commute bus service, and voted 5-1 in favor of a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge.

County Supervisor John F. McInnis was absent.

CALLED MILESTONE

The unanimous vote directing that a resolution be prepared endorsing bridge district help in underwriting improved bus service was greeted with approval by Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, a member of the bridge district board. He called it a milestone, and declared, "I think this is all we need."

The Tri-Partite Transit Committee, composed of representatives of Marin and San Francisco supervisors and the bridge board, has endorsed the idea of improving bus service by buying buses to be added to the Greyhound commute fleet or operated by the bridge and transit districts.

NOT ACTED UPON

A resolution introduced in the San Francisco Board of Supervisors in February, but never yet acted upon, endorsed use of bridge district funds "to supplement funds raised through Marin County taxes for the improvement of inter-county bus service." However, it specified that "in the absence of any further commitment by this board, financial assistance from the City and County of San Francisco will not now be expected."

Despite this reservation on San Francisco financial assistance, Hardcastle declared that because both San Francisco and Marin apparently are convinced that improved bus service is the answer to the commute problem, "we're going to have a substantial amount of money . . . to get those buses rolling."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss felt it would be important to get San Francisco to share the cost. "It's a three-way deal, San Francisco, Marin County and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District," he said.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr warned, however, that if Marin "reaches out" for money from San Francisco, it may jeopardize that county's good will.

'RATHER CLEAR'

"I think it's rather clear" that San Francisco does not want to contribute money," commented chairman Thomas T. Storer.

The second deck proposal, introduced by Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, passed with opposition of Storer, who said he did not want to rule out possible installation of an underwater tube connecting San Francisco and Marin.

Behr insisted on qualifying Kettenhofen's motion to provide that a second deck was endorsed only if study of a mass transit system shows it is feasible. He said sending more cars into San Francisco may be doing the city a disservice.

The transit board also agreed that a transit engineer — probably full-time — must be hired. Kettenhofen warned against haste, however. He said Sonoma and Napa counties pro-

Unruh Opposes Rumford Repeal Try

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, said today he's always had grave doubts about the Rumford open housing act but to repeal it now "would be just another kick in the pants" to minority groups.

"I have some reluctance at this point to voting for a repealer," Unruh said at a news conference with Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno. Burns is the author of a repeal bill approved by a Senate committee Wednesday. (See story, page 25.)

Unruh declined to speculate on what would happen to the repeal bill if it should pass the Senate and go to the Assembly.

The Senate Government Efficiency Committee approved the bill yesterday after Burns took over authorship from Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, a member of the John Birch Society. The bill also was amended to retain the Fair Employment Practices Commission in its present form.

Burns said his taking over sponsorship is "related purely to the question of whether we as representatives of the people should carry out the people's will, and I for one think we should."

He forecast Senate passage of the repeal bill.

The Rumford act was passed in 1963, but was nullified by Prop. 14, approved by the voters in 1964. The State Supreme Court later overruled the proposition and upheld the Rumford act. The issue now is before the U.S. Supreme Court. The act bans discrimination in much of California housing, and gives the Fair Employment Practices Commission the power to investigate complaints.

Burns said the Rumford act was the final straw that led to the Democrats' defeat in the 1966 election.

"They resented this being crammed down their throats and they in turn crammed Prop. 14 down our throats and said 'there, see how you like it'."

On other subjects, Unruh:

Declined to comment on a San Francisco grand jury's recommendation that the legislature take steps to remove Assemblyman Charles W. Meyers, D-San Francisco for alledged irregularities involving state funds.

Unruh said, "We feel we have an obligation to run an honest and efficient shop here and whatever we do, that will be the end product." He denied a report that he was urging Meyers to resign from the Assembly.

Said he had no knowledge of a report that a federal grand jury in Sacramento was investigating a prostitution ring possibly involving one or more legislators. "I'd be mighty surprised" if that was the case, Unruh said.

On Gov. Ronald Reagan's first 100 days in office, said he thought Reagan had gone through a learning process and the result is evident "of our having a rather fruitful and not too discordant session."

More Rain Due Through Tomorrow

A persistent heavy downpour dumped from one to two inches of rain on Marin County up to 8 a.m. today.

Ross was the worst hit with 2.6 inches by 8 a.m. San Rafael had 1.23 inches, by noon, bringing the total so far in the city to 51.82 inches. Seasonal average is 33.17 inches.

The Weather Bureau predicted the storm clouds will bring more rain to the area through tomorrow.

Other Marin rainfall figures up to 8 a.m. today were: Woodacre 1.91, San Anselmo 1.9, Manor Hill, Fairfax 1.8, Tamalpais Valley 1.65, Mill Valley 1.49, Sausalito and Larkspur 1.45, Terra Linda and Larkspur (Chevy Chase) 1.4, Belvedere 1.29, Hamilton Air Force Base 1.26, Novato 1.25, Bolinas .94.

The rain slowed commuter traffic in city areas and caused mudslides in some places. A slide blocked much of Junipero Serra Boulevard in South San Francisco. There were no reports of mudslides in Marin County.

Reds Free Prisoners In Coast Attack, Span 'Freedom Bridge'

SAIGON (UPI) — A force of North Vietnamese troops crossed a bridge into South Vietnam today in a border penetration that coincided with a major Communist assault on the coastal city of Quang Tra 15 miles to the south.

U. S. artillery guarding the frontier opened up on the bridge —the "Freedom Bridge" where war prisoners have been exchanged in the past and which South Vietnamese leaders earlier this week proposed as a site for North-South peace talks.

At the same time a force of 1,200 Communists launched a series of coordinated attacks around the provincial capital of Quang Tri, killing or wounding 250 Vietnamese soldiers and some Americans and freeing 250 Communist political prisoners.

A military spokesman said eight U.S. Marines were killed in the Quang Tri fighting and that the Communists left 90 bodies behind when they withdrew later.

The guerrillas also raided the jail in the center of Quang Tri, shot the guards to death and released the 250 prisoners, who were mostly Communist political cadremen.

The targets struck three American installations—the military advisory office compound housing U.S. advisers, the U.S. Aid For International Development (AID) compound and a small airfield.

Hardest hit were the jail and

Nationwide Trucking Walkout Is Imminent

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A nationwide Teamsters strike was imminent today though negotiators worked to break the deadlock between the powerful union and major U.S. truckers.

The government made it clear it would move immediately to halt any strike under the Taft-Hartley Act.

Negotiations broke up late last night after an apparently fruitless session. William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation Service, asked both sides to return to the bargaining table today.

But there was increasing concern that having secured overwhelming rank and file authorization to strike, the Teamsters leadership may have trouble keeping their 500,000 members on the job while negotiations continue.

"Any interruption of transportation would seriously affect the national economy, the defense effort, and the welfare of the communities involved." Simkin said.

Union negotiators said that if they decided to strike, they would hit only certain carriers to avoid government intervention under the Taft-Hartley Act.

But Trucking Employers Inc., (TEI), an association representing 1,500 of the country's largest trucking firms including all coast-to-coast carriers, warned that any selective strike would be met with a shutdown of all TEI operations—a move that would almost certainly bring federal intervention.

Turks To Vietnam Rumor Disclaimed

Gunfight Clash In Neutral Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — U.N. and North Korean observers made a joint four-hour investigation today of an armistice line area where U.S. soldiers and North Koreans clashed yesterday in one of the most serious gunfights since the 1953 Korean armistice.

The U.N. command said the North Koreans claimed four of their men were killed and two were wounded. But the North Korean Central News Agency said five North Koreans were killed and a sixth wounded.

Before the investigation, the U.N. command had reported three North Koreans killed. There were no U.S. casualties.

A U.N. command statement said the North Korean observers were shown the bodies of two North Koreans killed on the south side of the armistice line and that these bodies were turned over to the Communists.

North Korea's Central News Agency said the North Koreans were civil policemen on "routine duty" in the north portion of the demilitarized zone 1.2 miles east of Panmunjom.

The U.N. command said the North Koreans crossed the armistice line into the U.N. portion of the demilitarized zone, and after the American guards spotted them there was an exchange of fire "including fire from North Korean concealed positions across the military demarcation line," which divides the demilitarized zone.

Cong Turncoats Act As Paid U.S. Scouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is hiring former Communist soldiers to help American troops locate Viet Cong guerrillas and their hideouts in South Vietnam, Pentagon sources report.

This new intelligence program was launched early this year in extreme northern areas of the country near the demilitarized zone. The repatriated enemy troops are called Kit Carson scouts.

They lead Marine patrols into the countryside to identify Communist guerrillas — usually indistinguishable from the friendly populace among whom they live—and locate enemy tunnels, arms and ammunition.

Sixty scouts, most of them former Viet Cong who were trained in North Vietnam and thus are intimate with enemy operations, are on the U.S. payroll.

For their hazardous turncoat assignment the scouts draw $40 a month, more than a South Vietnamese private gets. Because they are prime targets for assassination, the scouts live with the Marines.

The one-time Communists are screened long and hard before being allowed to lead American men, who could be vulnerable to ambushes.

Latin Session Draws Noisy Red Protest

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Acting on orders from Havana, the Uruguayan Communists are waging a noisy propaganda campaign against President Johnson and his summit conference with Latin-American leaders next week.

Tight security measures are expected to restrict the Red activity to a lot of shouting well away from the conference April 12-14 at the coastal resort of Punta del Este.

The Communists plan a 90-mile mass march from Montevideo to Punta del Este and a 24-hour general strike April 12, but informed sources said their chances of disrupting the conference are virtually nil.

Interior Minister Augusto Legnani said the march was authorized with the proviso that participants disband before reaching Punta del Este. If they try to enter the resort, police will stop them, officials said.

Uruguay's small but well organized Communist party is legal but has joined with other minor leftist groups in a pro-Castro front known as Fidel from its Spanish name — Frente Izquierda de Liberacion (Leftist Liberation Front).

The Communists dominate half of Uruguay's unions, however, including the 200,000-member National Convention of Workers, and they control the powerful Federation of University Students.

The California College of Medicine has been on Griffin Avenue here since 1914. It became affiliated with the university two years ago.

Violin Master Mischa Elman Dies At 76

NEW YORK (UPI) —Violin virtuoso Mischa Elman died yesterday and in his passing took with him the great rich, romantic tone once described by Carl Sandburg as "a singing fire and a climb of roses."

Elman, 76, died of a heart attack in his duplex apartment on Central Park West. Mrs. Elman was in an upstairs bedroom of the apartment recuperating from a foot fracture when her husband collapsed.

Elman thrilled thousands upon thousands of audiences throughout the world with his warm, sensous tones and the pure sound of his Stradivarius. Sandburg's accolade was in a poem written after he heard Elman play in Chicago 50 years ago.

His career dated back to Oct. 14, 1904, when at the age of 13 he made his debut in Berlin.

Born in Talnoye in the Ukraine, Jan. 20, 1891, Elman came naturally to the violin. His grandfather was a concert violinist and his father a teacher of religion, also played the violin.

Powell's Right To Run Upheld

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell's right to run Tuesday for re-election to the House seat that his colleagues denied him was upheld yesterday by the appellate division of the State Supreme Court.

The five-man panel denied the appeal of a lower court decision against a suit which had challenged Powell's right to run on the grounds that the House resolution which excluded him would also prevent him from returning for the rest of the 90th Congress.

U. S. ENTERING WAR WORLD WAR I

That Day 50 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty years ago today the United States entered World War I — called the Great War until a greater one came along — and stepped toward a role in world leadership.

On that day, Lyndon B. Johnson was an 8-year-old in a Texas hamlet.

Robert F. Kennedy was not born until some eight years later.

But there is one man who was in Congress when war was declared April 6, 1917, who is still there — Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz. He'll be 90 next fall.

STARTED IN HOUSE

Hayden came to the House in 1912 on admission of Arizona as a state. He served there until elected to the Senate in 1926.

In a war anniversary interview, Hayden recalled long hours of debate before the House passed the war resolution 373 to 50 in the early morning hours of April 6.

But of all that was said, Hayden related, "I remember most distinctly the remarks of Jeannette Rankin, the lady from Montana."

Miss Rankin, a Republican, and the first woman elected to the House, did not respond until her name had been called four times on the roll call. Then, close to tears, she stood and said, "I want to stand by my country, but I cannot vote for war. I vote no."

Hayden said when he voted for the war declaration he was expressing the overwhelming view of his constituents.

GERMAN PROPOSAL

One incident that moved the United States toward war was disclosure of a reported German proposal to Mexico that it, Germany and Japan join in a war against the United States. Mexico, it was suggssted, would get the states of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

Hayden related that with the declaration of war he and a number of his House colleagues began to talk about volunteering.

FOUR ENLIST

"By the middle of 1918, when this ban had kind of been forgotten, four of us went down and enlisted and served until after the armistice."

He named the other three as retired Judge Marvin Jones of the U. S. Court of Claims, then a Texas representative; another Texan, the late Sen. Tom Connally, then in the House, and the late Albert Johnson, a representative from Washington.

Hayden, a captain in the Arizona National Guard, was made a major and was commanding an infantry battalion at Fort Lewis, Wash., when discharged.

Chronologically, the steps in the declaration of war were these:

April 2—Wilson, addressing a night joint Senate-House session, asked for the declaration. It was then that he said "the world must be made safe for democracy," the line most remembered from that address.

More prophetically, he also said: "Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its people. We have seen the last of neutrality in such circumstances."

April 3—Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, R-Wis., by the technicality of invoking Senate rules and refusing unanimous consent, temporarily blocked Senate consideration of the resolution.

April 4 — The Senate debated the resolution for 13 hours and at 11 p.m. passed it 82 to 6.

April 5 — The House began consideration of the resolution.

April 6 — After 18 hours of debate, the House passed it. Newspapers of the day variously report the time as 3:12 a.m. and 3:15 a.m. At 1:18 p.m., Wilson signed it.

One account is that Wilson's action was signaled by semaphore from a White House window to the Navy Department, then relayed to ships at sea.

Among the first U. S. actions were seizures of 91 German ships interned in American ports and the arrest of dozens of suspected German spies.

The United States sent two million men "Over There" and one was a 21-year-old from Pekin, Ill., named Everett McKinley Dirksen, now the Senate Republican leader.

As in every war, there were boys who fudged about their age to get into service. In 1917, a tough kid named Mike Mansfield managed to get into the Navy at 14. He later did time with the Marines and the Army.

Now a senator from Montana, Mansfield is leader of the Senate Democrats.

There are numerous other World War I veterans in Congress, but the majority of the present Congress is too young to have known that war.

The Germans believed that if their U-boats strangled supplies, the French and British on the Western Front could be defeated before America could exert any important force in France.

The Germans miscalculated. The French and British proved tougher than they expected; the Americans got there faster.

The late Gen. Peyton C. March, a wartime Army chief of staff, once told a reporter years later that in his view the greatest U.S. achievement of the war was the movement of two million men to France as quickly as was done.

He recalled that some men moved in old ships with three-tier bunks improvised from 2 by 4s with chicken wire netting for the men to lie on. Three men were loaded for each bunk and each allotted eight hours of bunk time. The bunks were used around the clock.

If it was indeed a race with time, it was won.

Tempers Flare In Murder Trial

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — Tempers are beginning to flare in the murder trial of Dr. Carl A. Coppolino, who appears to be one of the most relaxed persons in the courtroom.

State attorney Frank Schaub and chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey engaged in heated exchanges Wednesday during the third day of jury selection.

Forty-one prospective jurors had been dismissed through Wednesday, 22 because they said they could not return a death penalty.

Johnson Holding On Surtax Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration appears quietly to be backing away from a July 1 effective date for its proposed 6 per cent surtax on most income taxes.

But the surtax itself, key officials insisted today, is still very much alive and will be needed during the second half of the year to help stem inflation in what they predict will be an expanding economy.

TIMING CRITICAL

The critical question now is in the timing.

Although the July 1 effective date is still considered a possibility by the administration — "It's still in the ballpark," one analyst said — the chances reportedly are good that it might eventually be abandoned officially.

Reasons are the opposition in Congress to the surtax itself and the current sluggishness in the economy, which is deeper than government economists anticipated in January when the surtax was proposed.

Officials want the latest economic figures in hand when they approach Congress later this spring with their formal surtax proposal.

By June, when the House Ways and Means Committee has indicated it will hold hearings on the surtax, government economists hope they will have the economic facts to support their plan.

But the general coolness of effective date — Sept. 1 or Oct. 1 for example.

Administration sources said a decision on details for the surtax — and exactly when it might become effective — won't be made for at least another month.

By that time all the first-quarter figures will be available, as will preliminary estimates for April. This should also give some indication of possible later trends in the economy.

UPTURN HOPES

Some government experts hope, however, that the beginnings of an upturn might be reflected in statistics yet to be published for March and April.

But the Gross National Product — the value of all goods and services produced in the economy — is expected to show one of its smallest advances in recent years for the first three months of 1967, a factor which could reinforce opposition to the surtax.

Lund, lion tamer; Donald C. Barksdale, tail twister; Arthur C. Latno, treasurer; Robert J. Brusatori, secretary.

AND LOS ANGELES?

They Like It In Bay Area, San Diego, Poll Reveals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Poll revealed Wednesday that San Diego residents are among the state's happiest, San Franciscans are not far behind—and Los Angeles leaves something to be desired.

The poll said 85 per cent of the persons intereviewed in San Diego said they enjoy being right where they are. Seventy-nine per cent of those residing in the San Francisco Bay Area rated their section of California as the best place to live.

The Central Valley was favored by 71 per cent of its residents, while Los Angeles drew the praise of only 69 per cent of the people in that area.

Most native Californians were firmly convinced of the state's superiority, but people born elsewhere were less enthusiastic.

Eleven per cent of California's residents rated the state as only an average or poor place to live. They blamed overcrowding, high cost of living, smog, high taxes, heavy traffic and unfriendly people, in that order.

'Pinnochio' Due At Reed Schools

Youngsters in kindergarten through sixth grade in the Reed School District will see performances of "Pinnochio" by the San Francisco Players Guild next Monday at Bel Aire School and Tuesdy at Reed School, during morning and afternnon assembly periods.

Del Mar School principal Robert B. Gaw said pupils will be bused from Granada School to the Bel Aire performances Monday, and from Belvedere and Tiburon schools to Reed School Tuesday.

Gaw said the play is part of the district's cultural series, allowing the children to witness "live" performances by professional actors.

Taxing Agencies Warned To Save Against Appeals

Under the new rules for assessment role appeals, all taxing agencies in Marin County will be well advised to budget reserves to cover property assessment adjustment, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell warned today.

Under the old rules, assessment appeals before the county board of equaliziation were completed prior to the third Monday in August when the county assessment role is fixed. Under the new rules, however, there is no time limit on appeal hearings, which could conveivably continue through the year, meaning that taxing agencies might have to refund a portion of taxes in some cases, Mitchell said.

He will recommend that county supervisors allow for .25 of one per cent reduction in the assessment role. Small districts may have to allow a larger cushion since a change in a large parcel or two within a district could mean a larger percentage reduction.

Bill Paying In Extortion Trial Related

A Berkeley builder today testified in Marin Superior Court that he once paid any and all bills charged by Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, of Ross.

"Why would a man do that unless he is under a threat?" he added.

The testimony came during cross-examination of Joseph M. Walker, owner of Walker-Built Homes Inc., in the jury trial of Mrs. Fritz on three counts of extortion and a fourth on attempted extortion.

Walker, who has accused Mrs. Fritz of obtaining over $138,000 from him during a near 10-year period to keep their intimacies a secret from his wife and business associates, was the prosecution's first witness in the trial which began Tuesday before Judge Peter Allen Smith, sitting in the higher court.

Cross-examination by the defense attorney, W. O. Weissich, began yesterday afternoon and centered around letters and notes exchanged between Walker and Mrs. Fritz.

Walker, who testified the intimacies ended in 1962, said it was in 1961 that he started paying the bills. Last money he sent her under her extortion threats, he testified, was in February of 1966.

may well be the most profitable. It is certainly the most objectionable from the stand-point of complaints because it invades the home."

"California, and more particularly the Los Angeles area, is the undisputed capital of the sex - oriented mail order business. More than 100 firms are known to operate from Southern California, offering in their direct mail solicitations everything from photos to bizarre coital contrivances," the report said.

Lynch proposed the legislature urge Congress to regulate mail order list brokers, who peddle names and addresses of unwary prospective customers to the smut purveyors.

"California law enforcement agencies have been swamped regularly with complaints from small towns in the midwestern United States which have been inundated with sex - oriented mailings addressed solely to the children of these towns and bearing the postmarks of Los Angeles or its suburbs."

The report, available only to the press, legislators and other officials, reproduces in one two-page spread the covers of 32 "nudie" magazines.

Also illustrated are book covers and advertisements for sexual devices.

Lynch said an edited version of the report probably will be made available to the public later.

Humphrey. The students charged the police "fabricated the bomb plot to suppress demonstrations against Vietnam and Humphrey.

About 3,000 persons cheered Humphrey as he arrived at city hall on John F. Kennedy Platz but there were a few whistles—a sign of hostility in Germany—and one man cried out "war criminal." The shouter was booed by his neighbors and told to keep quiet.

Humphrey, traveling with his wife Muriel, looked at ease as he stepped out of their plane at Tempelhof Airfield. He appeared unworried by a police announcement they had uncovered a plot against his "life or health" and had arrested 11 persons, mostly left-wing students.

Humphrey's 14-day tour of American allies in Europe has been marked by frequent demonstrations by left-wing youths against the war in Vietnam. Incidents have included paint and egg throwing and chants of "Humphrey, murderer."

two Vietnamese base areas where North Vietnamese and main force Communists penetrated the defense perimeters before being hurled back.

American artillerymen guarding the border fired 15 to 20 rounds into the bridge area, shattering the across-the-border assault, but it was not known immediately whether the bridge itself was destroyed.

Freedom Bridge, or Victory Bridge as it is sometimes called, is a tiny span across the Ben Hai River and connects North and South Vietnam. Normally it is a peaceful area.

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said he believed this was the first time the Communists have attacked across the bridge in this war.

The attacks in the Quang Tri sector coincided with a 10-hour wave of terror attacks extending from the Saigon area to the Demilitarized Zone itself. Some of the attacks backfired and at least 55 guerrilla bodies were counted; others were believed killed by airstrikes.

But the Communists, trying to disrupt another round of local elections next Sunday, left a number of men, women and children dead or maimed. The Communists also struck with mortar barrages against U.S. troops near the Cambodian border and wounded 41 in two attacks.

Allied spokesmen reported American troops lost 194 killed in battle last week and 1,679 wounded, reflecting the fighting in War Zone C where outnumbered U.S. troops twice inflicted major defeats on the Communists. The Viet Cong death toll for the week was put at 2,373, a drop from the record 2,783 of the week before.

The deaths were 80 less than the number of Americans killed the previous week, but the wounded rose sharply from 1,320.

Mobile Chest X-Ray Unit Kept Busy

The mobile chest X-ray unit was kept busy yesterday as 454 people who had reacted positively to tuberculosis skin tests given in Novato Sunday stood in line at the Novato Community House until long after dark.

Of these, 275 were declared negative. Another 18 had to be retested. These tests will be read from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Novato Community House.

Giant Pearl To Be Shown

Cobb said the gem was given him by an aged Mohammedan chief in the Philippine Islands in 1934 during an archeology expedition. The pearl has been on exhibition several times since then, in New York and Beverley Hills.

FOOD for THOUGHT

More than a billion people—over one-half of the earth's population—live mainly on RICE. It is estimated that a plot of land put to rice will support five times as many people as the same piece of land set to the raising of any other food. A "meat-eater" would starve on the same acreage from which several large families can live in the rice growing countries.

Historically, rice became the symbol of fertility and prosperity. Today in India, it is still part of the wedding ceremony to give the newly-wedded pair a gift of rice powder. In Japan, rice cakes are given to insure a prosperous and fertile married life. Even in the west, you will find a stylized version of this in front on many a church on a Sunday afternoon.

$280 Million Rapid Transit Cost Argued

A rapid transit system from Ignacio to San Francisco and including a tube beneath the bay would cost about $280 million if built by 1972, County Traffic Engineer James B. Robertson told the Marin Transit District board last night.

Robertson said he based his estimate on an approximate 25 per cent increase over 1961 Bay Area Rapid Transit District figures.

He said a mostly overland railroad — roughly paralleling the Northwestern Pacific Railroad line — could be constructed from Ignacio to Sausalito for $110 million.

A tube from a point near Sausalito to the end of Van Ness Avenue in San Francisco would cost some $170 million, he said.

Construction of such a project by 1972 is unlikely, however, he added, "so we would have to envision" a cost higher than $280 million.

Chairman Thomas T. Storer declared, "I wouldn't have been surprised if these figures had been doubled."

Thomas D. Hardcastle, member of Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board attending the meeting, scoffed at the estimate. He cited strong currents of the bay and estimated it would require $500 million for the project.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen agreed that the $280 estimate appeared low. "It seems there is something lacking," he said.

bably will become "partners" in any transit system and should "help pick up the tab."

Board member Edward W. Colthurst, Corte Madera mayor, said he also wants to have a job description for the post. The board instructed County Administrator Alan Bruce to prepare information on job description and salary range and present it at the next board meeting at 8 p.m. May 3.

A financial report on the current fiscal year disclosed the district spent $61,516, and should have a balance at the year's end of $158,821.63. Bruce pointed out that $120,416 was raised through a five-cent property tax rate approved last year.

The board unanimously agreed the same rate should be levied for the 1968 fiscal year.

Late Office Hours For Tax Payments

With $16.8 million still to be received in county property taxes by the deadline at 5 p.m. Monday, the Marin County treasurer-tax collector's office at the Civic Center will be busy with office hours extended to 9 p.m. today and tomorrow.

Late payments, not paid by 5 p.m. or postmarked prior to midnight Monday, will be subject to 6 per cent penalty plus a $3 publication charge for each parcel.

CHECK CASHING ENDS FREEDOM

Mrs. Dorothy Bressie, 56, covers her face as she is escorted into a Los Angeles police building after being captured in a West Los Angeles apartment after 24 hours of freedom from Patton State Hospital near San Bernardino. Her freedom ended yesterday when a bank employee spotted her cashing a check. Judge Frees Woman Held By Error

A Los Angeles woman arrested on suspicion of aborting a girl who died after a September operation in Sausalito was released yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth after two witnesses said she was not the suspect being sought.

"A pretty rare coincidence," said Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins, led to arrest of the woman, Bessie Lee Luke, 32. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested her Friday in Los Angeles.

The name, age, height, weight and general physical description of Miss Luke match those of the woman being sought on the abortion charge, Kreins said. The suspect also is known as Bessie Milos and Bessie Floyd.

The suspect and a companion, John Francis Milos, 26, both formerly of 1617 Bridgeway, are charged with aborting a 24-year-old Petaluma woman last Sept. 24, in Sausalito. Bail for each is $28,075.

World War I Air Squad Gets Together

World War I will be relived in memory a half a century after it started when members of the 135th Aero Squadron have a luncheon tomorrow and tour Hamilton Air Force Base.

Following the luncheon at the officers club, the 18 members attending—out of 24 surviving—will tour North American Air Defense Command headquarters at Hamilton. On the flight line, they will inspect a supersonic fighter plane.

The reunion started today at the Marines Memorial Club in San Francisco, exactly 50 years since the United States entered the war.

The 135th was the only United States squadron at the front in World War I equipped with American-made airplanes and engines, De Haviland 4-S with Liberty engines.

Birg. Gen. George L. Usher, who once commanded Hamilton Air Force Base and now lives in Santa Rosa, will be among those attending.

Plans Talks Set On Civil Defense

Tomas Larke Jr., chairman of the Marin emergency disaster plan, has called a meeting for 2 p.m. next Wednesday at the Civic Center to make any changes necessary to update the plan.

Dr. William Klemme, chairman of the disaster committee of the Marin Medical Society, will attend. Officials of hospitals and clinics have been invited.

The plan, formulated under auspices of the county civil defense and disaster office several years ago, lists where bed space would be available and means of transporting victims from a disaster area.

41 YEARS A TEACHER

Charles Doll Likes Whistling At Youth

Charles Doll of Mill Valley, who plans to retire in June after 41 years' teaching, hopes to spend his leisure time close to the pool.

But he will carry a whistle instead of sun tan lotion.

Doll, who will be 65 in June, is vice president of the local district of the Amateur Athletic Union and referees swim meets for youth in Marin nearly every Saturday. He plans to continue this work after he retires as an industrial arts teacher in the Tamalpais High School District.

"It's my form of relaxation," he said yesterday. "These kids are the greatest in the world and you don't find better sportsmanship than in swimming."

Doll, now teaching industrial arts at Redwood High School, said he joined the AAU in 1949 and became interested in refereeing swim meets after a daughter, Susan, now a business education teacher at Terra Linda High School, set several American records while competing for the Santa Clara Swim Club.

He has taught for 22 years in the Tamalpais district, spending time in each of the district's three high schools.

He was born in Kansas, and started teaching in Klamath Falls, Ore., in 1926. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Kansas State College in 1928, finishing work for his degree by attending summer sessions.

He has taken graduate work at San Francisco State College, University of California at Los Angeles, and University of Oregon.

He taught in Sutter County from 1938 to 1944, when he came to the Tamalpais district. He taught industrial arts, wood and metal shop, mechanical drawing, and architectural drawing at Tamalpais High School from 1944 to 1951, at Sir Francis Drake High School from 1951 to 1965, and since then at Redwood High School.

In the 1958-59 school year he taught in U.S. Army schools in Karlsruhe, Germany, and managed 15,000 miles of touring during that year. He and his family visited Italy, Austria, France, Holland, Belgium (including the World's Fair at Brussels) and England.

He and his wife, Alice, live at 195 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley. Their oldest daughter, Marilyn, is the wife of Col. John Rankin, post commander of Fort Douglas, Utah.

Foundation Gets Nature Club Funds

The College of Marin Foundation is a little richer and the county is one club poorer with the dissolution of Marin Nature Group, announced after the group's March meeting.

The group voted to contribute its remaining money, $258.15, to the foundation, which provides loan and scholarship funds for students. The nature group suggested the recipient of the money, if possible, be a student in antural sciences.

The contribution was in honor of Dr. Paul T. Wilson, head of the college's natural science department for many years.

A poll of the group's members produced a 30-1 vote in favor of disbanding, secretary Myrtle D. Ensign reported.

Marin Nature Group held monthly field trips to all parts of Marin, often accompanied by botanists, entomologists or other scientists.

Anxious Cub Worries Over Fate Of Speedy Model Car

By PAT (MOTHER) PERRY

The results of Marin Council of Boy Scouts Scoutarama Pinewood Derby in June probably won't be listed in the Times or Manchester Guardian, but there will be one Cub Scout in England waiting anxiously for the results.

Winner of Pack 27 Pinewood Derby at Hamilton Air Force Base last week, Christopher Perry is eligible to represent the 60 Hamilton Cubs in the county-wide model car race.

But he's moving to England next week, where his Air Force father has been transferred.

So the Silver Streak, the winning car, will be left with a proxy to race in the derby, and Christopher, a fourth grader at Hamilton School, will leave some of his savings to pay for a cablegram telling him the race results.

Cubs build the pinewood cars from a simple kit of a slab of wood, four wheels and four nails. It's a father-son project, although fathers invariably wind up doing most of the work.

Christopher attributes his success to "unc." His father was too busy arranging the overseas transfer, so his English uncle, Alan White, a mechanical engineer, helped construct the car.

Scorning the traditional weights and silicone, Uncle Alan concentrated on design, producing a car which beat some 60 others, many elaborate affairs constructed in Hamilton base workshops.

Meanwhile Christopher, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. William J. Perry, 292 Bolling Drive, on the base, has written to Lloyds of London inquiring about insurance on the Silver Streak.

(Editor's note: Sergeant Perry's transfer to England means not only the departure of the owner of the Silver Streak, but also the loss from the Independent-Journal staff of the sergeant's wife, Pat Perry, whose by-line and occasional Britishisms will be missed.)

$1,866 In Fees

Fees totaling $1,866 were collected during March by the City of Mill Valley's building department, reported building inspector Loren K. Rohde. Twenty-five building permits were issued for work valued at $91,869, compared with 23 building permits issued in March of 1966 for work valued at $172,220.

Police Chief Chiesa Endorsed By Labor

Marin County Labor Council voted last night to endorse San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa for re-election to office in the upcoming municipal elections, secretary-treasurer James Smith reported today.

The council also voiced disapproval of proposed cuts in the county and state's mental health program and agreed to send letters to Marin County Board of Supervisors, Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He Pays $250,000 For Son's Release

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — The son of a multimillionaire financier was released unharmed today after a $250,000 ransom was paid. His head shaved and drugged with sleeping pills, the youngster was dropped off on a residential street.

"Dad, I'm all right, please come and get me," Kenneth Young, 11, told his distraught father from an apartment house telephone.

The youngster was kidnaped early Monday from the second floor bedroom of the Herbert Young mansion in the center of this exclusive community. The parents, two brothers, a sister and a maid slept in nearby rooms.

KENNETH YOUNG
Safe at home

A typewritten ransom note addressed "to the master" warned the family not to call police or "you will lose the merchandise." But Young notified police immediately and FBI agents joined the officers in moving into the mansion.

The telephone rang several times Monday and Tuesday but each time Young answered it the caller hung up.

Young said he received a letter of instructions yesterday.

"At 6 p.m. last night I went to Westwood Boulevard and Ohio Streets in Westwood as the letter said. A man met me there and asked, 'Are you Herbert Young?' He was soft-spoken and well-dressed. He seemed very intelligent and was a Caucasian.

"He told me to go to Sunset and Moraga and go to a phone booth next to a telephone pole in a Standard Station. I waited 45 minutes when a car came by and a man in it waved to me. There was only one occupant in the car.

"He told me to get in my car and follow him. We drove north to Sunset Boulevard and about a mile beyond then the man drove off into a flat gravel area.

"He got out of the car and walked toward me and said, 'Do you have the bag?' I gave it to him and returned home about 7:20."

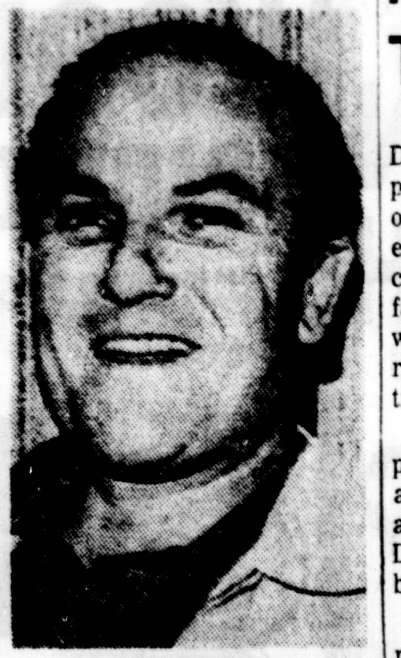
Young said he and his family waited with police and FBI agents until about 4 a.m. when the telephone rang.

"It was Kenny. He said, 'Dad, I'm all right. Will you please come and get me.'

"Then a man, who had nothing to do with the kidnaping, came on the phone and gave me the address in Santa Monica. Apparently the men in the crime just dropped Kenny off in front of the apartment and he rapped on the door and asked to use the telephone.

"He said he was very tired. By the time my wife Arlene and I got to the apartment with police there were FBI men all over the area.

"We noticed they shaved Kenny's head and his eyes seemed to have been blindfolded. Kenny told me they gave him sleeping pills, maybe three."



HERBERT YOUNG
Pays ransom

The youngster told his father he was treated well enough by one man who apparently was in charge of taking care of him, "but he was a lousy cook."

Guitar Class Slated

An intermediate class in folk guitar, open to students who have completed the beginning class, and taught by Alan Eshelman, will be offered by the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department, starting next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets.

Department Head Change To Be Asked

The Marin Junior College District board will consider proposals that the faculty position of division chairman be eliminated, and that department chairmen be elected by the faculty of their departments when it meets today at 8 p.m. in room G3 of the physical education building at the college.

The proposals have been approved by the academic senate and the administrative council, and acting president Irwin P. Diamond will recommend they be accepted.

Department chairmen are now recommended by the administration and appointed by the board. Diamond said the proposed system would give department chairmen and faculty more responsibility.

If approved, the new system would be in effect for the start of the fall semester, Diamond said.

Dr. William K. Ramstad, newly appointed college president, is expected to attend an orientation dinner meeting for new board members Thomas A. Skornia and Alan D. Ewen with the board and student personnel staff at 6:30 p.m. in the faculty lounge of the student center.

The board may award a contract for furnishing a mobile laboratory. Two bids were opened March 27. Designed Facilities Corp. of El Monte was low at $16,440. Advance Mobile Structure Co. of San Francisco bid $16,925. The project was estimated at $16,500.

The board may authorize a call for bids on replacement of the seawater system at the Bolinas laboratory, estimated to cost $4,500 to $6,500.

HER CIGAR BUGGED?

Obviously smoking isn't banned during the Senate subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure's hearings on electronic eavesdropping. But the full-house audience at yesterday's session apparently paid little heed to one woman who puffs on a cigar while intently following the testimony in Washington. (UPI Telephoto)

Dutton's Home Status Is Hit

Membership on the University of California Board of Regents of a part-time Sausalito resident is reportedly the target of a bill introduced in the State Assembly yesterday by a Southern California Democrat.

The bill, by Assemblyman Newton R. Russell, R-Tujunga, would require that university regents be residents of California and "physically present in this state not less than a majority of each two successive calendar years."

United Press International reported from Sacramento that the measure is aimed at expelling Frederick G. Dutton, a former aide to Gov. Edmund G. Brown and State Department official in the Johnson administration.

Dutton has been a vocal opponent of Gov. Ronald Reagan's university tuition proposal.

His family home is at 27 Vista Clara, Sausalito. However, he has a law practice in Washington, where he served as a cabinet secretary to President John F. Kennedy and in the State Department under President Johnson.

Mrs. Dutton, at home in Sausalito, said today her husband is now in Washington but will be home Saturday. "He spends a lot of time in Washington, but I would say he is here a majority of the time," she said.

Candidate Brown On Time For Peacock Gap Forum

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Carl J. Brown, candidate for re-election to the San Rafael Board of Education, arrived late for a Peacock Gap candidates' forum meeting.

Candidates Herman L. Childress and John C. Pfeiffer arrived late from the "coffee." Brown, however, arrived on time and sat among the audience near the back of the hall until school board candidates were called up to speak.

Brown today emphasized that he has not participated in the "coffee circuit" campaign with Childress and Pfeiffer.

Childress and Pfeiffer are running as an informal team for election to two of the three positions on the board to be filled in next Monday's city election. Brown and Anita C. Strom, also an incumbent, are running as individuals without ties to other candidates.

Bagley Asks 'Civil Rights For Blind'

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today introduced a bill which he termed "in essence, a civil rights act for the blind and disabled."

Known as the model White Cane Law, the measure is the product of a study by University of California Prof. Jacobus tenBroek, who is himself blind.

The bill defines various rights of blind and other physically disabled persons with respect to accommodations and public facilities, and specifies duties of other persons toward the disabled. It also provides that the governor annually proclaim Oct. 15 as White Cane Safety Day.

"As Professor tenBroek has said, the poiicy of this act is to entitle the disabled to full participation in the life of the community, and to encourage and enable them to do so," said Bagley.

Several states already have enacted legislation of this type, Bagley said.

The word posh, meaning elegant or luxurious, originates from the initials of the words "port out, starboard home," designating the most exclusive staterooms aboard vessels traveling between England and India.

Garrison's Plot Probe Heating Up

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's probe of an alleged plot to assassinate President Kennedy heated up today, fueled by new indictments and re-enforcing arrest warrants.

Layttn Martens, 24, a student at the University of Southwestern Louisiana who once roomed with the late David W. Ferrie, was indicted yesterday for perjury by the New Orleans Grand Jury.

The true bill against Martens followed by one week his first appearance before the 12-man jury, which is conducting its own special investigation of events leading up to the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination in Dallas.

Also yesterday, authorities in Terrebonne Parish ordered the arrests of material witness Gordon Novel in Columbus, Ohio, and Cuban exile leader Sergio Arcacha Smith in Dallas.

Dist. Atty. Wilmore J. Broussard Jr., filed charges of simple burglary against Novel and Smith in connection with the theft of several cases of blasting caps and explosive charges from a bunker in Houma, La., in 1961.

Prowler Knocked To His Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A prowler was knocked off a roof by his intended victim early today and plunged five floors to his death, police said.

He was identified as Bernie Antuna, 21. Police said he climbed through a fire escape into the apartment of Bob and Sheila Bereche. Antuna weilded a broken bottle, they said, and cut them on the shoulders.

Bereche was locked in the bathroom and his wife forced up to the roof, they said. On the lip of the roof, she suddenly gave a violent kick backward, and Antuna went over, police related.

Florida Grocery War Delighting Shoppers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Remember the housewives' rebellion against supermarkets last fall? Well, one chain took the ladies at their word and now the grocery stores in southern Florida are at war with each other. The housewife is coming out a winner.

Eighty-eight stores in the Winn-Dixie chain today rounded out a week in a no-stamps, no-games, no-gimmicks marketing experiment featuring only lower prices. The boss said it is a success.

"There's not a chance in the world we will return to stamps," said C. W. Waldorf, chief of the ero Beach-to-Miami division.

Other chains have struck back with advertising campaigns, insisting they will have lower prices and stamps.

Shoppers interviewed in the stores, most of which carry the name "Kwik-Chek," are also happy.

For example, T-bone steaks came down 31 cents, a pound of bacon 11 cents, a can of applesauce 4 cents. Even prepackaged food with the price marked by the processor, such as potato chips or cookies, have been cut a penny or two. The old price is marked out.

Waldorf, 48, said he started thinking about the multimillion-dollar experiment when the housewives boycotted last fall protest high prices. He set up a single store without stamps and watched the reaction.

Police Doubt Boy's Story About Kidnap

David Hebel, 16, of San Rafael had not been kidnapped at the point of a gun as he told his father by telephone from Sacramento Tuesday, San Rafael police said today.

After questioning the youth yesterday, juvenile officers were satisfied his story was not true, said Deputy Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori.

"The officers are still working on it and have not yet decided what action—if any—will be taken against the boy," he said.

David disappeared after leaving for the public library Tuesday night and reappeared in Sacramento two hours later. He told his father, Raymond J. Hebel of 104 Golden Hinde Boulevard, he had been held up by the occupants of a pick-up truck who demanded $50,000 for his release.

The youth was taken into custody by Sacramento police who handed him over to his father.

County Faces Lawsuit On Fish, Game Fines

The Marin Rod and Gun Club may sue the county to prevent transfer of fish and game fines from club use to use by the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

Attorney William O. Weissich said today the club has instructed him to file suit if necessary to block the board of supervisors' action of March 21 transferring $15,609 in accumulated state fish and game subventions to the museum.

In a letter to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, Weissich suggested today that Mitchell seek an opinion from the state attorney general on the legality of the state fines going to the museum.

He also asked Mitchell for assurance there would be no disbursement from the fund until the attorney general's opinion is received.

Fish and game fines allocated to counties are for conservation, wildlife promotion and education to that end. Three supervisors believed that the museum's use of the money would come under the education category. Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss dissented on the vote to transfer the money.

In his letter today Weissich said, "we are of the opinion that the proposed payment to the museum is in violation of the law and would constitute an ellegal expenditure of county funds."

Purse Is Stolen

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Paterson, 369 Molino Avenue, Mill Valley, reported yesterday to police that her purse, containing $6, a checkbook and driver's license, had been stolen while shopping in Top Hat Market, 402 Miller Avenue. Her purse was taken from her shopping cart, she for a few minutes.

Terra Linda Rec Official Rapped For Acting Alone

Director Cecelia Martz of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District last night was reprimaned by fellow board members for alleged unilateral action.

Mrs. Martz, trying to reach a deadline on applications last week, applied to the county for aid on a senior citizens program. the county will contribute $2,000 or half the cost, whichever is less, under a recently authorized policy.

Mrs. Martz was unable to confer with other board members prior to rushing the application through to the county parks and recreation department last week. Last night, other board members let here understand they did not like it.

"We all agree that we will have a program," Board Chairman Norman Gurin declared.

Mrs. Martz and Director Patrick H. Martin were named to draw up plans for the senior citizen program and present them at the next meeting April 19.

The board set daily pool attendance rates at 50 cents for children under 12, 75 cents for adults, and $1 for out of district guests.

Salary Hikes Boost Proposed Parks Budget

Salary step increases and two additional parks caused a $6,130 increase in San Rafael Parks Department proposed budget, approved last night by the Parks and Recreation Commission for a total of $102,588.

Commissioners told Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr. to amend the proposed budget by reducing utilities from $8,000 to $7,000 and providing an increase in Park Foreman Scott Tilden's salary from $757 to $815 a month.

Commissioners also approved the proposed street trees and parkways budget at $67,581, up from this year's $62,160. The increase was caused by planned addition of a fulltime groundsman assigned to the parkway crew.

Two neighbors on De La Guerra Road, adjacent to the new Santa Margarita Valley Park, wrote asking that the city install an eight-foot solid board fence at their property line, but commissioners refused the request.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman of 97 De La Guerra, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Hughes of 93, complained that they have no privacy in their gradens, children have thrown rocks into the swimming pool and climbed the wire fence.

Snyder reported it would cost approximately $1,000 to install a fence along both properties. Commissioners were reluctant to set a precedent, even if owners shared costs, by installing fences on private property.

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission also:

CELEBRATION —Approved a request from St. Raphael's Church for use of Albert Field on Oct. 20 for a sesquecentennial celebration.

APPLICANTS — Snyder reported 115 young applicants had been interviewed for 70 part-time summer job vacancies in the recreation, swimming, day camp and maintenance programs.

CEREMONY—Set June 3 at 11 a.m. for a dedication ceremony for Santa Margarita Valley Park.

MEETING CHANGED — Decided to change commission meeting dates to the last, instead of first, Wednesday in each month, beginning April 26 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Patrol Car Duty Stilled For Session

The nine patrol cars of San Rafael Police Department were in the city hall parking lot yesterday because every patrolman was attending an hour-long instruction session on stolen car recovery, Deputy Chief Joseph J. Brusatori said today.

He said the Independent-Journal's front page picture yesterday was taken during the briefing and this accounted for the parking lot full of patrol cars.

No beat patrols were carried out during this time although officers were answering all emergencies from the headquarters, he said.

Brusatori said adequate patrols are carried out and it was unusual for all patrolmen to be in the headquarters at once.

The session was held by Special Agent Frederick Douglas of the National Auto Theft Bureau in San Francisco.

Inmate Dies; Natural Causes

Chico Jose Gonzales, 33, a San Quentin Prison inmate, died of apparently natural causes in the prison hospital yesterday. Gonzale shad been treated at the hospital March 29 for swollen legs and ankles, and was admitted yesterday.

Gonzales was serving a one year to life term for second degree robbery. He was sentenced in Los Angeles County and had been at San Quentin since Dec. 30, 1966.

He was a native of Puerto Rico and had lived in California for 12 years. He was a radio-television repairman. Prison authorities said he had no known relative.

All-around Sport

MIAMI (AP) — Basil Blanchard went out for a round of golf and came home with a two-pound fish. He ran over it with his golf cart after it jumped out of a container in which it was being transported at Miami Lakes Country Club. Blanchard said it was delicious.

Firemen 'Almost Certain' Terra Linda Fire Was Set

The $10,000 fire at Terra Linda High School last Thursday was "almost certainly" of incendiary origin, San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett said today, but investigation of the case appears to be at a dead end.

Nearly all possible accidental causes have been eliminated for the fire which gutted the coaches' office and damaged locker and shower rooms, Trivett said. But the department has no suspect and "there's not a whole lot we can do" about the case, he said.

The fire was the sixth of mysterious origin in the area in recent months. Others included Temple Rodef Sholom in Santa Venetia, Catholic Social Service headquarters in Los Ranchitos, and a storage shed near Merrydale Apartment in San Rafael Meadows.

Principal Frank Stocking of Terra Linda High said the school hopes to get boys' physical education classes back into session next week. Repair crews are rewiring the locker, shower and rest rooms. The destroyed office space will be rebuilt during summmer vacation, Stocking said. Meantime, coaches are operating from a smaller room previously used for storage.

The school's 1,000 boys are taking study sessions in available classrroms in place of physical education while repairs are made.

Sanitary Board Asks City's Nod

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night passed a resolution asking the Larkspur City Council to let the district from a special maintenance assessment district within city boundaries.

District Mgr. Ralph C. Noah said the special district would allow the sanitary district to charge the cost of service in Larkspur to the city's residents rather than to spread it over the entire sanitary district.

The board called for bids April 20 at 8 p.m. in the district office on a Greenbrae-Corte Madera Creek siphon crossing.

Mother Rescues Baby From Ditch After Accident

A 23-month-old girl was saved from drowning in a ditch by her mother yesterday when she was thrown from the family car in an accident on Highway 101, two miles north of Novato.

California Highway Patrol reported the northbound car, driven by Jon Carlyle House, 27, of 2445 Center Road, Novato, swerved off the wet road into a ditch and struck a power pole at 8:55 a.m.

The child, Lori House, was thrown out when the impact tore the car door She landed in the ditch with two feet of water in it.

Marjorie House, 30, jumped out and rescued her daughter.

All three were examined at Marin General Hospital, but had no apparent injuries.

Dominican Will Host Librarians

One hundred fifty northern California librarians will attend the annual meeting of the Northern California Technical Processes Group tomorrow at Dominican College of San Rafael.

The group, a regional branch of the American Library Association, deals with some 25 types of non-book materials now available to libraries, according to group chairman Marjorie Kelley, catalogue librarian at Dominican. Materials include film, tapes, records, transparencies and others.

Sister Marguerite, chief librarian at Dominican, will greet the group before the morning session, which starts at 10:15 a.m. at Guzman Hall.

Morning speakers will be Joseph Anderson of Ampex Corp., Mrs. Helen Cyr of Oakland Unified School District, Robert Kelley of Berkeley Public Library, and Charles Kuster of San Jose State College.

More Livestock And Crops Bring Dip In Market Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Food prices dived again this week.

Farmers have been sending more livestock to market, and Southern crops have been better than they were a year ago, when they were curtailed by freezes.

As a result, wholesale prices this week dipped 6.3 per cent lower than a year ago, and are now the lowest in 15 months.

Shipments of strawberries, cauliflower and asparagus from California, and sweet corn, tomatoes, potatoes, peppers and citrus from Texas and grapefruit from Florida are increasing, leading to lower prices.

Egg prices, which have been tumbling since Easter, fell again this week. Prices now are about 25 cents a dozen lower than they were in November.

Shoppers also may find lower prices on frozen strawberries and canned fruit cocktail, pears, zucchini, lima beans, crinkle cut beets, diced carrots, pineapple, salmon and tunafish —special brand promotions this month.

The California tuna market has been glutted, and some vessels have been diverted to Puerto Rico. Tuna production in Hawaii and American Samoa in February was up 60 per cent

'COMING UP ROSES' THEME IDEA

Mesdames Gordon Dunn and Louis Cantel Jr. and Barbara Morrisey, daughter of the William Morriseys, illustrate the theme for yesterday's annual luncheon and style show, "Everything's Coming Up Roses," at the Meadow Club. Sponsor was Alpha Omicron Pi sorority alumnae of Marin, with proceeds earmarked for the Endowed Bed Fund of the Ross Hospital Volunteers.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Helen Mendosa of San Bernardino and Jack Huddleston of Petaluma, was graduated from San Rafael High School. He is employed with Colonial Wax Products. Weidon, Charles and James Huddleston are his brothers.

Who's Real News On Carnaby?

LONDON (AP) — While high fashion designers in Paris, Rome and London have been showing their wares in annual spring openings, another kind of fashion show runs daily in Carnaby street.

To a fashion writer, used to the atmosphere of perfumed showrooms, Carnaby Street itself is an outdoor catwalk for male mannequins, several blocks long and larger than life.

Willowy young men in curvaceous velvet suits swagger self-consciously along, elbowing tittering tourists and horrifying boggle-eyed old ladies, up from the country on shopping expeditions in Regent Street and innocently strayed into The Scene.

Audience and models, exhibitionists and voyeurs, are all on-stage.

THE SHOP WINDOWS, redressed almost daily always have new shockers to offer. At the "Tom Cat" this week it's red and turquoise satin shirts, Tom Jones style, and silky purple hipsters. "Take 6" down the block vies for attention with a silver lame number described on the window card as "glitter shirt, 5 guineas, with high back collar and puff sleeves." Lord John features a black velvet suit with wide red lapels and buttons, next to a grey herringbone suit with the jacket cut like a shirt.

Capes and cape-shouldered coats, daisy-flowered shirts with white collars; jackets of black lace over blue taffeta; shirts of black lace over pink silk; lace ties in rainbow colors; pussy cat fur coats combining ginger with black and white spotted effects; grandfather high-button boots and buckled father pumps . . .

IN FACT, IT MUST soon be clear to the experienced that the Carnaby Street boys get most of their shock effects by borrowing sartorial styles from the ladies (those fitted velvet suits, all that lace and lame). Otherwise, they do as the high fashion dressmakers do — inspire themselves with period costume from the past. The velvet-trimmed chesterfield frock coat in the window of "His Clothes" is a pure steal from another age, and so are the spats-topped boots called "yesteryear," "Costermonger" and "Pearly King" in "The Village Store."

Colin Ashton, a 24-year-old Cockney lad started three years ago in "His Clothes," the original Carnaby Street male boutique when the street was full of repair shops, bakeries, dairies, warehouses.

St. Sebastian's Church Setting For Parker-Wilhelm Wedding

A Saturday wedding at St. Sebastian's Church in Kentfield united in marriage Caroline C. Wilhelm and Dennis W. Parker. The Rev. Raymond Kenney officiated.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wilhelm of Kentfield, Caroline chose a Guipure cage with peau de soie train for her gown. Attendants were her sisters, Julianne Wilhelm, maid of honor, and Mrs. James Richman (Elizabeth Jane Wilhelm), and the bridegroom's sisters, Cheryl and Penny Parker of Cloverdale. They all wore full length dresses of yellow linen.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is an ensign with the U.S. Coast Guard, was Edwin Dale Kaserman Jr. and the ushers were Ensigns William Lehmann, Jerry Heinz, Dennis Shaw and Warren Miller.

A reception was held at the Meadow Club after the wedding. Following a wedding trip to Hawaii the newlyweds will live in Alameda.

Caroline is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Miss McAleer's Secretarial School, and her husband is a graduate of Cloverdale High School and the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn. He is the son of Walter W. Parker of Cloverdale and the late Irene Parker.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

I've had it. Unite, kids, and stamp out steadying! At least half the girls I know would rather go out with different fellas, but we can't. The minute a girl shows interest in a boy the other girls put him down if he isn't "true" to her —even if she doesn't want it that way.

It's ridiculous. But somebody will change it. So I'm going to start a campaign through your column, Helen.

Who wants to join S.O.S.? That means — STAMP OUT STEADIES. Let's get back to the good old days my mother tells about when a girl and a boy could play the field without getting a reputation? I want to be pals with lots of boys, not tied to one — and definitely not in love with one!! — ANYONE FOR S.O.S.

DEAR S.O.S.:

I'm with you all the way. Anyone for S.O.S drop me a line. Maybe we'll get some action — finally — on this "steady" business many kids groan about but no one, till now, has gone about changing. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My mother won't let me have a skateboard. She says it's too dangerous. I know how to ride one and have never hurt myself. All my friends have them. I won't ask you to go against my mother, Helen, but, tell me, do your kids ride them? — SITTING SPECTATOR

DEAR S.S.:

Our four not only have had skateboards — and loved them —but own water skis, ice skates and a pogo stick. They also go for trampolines (so do I!), snow sports and diving from high boards. And the Bottels have been amazingly free of broken bones — so far. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's my problem. I have fallen hard for a really nice girl. But I'm used to the other kind. We've been going together eight months and I wouldn't hurt her for anything.

So why do I keep trying, when I know she's too decent to give in?

Helen, we plan on marriage after we graduate this year. What makes me get so forward that she has threatened to break up with me if I don't stop? I don't want to. I love and honor her. I would probably be disappointed and disillusioned if she ever gave in. So what's with me anyway? — A LOW DOWN DOG

DEAR LDD:

If you didn't want the girl you love, you wouldn't be normal. But if you plan marriage in just a few months you can certainly wait —and your girl knows it must be that way. Help her keep YOUR respect, and HER self-respect. She'd like to earn that wedding veil! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My girl friend is a great and terrific person, but there's one thing about her I can't stand. She has hair on her upper lip. This drives me batty. Is there any polite way I could tell her I hate it? And how can she get rid of it? — DAVE

DEAR DAVE:

She can get rid of a "mustache" with a good depilatory or cosmetic "sandpaper" which she may buy at any drug or variety store. But "telling her about it" is something I'd hate to tackle if I were in your shoes.

Maybe you could lead up to it with a discussion of "electrolysis" — the permanent removal of unwanted hair — and she might get the idea. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Tax Bite On Salaries Not As Drastic As Wives Think

"With income taxes what they are, it doesn't pay for me to work." Many married women who would like to work are deterred by this idea, but it is a misconception, according to figures compiled by a temporary help organization.

The manager of a San Rafael organization said that her company had determined that the tax bite on salaries isn't nearly as drastic as most married women believe. She added that her company is making an intensive effort to lure housewives back to the labor market to combat employee shortages which exist in offices throughout the United States.

When a husband and wife file a joint return, the wife can keep 75 per cent or more of her earnings, provided the husband's earnings are $18,000 or less and they have at least two children.

For example, with two dependents and standard deductions, if the husband's earnings are between $6,000 and $10,000 and the wife earns $1,000, the net additional income from her earnings would be between $847 and $810 after federal income tax deductions on the combined earnings.

An ever-increasing demand for office workers has resulted in an all-out effort on the part of the temporary help industry to increase the supply by offering special benefits to housewives says the manager.

Her company will welcome the more mature office worker who wants to limit her work schedule and her earnings to conform to her social security income.

Town & Country Village

April is spring fashion time in The Village. A delightful way to view this season's styles is to take in the Fashion-Luncheons at the Cherish Inn. Each Wednesday at 12:30 fashions and accessories from Village specialty shops are modeled . . . reservations are suggested, 388-4212.

Sewers for summer take note: K. MYERS FABRICS has beaucoup bolts for vacation wardrobes, and this is the time to get started on your summer clothes. Many drip-dry fabrics here, including those wonderfully packable Ban-Lon (nylon) prints.

A reminder to Madame Hostess and Mothers of Brides . . . plan ahead, ladies, L'ENTREE tells us it is time to start reserving those summer party dates. They offer a very complete catering service that welcomes reservations for small cocktail-buffets or grand receptions . . . all you have to do is to remember to phone in advance, then relax and let L'ENTREE take over.

Saw spots before our eyes last week at THE HOUR GLASS (polka dots, if you must be literal, Mabel.) Said spots (or dots) appear in navy and gold on white, or pink on white . . . with the Sarong label there are garter belts, pantie girdles and bras . . . and the Fischer label coordinates half-slips and chemises for this speckled springtime spectacular.

Seems this fashion season was planned with the expectant mother in mind, since the tent dress is a runaway fashion favorite. Along with other flattering styles, EXPECTATION MATERNITY SHOP carries a stunning collection of tent dresses . . . such as that "go anywhere" black and white checked bonded cotton with short sleeves and smart, standaway collar.

Handsome brushed stainless steel from Italy and Denmark at HAPPY HOUSE. Steak knives with one-piece, molded handle and blade . . . and matching carving set. Many serving pieces, such as the covered vegetable dish (the top handily doubling as another dish.) Also, with walnut handles, gravy boats, butter warmers, salad bowls, etc. HAPPY HOUSE includes in this collection a very tricky, scissor-type salad server that is as functional as it is good-looking.

We quote: "Have you had a Critter to dinner lately." These little Candle Critters from FIESTA CANDLE SHOP sit on their wooden perches and light your table through dinner. Critters come in many shapes and colors and are perfectly delightful, dripless "glowery." (Nice little price too . . . 50c for candle and stand . . . refills for 25c.)

CAPRICORN BOOKS tells us they now have William Manchester's "Death of A President." Many public and private opinions have been expressed about this controversial and much talked-about book . . . but we've never heard anyone express indifference. This is bound to be the best-seller of this, and many other, years, so we advise you to pick up your copy soon.

THIS LITTLE PIGGY LIKES TO TRAVEL!

The HICK'RY PIT take-out department has thoughtfully and conveniently packaged their delectibles for easy carrying and, if need be, re-heating. As a for instance, we'll frequently pick up our order of spareribs late in the afternoon, then re-heat them for a dinner-time feast, and even later for elegant snacking.

Say, Mabel, honey, if you "lucked out" and have been elected entertainment chairman for your women's organization . . . don't stand around wringing your hands. Just consult Mr. Stanley Toy at KUBLAI KHAN and he will be happy to make luncheon-meeting arrangements for most any size group.

Found some prettily colorful shifts at CARLTON'S VILLAGE SPORTSWEAR, priced from $9.95 to $12.95. (The sleeveless, button-front coulotte is very fashion newsworthy.) Cool and comfortable cotton knit coordinates here imported from France by CARLTON'S. Many styles and colors in these washable and packable shells, tops, skirts and dresses.

We've often noticed paintings that seem to "just miss" . . . the picture is beautiful, but the frame is all wrong. This never happens at FU'S ART STUDIO where framing is done with the finest materials available by artists who know just how a picture should look.

One of our favorites in the spring collection of CONTESSA ANGELA OF ROMA is a sassy cotton . . . red and white stripes, sleeveless, dropped waist and full skirt (saucy ruffles inside hemline play peek-a-boo as you walk). And, for travel, you can't beat that art nouveau WOW print . . . just slightly slinky and packable enough to roll up in your handbag.

An impressive display of Champagnes at VILLAGE LIQUORS . . . an excellent selection of fine imported and domestic champagnes to please conoiseur and novice alike. Should your knowledge of champagne be limited, VILLAGE LIQUORS is always very nice about answering your questions.

Found a pretty spring "garden" blooming from the card racks at ROJEAN'S CARD & PARTY SHOP. These all-occasion cards are labeled "Flower Fantasy."

Ah, there's good news tonight, girls . . . the semi-annual Villager sale starts Saturday, April 8th at THE DAISYBUG. We're told this sale will feature winter merchandise at a full one-third "off." What a great opportunity for Villager fans to fill in their collections!

Noticed some good-looking I.D. bracelets by Speidel at VILLAGE JEWELERS. This popular bracelet style for both boys and girls, comes in silver or gold with smooth or Florentine finish. Prices start most reasonably at $4.95. (We've found this a nice gift for a youngster going off to camp and, of course, many other occasions too.)

ALBERTA OF MARIN has a marvelous way of turning any container into a distinctive floral arrangement. Take in your favorite vase, bowl, pitcher or what-have-you and ALBERTA will create a decorative masterpiece for you with her artfully artificial blossoms and greenery.

Speck's Council Quizzes Survivor

PEORIA, Ill., (AP) — Corazon Amurao, the state's key witness, was questioned by defense counsel today about men — boyfriends — who came to the dormitory where eight nurses were slain.

Gerald W. Getty, who represents Richard Speck, took over the witness for cross examination at Speck's trial on charges of murdering the young women early the morning of July 14, 1966, in their townhouse dormitory on Chicago's South Side.

DRAMA UNFOLDS

Miss Amurao, 24, wearing a high necked yellow blouse and a dark skirt, resumed the seat in the witness box from which she told yesterday the story of the slayings for the first time in public.

The most dramatic moment came when Miss Amurao, the only survivor, identified Speck as the killer.

Under questioning by Getty, she began retelling the story she had told yesterday. Getty asked if any of the girls who resided in the townhouse had boyfriends who called on them.

"The American girls have boyfriends," she replied. "They waited for the girls in the living room and would bring the girls home."

MANY DETAILS

Three young nurses from the Philippines and six from Chicago and other Midwestern communities shared the townhouse at the time of the massacre.

Getty, a veteran of courtrooms who has an easy manner and usually talks in a gentle tone, also questioned Miss Amurao about whether the doors were locked. She said she locked the front door before she went upstairs to bed at 10:30 p.m. July 13 but didn't know whether the back door was locked. Getty also asked if Miss Gloria Davy, one of the victims who came in about 11:30 p.m., had used a key to enter. She replied that she did not know.

Getty also questioned her about the time she heard knocking on her bedroom door. She had told the circuit court jury yesterday that it was 11 p.m. when she heard the knocking, opened the door and saw a man she identified as Speck standing with a pistol in his hand. The defense attorney inquired about the position of a clock-radio in her bedroom.

"I could see it," she said.

She testified previously that the light was on when she retired.

Old Goat Dies; Dogs Suspected

"Faster," a goat owned by George McKegney, Vistazo East, Tiburon, was killed last night while she was tied outside in the yard.

McKegney said from wounds on the goat's throat, it appeared the 14-year-old animal had been killed by a dog.

Improvement Group Installs Officers

Marin City Homeowners and Improvement Association last night installed new officers for 1967, reported Mrs. Juanita Cobb, club president. Installation was followed by a social hour.

Court Listens To Killer's Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U.S Court of Appeals today took under submission the fight of Aaron C. Mitchell, Sacramento cop killer, to escape his date with death next Wednesday.

Mitchell is slated to be the first man executed in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber in four years.

He sought a writ of habeas corpus which would force the state to consider a new penalty trial.

Tulare Temblor

A former missionary in China, Dr. West taught a course at Peking National University, and became an instructor at Cheeloo University in its refugee headquarters in a Buddhist temple near Hangchow. Later he was instructor in Christian ethics at Nanking Theological Seminary.

Joining him in the lectures will be M. M. Thomas, a native of India who is visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary in New York. He will speak Monday on "Christian Responsibility and World Community" at 2 p.m., and "The Christian Response to the Asian Revolution" at 8 p.m.

Giant Satellite Stranded In Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A giant experimental satellite with 251-foot long "Daddy Longlegs" booms was left stranded in the wrong orbit today by rocket failure and was expected to fall to a tumbling death.

Space engineers predicted 12 hours after launch of the satellite that its freak egg-shaped orbit—ranging from 115 to 6,915 miles above earth—was far beyond what its gravity-sensitive booms could cope with.

Mother To Napa In Knife Attack

Police charged Mrs. Lola Lee Spinale, 36, of 1704 Center Road with assault with a deadly weapon. She was then taken to the state mental hospital for observation.

Her son, David, was treated at Novato Hospital for a superficial cut in the shoulder about one and one-half inches long.

Mill Valley Summer Class Expansion Recommended

Mill Valley School District' summer school should be operated completely on a state-supported basis, the district's salary study committee recommended Tuesday night.

The program last summer cost $27,000, reported Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson, with the state paying about $22,000. The district's contribution, however, can be eliminated by increasing average daily attendance, upon which state aid is based, the committee agreed.

To do this, either the length of the term should be increased from 19 to 23 days, or class size should be increased by about 20 per cent, the committee recommended.

The committee also recommended addition of a sixth step on the pay scale for psychologists.

Hamilton Fliers Hunt Navy Jet Down In Sierra Storm

Five fixed-wing Air Force search planes braved stormy weather today in an intense effort to locate a twin-engine Navy jet that diappeared over Northern California with four persons aboard.

"We're checking out every possible lead, no matter how remote," a spokesman at Hamilton Air Force Base's Search and Rescue Headquarters said.

The spokesman said ground parties were investigating a report of a scorched area about 20 miles east of the Modoc County community of Likely.

He said helicopters will be added to the search effort if weather conditions improve substantially.

The A3B Skywarrior bomber was en route from Miramar Naval Air Station near San Diego to its home base at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, Wash., when it disappeared from radar scopes in a heavy snowstorm.

The plane was believed down near 9,934-foot Mount Eagle, about 29 miles southeast of Alturas.

Tighter Leash Law Is Asked

Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association directors last night asked Mill Valley city officials to put teeth into the leash law in their neighborhood, reported William H. Bay, club president.

Dogs running loose are both a nuisance and a danger, directors agreed. The city has stepped up enforcement of its leash law in commercial districts, but dogs in residential areas have been allowed to run free.

Annual membership meeting of the association will be May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in Edna Maguire School, Bay said. Four of the seven members of the board of directors are to be elected for two-year terms and three for one-year terms.

Landscape Plan For Marinwood Viewed By Groups

Directiors fo the Marinwood Association last night discusses possibility of a landscape master plan for Marinwood in a session with two members of the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission.

Commissioners Lawrence B. Malkin and Frank Furtado also told association directors of the recreation program planned at the Marinwood Community Center this summer, association chairman Jack Nixon reported.

Allan Fisher of 2571 Heatherstone Drive was named to the board of directors. George D. Gazulis of 717 Appleberry Drive was named to the board last month.

Sleuths Almost Sure Virus Is Culprit In Leukemia

By BARBARA J. CULLITON
Science Service

If leukemia is induced by a virus, sooner or later science is going to know.

A major investment of talent and money in a task force to combat leukemia says it will be sooner, and top flight scientists across the country have been mobilized in an all-out effort to unmask the virus-like particles that turn up when the blood cancer is present but elude researchers' efforts to pin them down.

Successfui transmission of leukemia in laboratory animals and strong circumstantial evidence linking animal leukemia viruses and human virus-like particles stand behind the premise that leukemia is an infectious disease and that a vaccine can be developed once its viral source is identified.

Two years ago the National Cancer Institute launched the Special Virus-Leukemia Program to sponsor the intensified virus hunt. Instead of giving separate, unrelated grants to individual scientists, the program funds the work of research teams each looking for answers to the same question

NCI is coordinating the myriad of activities and serving as a central switchboard to keep information flowing freely between its scattered task forces.

Out of this concentrated anticancer campaign has come a forward-looking outfit called, in typical bureaucratic fashion, the Viral Resources and Repositroy Section of the National Cancer Institute.

Now that more scientists than ever are pursuing research along parallel lines, the demand for research's basic tools has boomed. Doctors in New York may be tracing the effect of the same viral strain in mice as are doctors in Chicago. If the two are going to compare results, and that is what they want to do, they have to be sure they are working with identical strains of both viruses and mice. If an investigator in Buffalo thinks he's identified a new type of virus, he needs a standard of comparison to be sure.

This is where Viral Resources comes into the picture. Its storehouses hold samples of animal and human viruses, and reagents that can be supplied to program participants upon request. "The viruses number in the hundreds, and we've identified many more viruses than corresponding diseases," Dr. Harry C. Steinman, Viral Resources' chief, reported. "There are at least 60 different types of viruses from monkeys alone," he said, "and we hope to have them all in storage as the program gets under way."

Diseased tissues from humans are vitally important to further study because so much has already been done on model animal systems, Dr. Steinman explained, but it is extremely difficult to obtain and supply such tissue fast enough to be useful — that is, before it has time to begin disintegrating.

Laboratory animals, probably the most basic need of basic research, present quite a problem to the scientific community but one Dr. Steinman's team is trying to resolve by anticipating possible needs before they occur. One calls for new species of experimental animals.

Mice, as everyone knows, are used frequently in biomedical studies. They are easy to care for, don't cost much to house, respond to dozens of disease organisms and have a comparatively short life-span so if they are going to get sick and die from a virus, they do so rather quickly. But mice are not very close to men and the discrepancy between what happens biologically in mice and what happens in men is enormous.

Monkeys, on the other hand, are the primates closest to man. But the incubation period for a virus in a strapping young chimp may be up to 10 years — a long time for crash program scientists to wait — and the hotel bill for these human cousins is staggering.

An Old World or rhesus monkey costs his keepers about $250 a year. Cats run around $180 a year, guinea pigs about $36 and mice only $9. Therefore, a laboratory doing monkey studies spends $10,000 a year just for hotel services if it has an average of 40 residents.

So, other animals combining the best features of mice and monkeys are being sought. At Tulane University in Louisiana, scientists supported by NCI are trying to breed tree shrews from southeast Asia, little chipmunk-like creatures that seem promising as animal models. But the highly sensitive shrews are resisting efforts to get them to mate. They have not yet adapted to life in captivity and their captors have not learned enough about their native habits to provide satisfactory living quarters. But things may change once the shrews are happier.

Marmosets and galagos are other exotic animals that are potential candidates for the research ranks. Zoologists at the San Diego Zoo are working under a NCI grant to learn about the natural habits, biological activities and native diseases of these creatures. Knowledge of native diseases is fundamental to research efforts to preclude the possibility of thinking a disease had been induced in the laboratory when it is actually something quite common to a particular species naturally.

Building stockpiles of research materials and anticipating research demands are vital to the efficient operation of this massive war on leukemia. A colony of 40 animals may be valuable to one researcher in one lab, but is inconsequential when teams of researchers in a number of labs are all pursuing the same thing. If someone discovers a link between leukemia viruses in shrews and virus-like particles in humans, the whole task force is going to want shrews — in a hurry. Whatever the need, Viral Resources is beginning now to anticipate and meet it, so that when success is imminent, science won't be caught short.

Hiring Practices Will Be Reviewed

Marin Planner Holds Time Key To Any General Plan

The county should adopt a general plan which sets goals by 1967 standards and needs, and should avoid a plan that is filed away and forgotten, Albert Solnit of the county planning department told the planning committee of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs last night.

Solnit, in charge of advance planning, described a new concept which he calls "process planning" which would allow continuous adjustment of policy and goals to take care of changing times.

"We really don't know what's coming up," Solnit said of future planning. The Marin General Plan the department proposes would enable planners to keep on top of new developments, he claimed.

He said the conventional master plan is usually something everyone struggles to complete by a certain date; it is then submitted and everyone goes home.

Under the proposed plan, the department would develop enough information of traffic movement and volumes, for instance, to predict the problems and needs with each new development, Solnit explained.

The eight members of the committee present voted unanimously to send formal invitation to cities and major districts in the county, to send representatives to future committee meetings.

The planning committee also voted to work toward publication of a booklet or preparation of a film to show the need and function of a county-wide general plan.

The motto of the state of Kansas is Ad Astra Per jaspera (to the stars through difficulties).

LABOR UNION DEPLORES ANY CIA FUNDING

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemens Union deplores the acceptance of CIA funds by organized labor and declares it "must be condemned by any honest trade unionist."

Despite Central Intelligence Agency secrecy, "enough has come to the surface to justify estimates that CIA money paid to organized labor was around $100 million a year," said a resolution adopted yesterday. "The American Newpaper Guild alone has received $1 million."

The resolution asserted the ILWU "has sought help of unions overseas and we have offered them our assistance. But we have never sought to interfere in their internal affairs."

Today's Graduates Held Hostile, Lacking Labor Union Knowledge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Although one-fourth of this generation's school children will go into union jobs, they are being graduated with a hostile attitude toward organized labor, the International Longshoremens' and Warehousemen's Union protested yesterday.

Delegates to the union's week-long convention adopted a resolution saying:

"Most students emerging from public schools don't even know what labor unions are. They are, to put it bluntly, leaving school with a great gap in their education.

"If they think they know anything at all, it is generally their opinion that unions are 'bad,' 'too big,' 'too militant,' or 'un-American'."

The ILWU long has supported a national health service, explaing, "we believe this in the long run offers the only way to put medical care on a satisfactory basis."

The delegates resolved:

"If the hospitals will not produce their figures, or if the figures do not in fact support the increases, the California Council for Health Alternatives threatens to seek legislation to declare the hospitals to be public utilities, subject to rate regulation."

Another resolution demanded more jobs to alleviate poverty.

Another, labelled "apathy in the labor movement," demanded that all union leaders "bring the American labor movement back to what it was meant to be—an integral part of the American way of life with a voice that speaks out on the issues of the day, and that uses its strength to give direction to the foreign and domestic policies of this country."

In other resolutions, the ILWU:

Recommended tax reform measures to produce a fairer tax system.

Pledged support to the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists in its strike against national television companies.

Criticized NBC newscaster Chet Huntley for crossing AFTRA picket lines and for advocating a back-to-work movement among striking TV newsmen and labelled him a fink.

Urged the United States to recognize Red China and to sanction trade with it, and urged the United Nations to seat Red China on the Security Council.

Asked the State Department to permit an ILWU delegation to go to Red China to study its labor movement.

Urged Congress to increase quickly the basic Social Security retirement benefit "as much as possible" and called President Johnson's recommendation for a 15 per cent increase "inadequate."

Called harassment the Internal Revenue Service's demand that the Sierra Club pay income taxes on money previously exempted as gifts.

Urged the government to protect forests and recreation areas "in the interest of Americans' right to a superlative natural and scenic heritage."

Labelled auto insurance rates "outrageous" and urged union officials to study the possibility of group auto insurance.

The first woman to fly in a balloon was Mmme. Thible, a French opera singer, on June 4, 1784.

Jury Set For Second Kesey Trial On Dope

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jury selection was completed yesterday in the second trial of author Ken Kesey on charges of possession of marijuana. His first trial ended in a hung jury.

The 32-year-old writer was arrested on a rooftop in North Beach a little over a year ago.

A Letter To San Rafael Voters

In 1965 there were 512 felony cases in the category which encompasses murder, rape, robbery, auto theft, aggravated assaults, etc. In 1966 there were 442 cases reported in this same category, a decrease of 13⅔ per cent. I therefore believe the officers have been doing an excellent job of crime prevention.

It has been mentioned that in the Terra Linda area there are certain times when there are no patrol cars in the area. This is not so because we have overlapping shifts on this beat, as we have on other beats.

We have a continuous training program in effect. Critiques by the shift commanders to the officers every day; monthly meetings where films are shown or lectures are given relative to all phases of police activities. We also send our officers to specialized police schools. One officer recently graduated from a 6 weeks course in law enforcement training from Diablo Valley Police Academy. Five officers are presently attending schools during their off-duty time, three attending a police supervisory course and two attending civil defense procedure course. Also there are officers attending police science courses at the College of Marin on their own, for which I have requested in this budget for allocation of funds to reimburse these students for any expenditures.

Siemens Rips At 'Political Techniques' Tried By Ring

Nettled by Ring's charges during the campaign, Siemens launched his attack in his opening statement at a candidates' night at Park School in Mill Valley.

Ring had a chance for rebuttal, but this was as close as the two candidates got to a debate. At this point, the moderator steered questions away from "personalities" toward district operations.

CARLISLE ISSUE

Earlier in the campaign Ring questioned the propriety of a business relationship between Siemens and District Supt. Chester G. Carlisle. Dr. Siemens is executive director of the Tamalpais, a retirement home, and Carlisle was president of the board of the project. Carlisle has since resigned from that board.

Siemens charged that "political techniques" are being used, "techniques that have never been used in high school district campaigns."

He said that information questioning ethics, "in part infactual," was "given to the press or made public" before it was presented to the board or the persons involved.

"Are these techniques in the campaign really benefitting the high school district?" he asked. "What is the motivation?" He also asked whether such publicity would "elevate the status of a school board or tend to demean," and "be disruptive."

There is a need "to maintain the status of the board and integrity of its members," he said.

Galen Williams asked for identification of the issues and candidate that Siemens meant, and Ring responded.

Ring, a former member of the Reed School District Board, said, "Nobody who serves eight years on a school board has an ulterior motive."

'POLICY QUESTION'

Raising the question of the business relationship bewteen Siemens and Carlisle "wasn't an attack on Siemens," he said. "I was just raising a question of policy" he said — of the propriety of such a relationship. "I think the superintendent and the board should be independent and the welfare of the district requires that they be."

At this point, Mrs. Samuel Newson, moderator, said, "We don't wish to get into personalities," and asked for questions concerning the district.

In her opening statement, Mrs. Bette Wallace, an incumbent, said the most pressing district need is classrooms, and she favored building the first stage of San Geronimo Valley high school as the first building move.

Mrs. Wallace contended there "is a lack of public knowledge about district-wide problems." She claimed that "time has run out" and even if funds were available, it would be three years before more high school classrooms would exist.

Ring said his purpose in the campaign has been to raise issues and engender public discussion that will continue after the campaign is over. There are critical issues "and too little has been done," he said. He charged that the board has been passive in its relationship with the administration, and should provide leadership.

UNIFICATION VIEW

Siemens said that district administration and board have been alert and "have kept up with issues." He said he was opposed to any unification plan that would divide the district.

Mrs. Wallace advocated establishing a "foundation for the education of Negro students" to aid those with educational problems. "We could apply for funds to other foundations," she said.

Mill Valley Candidates Center Talks On Middle School Plans

The proposal for a middle school — sixth, seventh and eighth grades —at Project 17 on Camino Alto was a prevailing issue at Park School last night.

Three candidates for the Mill Valley School District Board fielded questions about the proposed school and $3.5 million school bond issue in June at a candidates' night session. Tamalpais High School District candidates also appeared on the program.

FAVORS SITE

Joseph E. Bodovitz, an incumbent, favored the Project 17 location for a middle school, saying it is centrally located, will provide a saving to taxpayers and provide recreational facilities.

John K. Robinson said "the time is right" to work with the city on development of Project 17 and joint facilities.

Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Hepp said she supports the middle school, but opposes phasing out neighborhood schools and creating an "educational park."

Bodovitz said "no one has proposed an educational park" and the issue has become a "gremlin" in the campaign.

BOND NEED

He said the chief problem facing the district is facilities, and noted that the bond issue would finance not only the middle school, but improvement of existing schools.

Robinson said there are problems of inadequate buildings and financial resources. He said he will resign from the city planning commission if he is elected to the school board.

Robinson said there is a need to keep up communication between the school board, parents, teachers and students. He suggested occasional meetings at homes of trustees with parents, teachers and students to discuss education.

Mrs. Hepp said there has been a diversity in viewpoint as to what direction "to take in our schools." the extreme opposite views might be leaving the schools unchanged or tearing everything down and building one central school, she said.

As for an educational park, she said that "it may be brought up again. It is a decision of the board, a policy they can make, and change."

One resident asked Bodovitz why the proposed middle school would have to have "50 classrooms."

Bodovitz said that it would provide additional facilities, and would be able to accommodate the growth. "There is a great deal of undeveloped land in Mill Valley now that will be developed," he said.

Bodovitz said the district is at its maximum tax rate, and the rate cannot be raised without a vote by the people. The board is not contemplating a tax boost in the next fiscal year, "but there will be a fiscal problem in the following fiscal year," he said.

The session was sponsored by the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association Council, the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, and the Mill Valley Branch, American Association of University Women. Mrs. Samuel Newson was moderator. About 100 persons attended.

District's Record Argued By Tam Board Candidates

Three candidates for two openings on the Tamalpais High School District Board in the April 18 election took to the air waves today.

Appearing on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program were David D. Ring and incumbents John C. Siemens and Bette Wallace.

The incumbents devoted themselves largely to endorsement of the present board's record of accomplishment while Ring renewed earlier campaign charges that the district's $2.5 million reserve fund is too large; that not enough had been done to forestall crowding at Sir Francis Drake and Redwood High Schools; more effective liaison between the district and the elementary schools was needed.

Siemens and Mrs. Wallace took the position that the building program to alleviate crowding was under careful scrutiny by the board, and that close community relations being developed by the board would help to secure passage of future building program bond issues.

In response to questions phoned in by the radio audience, none of the candidates offered any hope of reducing the present $1.90 tax rate, the maximum the district can levy, and has almost consistently since 1959. Relief, they agreed, will have to be sought at the state level.

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording on KTIM at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Tiny Apartments Get Pocket Veto

EARL J. O'GRADY
Takes over gavel

Larkspur City Council last night moved to ward off substandard apartment development by pocket-vetoing a proposed ordinance setting a 420-square foot minimum floor area for apartment units.

Councilmen Neil R. Brixon and Vaughn Marker argued the figure was far too small even for studio or bachelor apartments.

Brixon said he knew of a new apartment building in San Rafael filled with tiny studio apartments and warned against allowing them in Larkspur. "They're creeping up on us," he warned.

The ordinance was recommended by the planning commission for approval, but the council killed it by declining to act, leaving the zoning ordinance as it is.

Minimum floor area is now determined indirectly, by an ordinance allowing one apartment unit for each 2,000 square feet of land in a parcel.

SEWER BIDS

The council took its only available escape route out of a tangled sewer situation by authorizing advertising for bids for a sewer force main, leaving timing of the bids up to city staff.

City Engineer B. J. Whitlow said it will take several months for delivery of pipe because it must be designed specifically for the project. The main now crosses Corte Madera Creek and must be relocated to allow flood control dredging. Delay in getting the pipe could affect timing of the dredging by the Army Corps of Engineers, Whitlow said. If the flood control work is delayed, Larkspur could be liable for damages, he warned.

CHANGE COMPLAINT

Whitlow also complained about a last-minute request yesterday from the Ross Valley Sanitary District for a change in plans for the force main to meet needs of a district pumping station. The change would require complete redesign of plans, he said.

With authorization to seek bids, he said, the city can work out scheduling and other problems with the Army and the sanitary district, which must assure the Army Engineers that all preparatory work and land acquisition are done before dredging starts.

LAND TRADES

The Larkspur council completed its end of a territory exchange with Corte Madera by annexing a small area on Industrial Way, rescinding a call for a de-annexation election for the Christmas Tree Hill area, and consenting to detachment of Christmas Tree Hill from Larkspur.

Councilman Earl J. O'Grady was elected mayor for 1967-68, to succeed Marker. Councilman Alfred Malvino was named vice mayor. Both men were presented gavels by the Larkspur Volunteer Fire Department.

The volunteer firemen also presented the city with two pieces of equipment worth $1,200, a "Salvage Master" high-powered vacuum cleaner for rapid cleanup of water and debris, and a two-way radio unit for fire department calls.

The Larkspur City Council also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed O'Grady and Brixon to a committee to study establishing joint library facilities with Corte Madera. The committee will meet at 9 a.m. April 15 at Corte Madera Town Hall. The council will meet at 8 p.m. today at Larkspur City Hall with the Larkspur Library Board.

CLERICAL JOB — Withheld action on a proposal by City Mgr. Kent Bathurst to buy a $9,000 bookkeeping machine which he said would allow reorganization of clerical staff to eliminate one job. Councilmen Brixon and Henry Brocco were named a committee to study the machines available.

ENCROACHMENT — Delayed action on a proposed ordinance on right of way encroachments to allow the parks and recreation commission a chance to dovetail it with a new tree ordinance.

FIRE TAX — Passed a request to the county to eliminate Larkspur from the county structural fire tax levy. The request must be repeated annually.

DEEDS — Accepted a quitclaim deed from C. H. T. Wright for right-of-way along Doherty Drive, and a grant deed from Wright for right-of-way on Bon Air Road.

INSURANCE — Agreed to take up proposals for health and accident insurance for city employees during budget sessions.

Firemen Support Little League

Spring training for the district's softball team was scheduled for next Tuesday, weather permiting.

The old-timers ball game at Judge Field was scheduled for May 20 at 3 p.m., a game in which "active youngsters and oldsters in the fire department" will compete, according to Lawrence J. Bogel, vice president.

Chief Franklin J. Buscher announced the volunteer force is four men short of the regular 32-man crew.

SAN CLEMENTE CANDIDATES' NIGHT SLATED

Candidates for Tamalpais High School District and Larkspur-Corte Madera School District boards will speak at a candidates' night next Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. at San Clemente School, sponsored by the Mariner Cove Improvement Association and San Clemente Parent-Teacher Association.

Candidates for the high school district board are David D. Ring and incumbents Dr. John C. Siemens and Bette Wallace, and for the Larkspur board, incumbents Curtis P. Kamai and Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone.

BOTH SIDES CAUTIOUS

Search Still On For Compromise On Fate Of Strawberry's Pool

Strawberry Recreation District and Strawberry Swim Club last night each took a hesitant step back from the brink of what could be a long and costly legal battle over control of the Strawberry pool.

The club's attorney, William Kiriakis, told district directors he had requested the American Arbitration Association in San Francisco to hold in abeyance the club's call for arbitration proceedings, pending further efforts by both parties to find an amicable solution.

The district directors on their part made no effort to seize control of the pool and operate it yesterday, as previously threatened. They instructed their attorney, Stephen H. Kaufmann, to enter negotiations with Kiriakis.

POOL AT STAKE

The heart of the controversy is the determination of the district to take over the $64,000 pool which was built on district property and paid for by the club on the understanding that at the end of 20 years, ownership would revert to the district. The agreement between the club and district gave the latter the right to take over the pool on 60 days' notice.

The district board has for some time complained that the club serves only a limited number of residents and taxpayers of the district.

On Feb. 1, district directors terminated its agreement with the club on the ground that "the residents and taxpayers would benefit by the district's maintaining and operating a public swimming pool."

DEBT ISSUE

Out of that disagreement over whether the pool shall be publicly or privately operated have grown other differences as to how much the district would owe the club on the latter's investment if the agreement is terminated by negotiation or by legal action.

These matters were only obliquely touched on last night after Kiriakis read a conciliatory letter suggesting negotiations before both parties plunged further into "an extremely complex legal quagmire . . . that will require considerable expense and time to resolve, perhaps a couple of years."

The directors then went into closed session to confer with their attorney. They emerged an hour and a quarter later to announce that Kaufmann would enter talks with Kiriakis.

The board then continued the matter until a special meeting April 17 at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Point School.

DIRECTOR QUIZ

The board agreed to a request by James Garner that it determine whether director William H. McDonough, who was absent last night, is still a resident of the district and a qualified director. The board declined to grant Garner's request that it recommend him to the board of supervisors to fill any vacancy created by McDonough. Garner pointed out that he was first runner-up with 450 votes in the last district election.

Architect J. Martin Rosse reported a low bid of $3,460 had been received from A. J. Bresnan Co. of San Rafael for construction of a 46-foot diameter tot lot. This, he noted, was more than $1,000 above his estimate of $2,210. The board voted to accept the bid, however, but deferred till next fiscal year purchase of $1,500 in play equipment. Other bidders were Maggiori and Ghilotti, $3,990; Ghilotti Brothers, $4,198; Brown-Ely Co., $4,344, and E. A. Forde, $5,620.

The board designated the Allen residence at 301 East Strawberry Drive as the polling place from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 2 for the district's $23,000 bond election for dredging Strawberry Canal.

Reagan Backs Master Plan For Redwoods

The plan "will permit government and private interests to go about their respective jobs without further harassment," he said in his message on state parks to the legislature.

He also confirmed his intention to freeze spending of most park bond funds pending "a thorough re-examination of all proposals." The only bond monies to be spent, meanwhile, will go for "critical land of unquestionable quality."

The governor said he will propose legislation to merge the state park and recreation commissions into one nine-member body to develop recreation policies.

Blood Test Use Upheld On Appeal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Blood samples of suspected California drunk drivers may be taken without court warrants, without the suspect's permission and even if they are unconscious, an appeal court has ruled.

The case involved misdemeanor drunken driving charges against Ellen Dolores McDonald, brought originally in Yuba City Justice Court. Subsequently, Sutter County Superior Court issued an order restraining the lower court from prosecution, however.

But the Third District Court of Appeal ruled yesterday that California law clearly recognizes police officers in emergency or exceptional circumstances may make "reasonable search without a warrant or consent."

The appeal court, reversing the Sutter court order, said it made no difference that charges against the driver involved misdemeanor, rather than felony, drunken driving.

More than 2,700 makes of automobiles have been manufactured in the United States since 1893.

Novato Dumping Causes Creek Woes

Trash dumped in Novato drainage ditches and creeks caused some minor flooding in last week's rains, according to Lawrence A. Coleman, Novato public works director.

Warning that it is against a city ordinance to dump either on private or public property, Coleman said his department will start a patrol to catch violators.

Withholding Tax Pressure Mounts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Pressure on Gov. Ronald Reagan to abandon his firm stand against withholding state income taxes from paychecks soared today, extending even to top Republicans, as well as Democratic leaders.

Something of a disagreement between the state's two top elected officials, both Republicans, developed yesterday when Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch conditionally endorsed the hotly debated withholding system.

He told a reporter "I'm against withholding just to impose withholding for revenues, but I'm willing to take the bite if it is couped with inventory tax relief."

Such relief for the businessman is included in the $1.15 billion tax bill sponsored by Republican Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto. The Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee he heads adopted, at his request, an amendment to the bill earlier in the day inserting the withholding tax method into the measure.

Before he met with a committee aide and Republican State Controller Houston I. Flournoy—who has said the state would benefit from withholding — the Lieutenant Governor told a reporter he felt Reagan "hasn't made any final judgment" on withholding.

He met later with the Governor, however, and admitted when he emerged that Reagan seemed to be more anti-withholding than Finch had reckoned on.

Veneman and Finch weren't the only ones bringing direct or indirect pressure on the Governor. The head of the Assembly's 42-member Democratic majority, Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood, commented:

"The inclusion of income tax withholding in Assemblyman Veneman's tax bill now places the responsibility squarely on the Governor to indicate his reasonableness and willingness to compromise on a sound revenue plan . . ."

Reagan's last public statement on withholding was, "I'm just unalterably opposed . . . My inclination now would be to say I would veto it." He quipped, however, that his resolve might break if he were "bound hand and foot . . . and they held a hot iron to my feet."

Rumford Act's Repeal Claimed A Certainty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The thorny issue of open housing reached the floor of the California Senate again today in the form of a Rumford Act repeal measure.

In a surprise move yesterday the Senate's toughest committee — Governmental Efficiency—cleared for floor action a Rumford Act repeal bill authored originally by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin.

Three weeks earlier the committee had heard the bill but took no action. Opponents thought it was bottled up in the committee, which often serves as the Senate's "graveyard" committee.

Yesterday, however, Sen. Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, the Senate's powerful president pro tempore, added his name as the major sponsor and the bill came out on a voice vote with a "do pass" recommendation. There was no discussion.

The move caught the Senate's most vocal proponent of open housing—Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles—by surprise. He is the Senate's only Negro.

Dymally said because of a feeling the bill would not come up again in the Senate many civil rights groups "just took it easy so to speak."

The repeal bill could come up for floor action tomorrow. Schmitz predicted flatly it will pass.

It will be the Senate's second struggle with open housing this session. Last month Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, led an attempt to block Gov. Ronald Reagan's nomination of Burton E. Smith as state real estate commissioner, because he had worked for Proposition 14.

The Senate went ahead and confirmed Smith's appointment.

Schmitz said he expected his repealer to pass the Senate with the support of all the body's Republicans and "at least four" Democrats. Dymally said he also expected the vote "is going to be awful close." Democrats hold a narrow 21-19 margin in the upper house.

When Clemson University opened its doors in 1893 there were only 446 sutdents. Today the enrollment is more than 5,000.

Drugmobile Nets Agents Lots Of LSD

DENVER (AP)—Federal agents, who already claim to have seized more than 15 pounds of LSD, continued their search today through a truck - mounted chemical laboratory that apparently produced the hallucinogenic drug.

The 15-pound lot, if marketed illegally in individual capsules, would be "well worth $1 million" if it tests the same quality as an earlier seizure of eight ounces from the truck, an agent said.

The truck, equipped with condensers, heaters and other chemical - producing apparatus, was confiscated last Friday at the Dinosaur port of entry in northwestern Colorado after the two men riding in it failed to stop at the port. The truck was westbound.

They gave their names as Nicholas Sand, 25, and David L. Mantell, 26, both of Los Altos, Calif. They are held in jail at Craig, Colo., but officials said no federal charges have been filed.

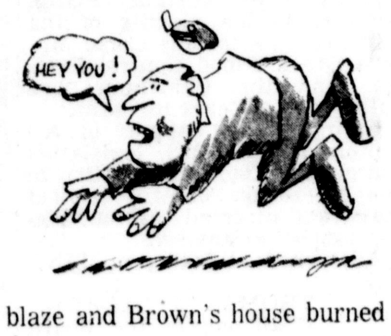
LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Laws May Block Some Damages



In a recent case Charlie Crash made a fast turn in a parking lot and ran into Phil Fumble's car. Charlie knew that he had hit Phil's car and should have stopped, but he drove off.

Unknown to him, Phil was nearby and ran after Charlie yelling for him to stop. Poor Phil wasn't watching where he was going. He tripped over a curb and broke his arm.

Charlie had to pay for the damages to Phil's car but the court refused to make him pay for his broken arm. Though Charlie had broken the law, the law was not really aimed to protect him from the harm of which he complained. It was to protect owners of unattended cars from financial loss by persons who hit and run. It was not to protect persons chasing after the hit-and-runners.

To be the basis of a new law suit the violation of a law must be directly related to a person's injuries or damages.

For example, a driver may have had an expired license when the accident occurred. This does not mean that the driver was negligent. The purpose of the licensing laws is partly for driver safety, but also for revenue, for identification and the like. Just an expired license does not prove negligence in driving.

In another case, Smith left his key in his unattended car in a downtown business area, a violation of the city ordinance. The car was stolen and the thief negligently ran into Jones. A car owner could not be to blame for a thief's bad driving. Some other evidence of negligence must be shown.

Perhaps he left the car parked in a skidrow area where an irresponsible person could easily take a car for a joy ride. That would show negligence for which an innocent bystander injured by the thief could base a claim against the car owner.

Special laws may limit the right to recovery even where there is negligence.

For example, a city cleaned out its water lines and closed off one of the valves and forgot to open it again for a month. Meantime a fire broke out at Brown's house. Lack of water kept firemen from stopping the blaze and Brown's house burned down.

Brown sued the city, but the court refused to give Brown any relief. The city could not be sued for its inability to stop a fire nor for its lack of water to fight a blaze. This is so even though the City had failed to open its water main.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

U.S. Jury Indicts Banker Again On Big Theft

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Roger Lee Williams, 28, a former bank official who disappeared with $500,000, has been indicted for the second time by a federal grand jury.

The indictment returned yesterday supercedes the one handed down last Jan. 18. It charges the former assistant cashier of the Security - First National Bank branch in Riverside with larceny from a national bank and entering a bank with intent to commit larceny.

The indictment said Williams stole $196,348 in cash, $158,900 in traveler's checks, 600 bank money orders, 600 cashier's checks and an electric check protectograph.

Suspect Hears Marijuana Count

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entry for 2 p.m. April 19.

Hernandez, released without bail, is accused of having a small tin can full of marijuana in his possession last Sept. 30 in San Rafael. He was arrested Monday in Novato by Jesse P. Foster, state narcotics agent.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Emotions Play Major Role In Proper Heart Functions

VAN DELLEN

Love and pity are emotions that are not harmful to the heart. The old ticker works best when the individual is courteous, generous, and friendly. In contrast, uncontrolled anger, hate, jealousy, resentment, frustration, and selfishness, are enemies of the heart. The same can be said of fear, insecurity, and worry.

Such feelings set up impulses that stimulate the cardiac organ. During anger or excitement, for example, the structure beats faster and its muscle demands more blood which the coronary arteries must furnish. When these vessels are narrowed by arteriosclerosis they may be unable to supply the demand. This is the basis for the pain of angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis.

EMOTIONAL OUTBURSTS are not easy to avoid because our world is complex and competitive. The heart is likely to suffer when we conceal our tensions and allow anger and fear to smolder within ourselves. Some obtain relief by "blowing their top."

One of my colleagues never hesitates to even the score when someone makes a cutting remark; he claims he feels better when he gets these comments off his chest. I must admit that this attitude has not enhanced his popularity but it meets his special need. There are easier ways to let off steam, but to each his own.

IT IS BETTER to recognize the origin of fear, anxiety, and frustration. Anger or hostility toward those we love or are associated with is childish. Look at the bright side and be willing to recognize honest differences of opinion. An internal safety valve of this kind is not easy to acquire and may be difficult to put into action, but once mastered, clear thinking and peace of mind follow.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

SAWDUST ALLERGY

Mrs. B. R. writes: My husband is a carpenter and has received a diagnosis of allergic dermatitis from sawdust. Does any special type of wood cause this condition?

REPLY

A small percentage of woodworkers become sensitized to wood or its components (resins, oils, and the like). Occasionally the allergy is a fungus infection of the tree. The condition has been noted in those who work with virtually all types of wood: poplar, alder, oak, birch, and down the line.

MOTHER'S BOY

Mrs. D. L. writes: I have trouble getting my husband out of bed in the morning. His mother always used to call him and when I try to waken him he calls me mother. I can't understand this as we have been married six years.

REPLY

How long had he been a bachelor before getting married? This may be the time to buy an alarm clock and tell him he is on his own.

ICE CUBE EATER

N. R. K. writes: I'm an ice cube addict but the habit does not seem to harm me in any way. Yet my friends keep nagging me to stop eating the cubes. Can you give me one good reason why I should quit?

REPLY

No, if your teeth and tummy can take it. It's a much better habit than chewing tobacco and indulging in Scotch on the rocks.

WOOL BLANKET

F. K. writes: Is it harmful to sleep with a wool blanket next to you, without a sheet? I stay warmer this way during chilly nights.

REPLY

No harm unless wool causes itching or allergy symptoms.

DOTES ON BREAD

T. G. writes: I eat a lot of bread. Is it injurious to my health?

REPLY

No, provided room is left for meat, fruit, eggs, vegetables, milk, and other food essentials.

OUR CONSTITUENTS

R. T. writes: My doctor says I'm 80 per cent nerves and 20 per cent anemia. What do you suppose he means?

REPLY

Anyone who makes this diagnosis should prescribe the remedy. I have read that we are 91 per cent oxygen, hydrogen, carbon, and nitrogen, but this has nothing to do with your problem. I assume he means that 80 per cent of your symptoms are of nervous origin.

JACKSONIAN EPILEPSY

M. B. writes: What kind of epilepsy is jacksonian?

REPLY

A peculiar form of the disease in which the convulsive movements start in the muscles of the hand, foot, or face and spread slowly. The seizure may end spontaneously or it may be stopped by squeezing the part; if severe, it may involve the remainder of the body with generalized convulsions and loss of consciousness.

EARLY GLAUCOMA

V. M. writes: Can glaucoma be detected in an early stage?

REPLY

Yes. Careful examination of the eyes by a competent ophthamologist is required, however. Many glaucoma victims postpone examination because they do not recognize the telltale symptoms.

NASAL LESIONS

M. R. L. writes: You stated recently that rectal polyps are precancerous. Does this mean nasal polyps also?

REPLY

Nasal polyps rarely, if ever, become cancerous and in this respect differ from the type that develop in the rectum or intestine. Allergy is the most likely cause of these nasal lesions.

A BAD HABIT

Mrs. P. R. writes: My 7-months-old baby eats and sleeps well and seems healthy but some days her temperature goes up to 100 degrees. Does this indicate an infection somewhere in her body?

REPLY

Not if she seems otherwise healthy and behaves in a normal fashion. A rise to 100 degrees F. in children is not unusual after activity. Is there any particular reason why you keep taking her temperature?

Today's Health Hint — Safety is the heart of accident prevention.

Buy Bonds

Sometimes it seems the job is 50% walking, 50% waiting, and 50% fighting. It's tough, tiring work. But these brave men believe in it. A majority of our servicemen overseas are helping to pay the bill for freedom through regular purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to show these men their sacrifice is appreciated? You do it—and you walk a bit taller—when you buy Bonds where you bank or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years . . . are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen . . . have special tax advantages . . . can be redeemed whenever the need arises.

Curbs On Naming School Buildings

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A school district couldn't name a building after a living board member of district employee under a bill approved 30-4 by the Senate yesterday.

The bill "gives the school district the opportunity of avoiding pressure put on it ... by persons connected with the district," said Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, sponsor of the bill which now goes to the Assembly.

Engineers Leave Shows To Complicate TV Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Walkouts by engineers and other technicians in sympathy with the AFTRA performers strike took hold today in sevegal areas of network radio and television, as officials of NBC and ABC said "amateur" replacements were responsible for a night of wavering sound and blurred pictures.

"We'll have them rerunning reruns soon," a union leader said after engineers stayed away from work today at ABC and NBC in New York. Their ABC and NBC counterparts at Los Angeles said they too would refuse to work.

The engineers, members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, were among 15 theatrical unions, including cameramen, technicians, stagehands, set designers, musicians and electricians who voted yesterday to support the nine-day old strike of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

The move "will obviously hurt us," a network spokesman said. AFTRA's executive secretary, Donald F. Conaway commented: "If this doesn't shut down the networks it will surely slow them down."

In immediate jeopardy was weekend sports coverage, including the Masters golf tournament on CBS, although that network reported its engineers were on their jobs.

News staffs will be reduced for President Johnson's scheduled trip Monday to Punta del Este, Uruguay, and the networks said there will be no satellite coverage as once contemplated.

It was also announced yesterday that Monday's presentation of motion picture Academy Awards would go on as scheduled even if the strike is not resolved and the Oscar show is not broadcast.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Caesar, Coca Show Falters In Places

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —"The Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris Special," an informative title if there ever was one, was the name of last night's CBS-TV hour reuniting four stars of television's early days.

Viewers who recall the wit, gaiety and wildness of the foursome will remember that they brought genuine sophistication and satire to the home screen in their better moments —which were many—on the series called "Your Show of Shows."

I use the qualifying phrase— "in their better moments"— because I think it is something of a legitimate excuse for the fact that the hour probably left many viewers rather disappointed at not seeing sheer genius for a solid hour. The old "Your Show of Shows" wasn't always so great either despite its superior batting average, but I must confess I remember it as being decidedly more inspired — even on its off-nights— than it was last night.

I was encouraged at the start by a sketch in which Caesar and Miss Coca played two Americans, strangers to each other, who meet at an outdoor cafe in Paris. Their timing sparked memories of the happy past; the lines that savored the cutting up of cliches were dandy and the mood of comedic finesse was set.

Then suddenly things fell apart, and it struck this viewer that perhaps it was just unreasonable to expect everything to be just perfect for the stars after so much time apart.

Council Asked To Stall Main Street Decision

Sausalito Planning Commission last night asked the city council to defer to May action on widening of Main Street, reported Vice Chairman Robert L. Nissen.

Public Works Director Norman Wohlschlaeger was asked to present details of his plan for the widening to commissioners April 19. Commissioners received a copy of a letter Wohlschlaeger sent property owners on the five-block street, but declined to consider the proposal without a full presentation of the plan, Nissen said.

City councilmen agreed Tuesday to take a field trip Saturday at 11 a.m. to look at the street. Many residents of the street oppose the widening.

Commissioners Alan D. Bonapart, Walter Thomson, Hendrik J. Keizer and Murray Smith were absent from the commission meeting.

Sausalito Planning Commissioners also:

GATE THEATER — Recommended a conditional use permit sought by D. Mordant to convert the Gate Theater to commercial use, agreeing the conversion would not conflict with the proposed central waterfront general plan. A variance from off-street parking requirements still will be necessary.

COFFEE HOUSE — Recommended a permit to Gary W. Penders to operate a small coffee house with entertainment at 2222 Bridgeway.

PURITY STORE — Deferred to May 3 a use permit application from Trident Productions to convert the former Purity store to commercial use, pending study of proposed swap with the city of land outboard of the site.

PARKING—Denied a variance application by Gustaf Ronsen to provide two parking spaces instead of the four required for a Duplex at 36 Edwards Avenue.

Victim Improving

Workman Hit, Telephone Service Cut

A telephone repairman suffered a fractured leg yesterday and phone service was out to 70 homes in Forest Knolls throughout the night because a car went off Castro Street and hit the man and his equipment at 7:10 p.m.

William J. Martin, 35, of Petaluma, an installer for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., was working on a defective telephone concentrator on Castro Street.

A crew worked all night to replace the concentrator, according to Peter W. Tibbetts, southern Marin Pacific Telephone manager. Service was expected to be fully restored by 10 a.m. today, Tibbetts said.

Veteran Julius Boros In Early Masters Lead

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Thurs., April 6, 1967 37

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Veteran Julius Boros carved out a one-under-par 71 today and took the early first round lead in the wind-swept Masters Golf Tournament.

The 47-year-old Boros, a two-time U.S. Open champion and winner of two tournaments this year, overtook faltering Dave Marr in the early going, while co-favorites Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus were just getting started on the 6,980-yard Augusta National Course.

Marr, the 1956 PGA champion, was three under par at 33 on the front nine, but slipped to a 40 coming home for 73.

A strong, gusty wind wrecked a number of scores but the bright, sunny weather lured a huge gallery to the lush, flower-bedecked course.

Don January, another of the early starters, also had his troubles on the back nine. He turned in 34 and finished at 74.

Marr had bogey son five of the first six holes coming home and January bogeyed four of the first five.

But it didn't bother Boros. He had a birdie four on 15 and played the rest of the back nine in par after a birdie and a bogey on the front nine.

Palmer, a four-time champion, parred the first six holes he played, while Nicklaus picked up a birdie on two and was one under after three.

Nicklaus needed only a three-foot putt for the birdie after driving far over the new trap in the fairway that forced most players to play short.

He appeared to be ignited by a tremendous second shot on the first hole after he had hooked his drive into the trees. He punched a five iron under the pines, over a trap and five feet from the hole.

Giants Get One Vote But So Do The Cubs

HOW SWEET IT IS — Okay, you guys, watch the language. No dirty stories today. And let's all be on our very best behaviour, shall we?

Don't tell the guys down in the locker room, but we have lady visitors in the sports department today.

The sugary little confectioneries of the I-J's Marin Women section, apparently fed up to their auxiliaries with Chantilly lace cages, eggshell linen, white moire, peau de soie, delune peau and peau-peau-bedo, have tippy-toed into this sweat box we call an office with their annual forecast for the 1967 National League pennant race. I must say, their mere presence in this den scared heck out of us.. It isn't every day we have four skirts marching in the door, you know.

MOST SOCIETY cupcakes think baseball is a dance at the Hamilton Field Officers Club and that an audible is a woman's prerogative. Take one to Caldlestick and she'll admire the lawn. They think a two-bagger is a double ring ceremony and that sliding pads belong in the lingerie repair shop.

But not our little social lollipops. No sir, the I-J's baggage department has four sports-minded scriveners who KNOW that Candlestick is a baseball stadium and that the National League has nothing to do with the League of Women Voters.

SO, I WANT you guys to pay attention to these predictions by the I-J's Barbara ''Spike'', Hosmer, Patricia "Home Run" Zinn, Lois "Golden Glove" Sens and plain old Molly Marin. (To tell the truth, I have never met Molly, but I've heard a lot about her family.)

Anyway, "Spike" Hosmer favors the Giants to pilfer the ol' senior loop bunting. She picks the Pirates second and the Braves third.

MISS ZINN sees a gonfolan for the Pirates with the Giants second and Dodgers third.

Miss Sens senselessly but perhaps sentimentally scents a flag for the Chicago Cubs (I kid you not). She picks the Houston Astros to finish second (to the Russians?) and the Giants third. (No one has told her about the Cubs, oviously.)

AND, BY GOLLY, Molly Marin predicts a championship for the Planned Parenthood Association, followed by the Degree of Pocahontas in second place and Pixie Parents third.

FOURTH ANNUAL Marin Sports Injury Conference is booked for Saturday, May 6, at San Rafael High School, the co-sponsoring Marin Medical Society and Marin County Superintendent of Schools have announced.

One lively topic on the agenda will be the "Emotional Aspects of Sports."

Gary Player, Once A Tiny Tiger, Has Turned Into A Coy Kitten

The fiercely burning competitive drive that made him one of the most feared golfers in the world has dwindled to a flicker and he's the forgotten man of the Big Three.

"I don't get charged up any more," the dapper little South African said today as he teed off in another Masters. "I keep trying to get it back, get that drive, that desire, but it just isn't there any more.

"When you have achieved all your goals, your thinking changes, your whole outlook on life changes."

Player, along with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, made up the Big Three that dominated the game for several years. But that all changed in 1965 when Gary won the U.S. Open championship in St. Louis.

"I was so wound up then I didn't know where I was," Player recalled. "I didn't want to talk to people. I had a short temper. I was almost obsessed."

That changed when he won the title in a playoff with Kel Nagle.

"That did it," Player said. "When I won that one I felt I had achieved everything and I stopped working on golf."

The victory made him only the third man to win all four major tournaments — the Open, the Masters, the PGA and the British Open — and he went into semi-retirement.

He made infrequent appearances last year, was not a factor in any major tournament and isn't expected to be in this one.

Palmer, the only four-time Masters champ, and Nicklaus, defending champion and three-time winner, were co-favorites at 6-1 when the field of 83 of the world's best golfers teed off on the demanding 6,980-yard, par 72 Augusta National Course.

Doug Sanders and U.S. Open Champ Billy Casper were next at 8-1 while Player, Gay Brewer and Julius Boros were listed at 10-1.

"I'm playing quite nicely — but not great," he said, then turned philosophical.

"Golf is a lot like marriage," he said. "You have to work at it to make a success of it. And I just haven't been working at golf. I used to practice six hours a day. But I don't any more.

"I'll play until the day I fall over, but there are other things in life. I have five lovely children and a wonderful farm and all the money I'll need.

"I'm happy and content."

Seals Lose Playoff Opener On Two Lucky Totem Goals

SEATTLE (UPI)—The California Seals played well, but still were 1-0 down in their Western Hockey League semi-final battle with Seattle today.

The Totems took a 3-1 decision last night in the opener over California, but the Seattle goals were a bit lucky and the last one came in the open net.

That one was a 115-footer with 50 seconds to go as Don Chiz took the puck from the six attacking Seals and registered a tally.

The first Seattle goal came when Tom Thurlby put the puck into his own net during hectic action around the net. Bill Dineen got credit since he was the last Seattle player to touch the puck. Jim Powers sent a soft one off Jack McCartan's skate moments later and the Seals were down 2-0 after six minutes. Ed Hoekstra scored later in the first period for the Seals, who were blanked thereafter.

McCartan stopped 30 and Seattle's Jim McLeod 29 in a busy night for both netmen. One bright spot for the Seals was the performance of Ron Harris, who returned off the injury shelf recently and has picked right up where he left off. He dominated play when he was on the ice, but just couldn't shove through a goal for the Seals.

He and the rest of the Californians will try again tomorrow night at Seattle in the second game.

Defunct League Owes Sharman

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The American Basketball League called it quits five years ago, but it lost another decision yesterday to coach Bill Sharman, who is now the successful head man of the San Francisco Warriors.

The California Appellate Court upheld a Superior Court decision awarding the ex-Boston Celtics star $17,682.90 as unpaid salary on a two-year contract with the defunct Los Angeles Jets.

Sharman contended in his suit he had been hired at $20,000 a year by the ABL club but that his services had been severed on Jan. 12, 1962 when the circuit folded.

Redwood Prep Golfers Win

Redwood High School's golf team yesterday increased its practice record to 4-0 with a 25 261 victory over Lincoln High of San Francisco, at Hurding Purk in San Francisco.

The match was played over nine holes instead of the regulation 18 due to rain.

Redwood Winners — Tim McMurray, 42; Al Fritz, 43; Norm Hantzsche, 41; Richard Grey, 46; Scott Murphy, 41; Lance Krigbuam, 43.

Tito Fuentes Reinjures His Ankle

That's especially true in baseball. Many a kid has gotten his big chance whn an established player has suffered an injury.

The latest to fit that category are shortstops Tito Fuentes and Cesar Gutierrez. Tito is the injured incumbent and Cesar the hungry young kid.

Fuentes suffered an ankle sprain early in spring training this year and as a result has played only five innings.

While Tito sat and fretted, Gutierrez, who played with Fresno in the Class A California League last year, was given a chance to make good. For the most part he split shortstop duties with the veteran Jim Davenport.

Yesterday, manager Herman Franks dropped the bad news when he announced Fuentes suffered torn ligaments in his bad ankle while trying to play in a scrub game last Sunday with the Phoenix farm club. Now there is no telling when he will be able to play.

Fuentes hit .261 with nine homers in his rookie campaign a year ago and the Giants were counting on a big year from him in 1967. Gutierrez, who stands only 5-9 and weighs 155 pounds, has been sparkling afield in Fuentes' absence and has a .341 batting average to boot. Davenport, starting his 10th year wih the Giants, is hitting an even loftier .382.

Franks said he isn't sure who will be in the opening day lineup against the Cardinals in St. Louis next Tuesday. One thing for sure: Fuentes won't.

Clinic At 1 O'Clock

The lacrosse clinic scheduled Saturday at Drake High School is at 1 p.m., not 10:30 a.m. as reported Tuesday in the Independent-Journal.

Giants Oppose Angels

FRESNO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants served Cleveland a baseball potpourri yesterday — a three-run homer, a freak Willie Mays tally, and a run-scoring double—but finally emerged with a 6-5, 10-inning victory. That gave them their spring series with the Indians, 5-4.

Today, San Francisco's National Leaguers challenged another American League club, the California Angels, with left-hander Mike McCormick the probable Giant pitcher.

The potpourri served in Modesto:

Willie McCovey hit a three-run homer, his first circuit clout of the year, to propel the Giants into a 3-0 first inning lead.

MAYS SCORES

Willie Mays got an infield hit and so worried the Indian pitcher, Steve Hargan, that Hargan threw wild in a pickoff attempt, putting Mays on second. An infield out and a wild pitch by still unsettled Hargan put Mays across.

Ollie Brown had singled McCovey home with the other run.

McCovey, who has been struggling for hits all spring, nevertheless is leading the Giants in runs- batted- in with 13. Mays and Jesus Alou each has 10.

Willie Mc had a single along with his home run and has included five doubles in his total of 15 hits in 56 at bats for a .268 batting average.

ANXIOUS

He's so anxious to improve that at Berkeley on Monday he asked — and was granted—permission to play in a Giants B game.

Ron Herbel may have won the fourth spot in the Giants pitching rotation behind Juan Marichal, Gaylord Perry and Bob Bolin.

He gave up all Cleveland runs —three of them in the fourth on a walk and four singles — but had pitched exceedingly well. In 13 previous innings he had an earned run average of .69 but saw it soar to 2.84 yesterday.

42-POINT RALLY

St. Louis Third Quarter Too Much For Warriors

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bill Bridges, a demon off the backboards, and a 42-point third quarter by St. Louis proved too much for San Francisco last night.

The Hawks clipped the Warriors 115-109 in the third game of the National Basketball Association's Western Division final playoffs. The victory cut San Francisco's lead in the best-of-7 series to 2-1.

The 6-foot-5 Bridges pulled down a career high 32 rebounds and scored 25 points.

High-scoring Rick Barry, who averaged better than 45 points in the first two games, scored 31 for the Warriors, 15 on free throws.

FOUL TROUBLE

The big problem for San Francisco, however, was Nate Thurmond, who was hampered with five personal fouls, three in the first quarter. The big center scored only 10 points but did get 21 rebounds.

The Hawks started slowly and didn't catch up until Bridges scored with 9:13 left in the third period. St. Louis then opened up a 15-point lead, outscoring San Francisco 42-28 in the period.

The Warriors outscored the Hawks in the other three periods.

The two teams play the fourth game of the series in St. Louis Saturday night. The fifth game will be played Monday night in San Francisco. Saturday night's game will be televised live on KTVU, Channel 2, as was the game last night.

GOT JUMP

Player-Coach Richie Guerin of the Hawks said, "Every game we've played so far in the series we've had a slow start in the first and third quarters. It happened again tonight in the first quarter, but in the third quarter we played well and got the jump.

Guerin added that "under the conditions, this has to be Bridges' best game. He was playing with an ankle that had to be given a shot before the game and a bad knuckle."

Thurmond, 6-foot-11, said his shorter rival, Bridges, "played a heck of a game." But the big Warrior said his foul problems stymied him.

SETTLE FOR SPLIT

Thurmond added that he didn't expect to win the series in four straight games. "I'd settle for a split in St. Louis," he said.

Bridges, who has 129 rebounds and 109 points in six playoff games, admitted that "some nights rebounds fall better."

When asked why he did so well in the playoffs, Bridges said, "I think I play well in the playoffs not because I'm a money player, but because I haven't played on a championship team since high school.

"Ever since I've been with the Hawks, we've been in the playoffs and come so close to winning. . . but we just haven't won one yet."

Rookie Lou Hudson trailed Bridges in scoring with 18 points, 12 in the big third quarter.

ONE-HORSE RACE?

Aqueduct May Open Gates On Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Aqueduct race track, closed for two days by a boycott of horsemen in a dispute over purses, will open Saturday even if only one horse is entered in a race, the chairman of the New York Racing Association said today.

The chairman, James Cox Brady, declared "we have every sympathy for the horsemen in their fight for increased purses and fully understand their resentment. But they have made their point. Now we expect the owners and trainers stabled in New York to cooperate with management in putting on a full card of races on Saturday."

There was no immediate response from Jack Dreyfus Jr., temporary head of the New York division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, an organization of owners which instigated the boycott.

The dispute centered on the failure of the New York State Legislature, which adjourned Sunday, to allocate an additional $3.5 million for purses.

In the past two days horse owners have refused to enter any races and the big track has been closed.

"Even if only one horse is entered in a race, that race will go on," said Brady.

"We have a responsibility to the public and a serious obligation to the more than 2,000 employes who have been thrown out of work."

The entry box was opened again today for tomorrow's races but at 11 a.m. EST not one horse had been entered.

Turbine Car Enters Field For Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A turbine-powered car developed by Studebaker's STP Division was entered by Andy Granatelli today for the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Auto Club, which sanctions the 500, announced Harlan Fengler of Dayton, Ohio, will be chief steward for the 10th straight year.

Henry Banks, USAC director of competition, said other returning veterans will include S.A. Silbermann, technical committee chairman; Richard E. Sauer, timing and scoring director; Ray House, chief timer; Pat Vidan, chief starter; Walter R. Myers, chief observer, and Dr. Thomas A. Hanna, medical director.

With April 15 the deadline for entries, 66 cars have been entered for the race. Time trials will be the weekends of May 13-14 and May 20-21.

Terra Linda-Novato Game Is Called Off

Terra Linda High School's scheduled baseball game with Novato High tomorrow at Albert Field in San Rafael has already been called off, Trojans' coach Don Lucas announced today. Makeup day was tentatively set for next Wednesday.

Heavy Hollywood Gamble On Gregory Peck's Horse

Different Class, the 7-year-old owned by Peck, has won twice and placed third twice in his last four outings.

Fans at Aintree said there had been a heavy Hollywood gamble on Peck's horse in the four miles, 856 yards race over a turf course involving 30 rough obstacles.

This is the second time Peck has tried to win the National — a race first run in 1837. His Owen's Sedge finished seventh to Ayala four years ago.

Oakland Will Get 50 Cage Games

OAKLAND (AP) — Fifty professional basketball games will be played in Oakland next season.

The new American Basetball Association's team and the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association each will play 18 games in the new Oakland Arena.

The ABA team will play 14 more home games in the Oakland Auditorium.

The Warriors plan to schedule most of their remaining home games in the San Francisco Cow Palace.

The Oakland ABA team will play four home games at Reno, Nev., and two each at Fresno and Portland, Ore.

Weather Making Coaches Grumble

By GARY TISCHLER

Holy rainchecks!

There haven't been so many cancellations and postponements since the airlines strike and the sun was shining then at least.

We're talking about the weather, and most of the talk has been closer to grumbling, coming from Marin County Athletic League spring sports coaches.

It's been raining so much, the top items on their equipment budgets may be arks. The Terra Linda and San Rafael baseballers don't even remember what Albert Field looks like, it's been so long. When the MCAL thinclads hear the starting gun at a meet, they call the police.

NO LESS THAN 16 baseball games have been washed out, rescheduled, reshuffled and what not until the schedule has begun to look like a Chinese checker board. Tamalpais has gotten in all of three games. It's getting so the pitcher checks the catchers signal, the runners and the clouds before each pitch.

No wonder they're calling it a wishy washy season. Don't be too surprised if they issue galoshes with spikes on them.

REDWOOD BASEBALL coach Al Endriss, undaunted by the deluge, just has to get in a game somehow. He recently placed a long distance call to Tulare, near Fresno, to see if anybody would or could play.

"We've got a dry field but it's overcast," was the answer. Endriss decided to skip it, weather being the way it was.

SPEAKING OF REDWOOD, which has gotten in nine games, the Giants have three pitchers whom they're going to start calling agents double 000 Zero. Mike Terry, Kevin Wilson and Barry Stockwell all sport earned run averages of oh-oh.

STILL ON BASEBALL, Marin County teams have nothing to be ashamed of. Right now, they're 22-22 against outside opposition with San Rafael (3-1) Redwood and Marin Catholic (6-3) and Novato (3-2) showing the way. Only Drake (1-6) has been really suffering, and even the Pirates have a victory over what is supposed to be the best team in San Francisco, Polytechnic.

THE NEWS THAT Steve Woodward, all-around super-star and super-student from Tamalpais, will not be able to play because of a diseased bone in his arm, is certainly a jolt for the Indians, if not for the whole league. An all-leaguer twice in basketball and all-MCAL second baseman last year, Woodward will have to keep his arm in a sling, totally inactive for the remainder of baseball season. An indication of the type of boy and athlete Steve is comes from the fact that he was picked non-playing captain for the Indians this year.

WHILE WE'RE at Tam, the Indians inaugurated their brand new track Tuesday with easy dual meet victories over Marin Catholic and San Rafael but Tam coach Bruce Grant was not too happy with the times and distances. The Class B time in the 880 and height in the pole vault, in fact, was better than the varsity and the frosh dash times came close to the varsity.

The Indians have to have the league's mightiest mite. Freshman Mike Biancalana ran the mile in a 5:15, not bad for a freshman but it's a super-effort when you consider that he weighs in at 88 pounds and stands all of 4-10.

THERE MAY BE SOME looking around on Drake's golf team. The No. 4 man shot the best round during the Pirates' match with San Rafael Tuesday and the No. 1 man wound up with the highest throwaway score.

SOME LEFTOVER Drake basketball notes. The five Pirate starters on the Tournament of Champions team (Chet Carlisle, Jerry Sprout, Stu Clemons, Don Alvarado and Karl Stein) were honored at a San Anselmo Rotary Club luncheon meeting last week and were given pen and pencil sets.

DRAKE'S TRACK, getting some refurbishings for the new season, inadvertently was torn up in the process and won't be in use for a while.

THERE MAY BE a Marin County representative on the East-West Northern California all-star basketball game slated for June 30 at Foothill College.

Black Hawks, Maple Leafs Each Missing Key Player

CHICAGO (AP) — The champion Chicago Black Hawks and third-place Toronto Maple Leafs each could be lacking a star performer as they launch their Stanley Cup semifinal series at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Toronto definitely goes without veteran goalie Johnny Bower, injured in practice yesterday, and Chicago's brilliant winger, Bobby Hull, is a doubtful starter because of an ailing knee.

The dicision on whether Hull, hobbled since March 28, plays in the opener of the best-of-7 series was to be made after a pregame medical checkup.

"Bobby can't start and stop like he wants and if the doctor feels a couple more days of rest are needed, that's the way it will be," said Hawk Coach Billy Reay.

Soccermen Draw 4,000 In Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)— About 4,000 Phoenix sports fans were indoctrinated in the international sport of soccer last night when they turned out at Montgomery Stadium to watch the Chicago Spurs defeat the San Francisco - Oakland Clippers, 3-1.

Forward Willy Roy of the Spurs provided some good lessons for the fans and so did Clipper back Monsilo Garvic when he easily beat his foe to the goal area to break a 1-1 tie with a 12-yard goal with 40 minutes gone in the National Professional Soccer League exhibition match.

76ers Take Commanding 3-0 Lead Over Sagging Celtics

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With still one more game to reap the fruit, the Philadelphia 76ers claim a distinction no other team in the National Basketball Association can — they've beaten the Boston Celtics three in a row in a playoff series.

They won their third game last night, 115-104, to take a 3-0 edge in the NBA's Eastern Division best-of-7 playoffs.

'DISGRACE"

"It's a disgrace the way Philadelphia players faked injuries to get a little extra time out. This is really chicken play," said the man who coached the Celtics to eight straight championships before turning over the reins to Player-Coach Bill Russell.

It was the only sour note recorded. Russell said it was the best game of the season for both teams. He wouldn't comment on Auerbach's charges and no one seconded them.

"I tried to shuffle the line-up putting in John Havlicek and Bailey Howell in spots to eliminate the dead periods that our team had been running into this season," said Russell.

Auerbach suggested that the NBA rule that permits a player 45 seconds to recover or leave the game be done away with.

He acknowledged, however, that the tactics he complained of, which possibly occurred four or five times by Philadelphia and also several times by Boston "didn't win the game — but it sure lengthened it."

"WE DON'T FAKE"

"The most disturbing part of this is that Boston over the years had made a farce out of the 45-second rule and certainly it has had nothing whatever to do with the outcome of the three games which we won by our play, not by our resting," said Hannum.

Hal Greer pumped through 30 points to lead the 76ers' followed by Wally Jones with 21. Wilt Chamberlain had 20 and pulled down 41 rebounds for an NBA record for a playoff game.

Havlicek was high for the Celtics with 33 points.

The fourth game will be played Sunday in Boston.

Game Called Off Because Of Sun

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sportswriter

It was former Dodger pitcher Bill yLoes who once explained an error by claiming he had lost a ground ball in the sun, but that could hardly have prepared the baseball world for the great Las Vegas sunout.

It happened yesterday when the Chicago Cubs and California Angels were locked in a fierce exhibition struggle in the gambling capital.

The score was 10-10 and Angels' pitcher Rickey Clark leaned in, looking for the plate, but couldn't find it. The sun, on the horizon directly behind the plate, was so blinding, in fact, that he couldn't see much of anything.

GAME CALLED

Clark called umpire Stan Landes to come out to the mound and take a look. Landes agreed the situation was intolerable and called the game off.

Billy William sbatted in five runs for the Cubs, two each on a pair of tremendous home runs. But the Angels scored four unearned runs in the ninth that tied the game.

Paul Schaal and Jimmie Hall hit home runs for the Angels.

Elsewhere on the baseball scene, the Baltimore Orioles assigned Steve Barber to their Rochester farm club to see if he can work into shape for the opening of the major league season next week. A mainstay of the Orioles' staff last season, Barber has been troubled with an inflamed tendon in his pitchin gelbow.

ORIOLES WIN

In a night game with the New York Yankees, the Orioles took a 5-3 decision despite six innings of shutout pitching by Mel Stottlemyre for the Yanks.

Bob Aspromonte's three-run homer was the big blow in Houston's 10-3 victory over Los Angeles.

Washington came up with four runs in the ninth, two scoring on a single by Doug Camilli, and bounced Boston 5-1. Jim Northrup hit a sngle with the bases full and two out in the ninth, driving in the winning run for Detroit, which downed Kansas City 7-6. Northrup also homered for the Tigers.

THREE FAST ONES

Atlanta scored three times in the first inning and beat Minnesota 4-3 despite a homer by Rich Rollins for the Twins. Lee May's single in the 12th inning gave Cincinnati a 1-0 win over Pittsburgh. Billy McCool gave up one hit in six innings for the Reds and Woody Fryman allowed only one hit in five frames for the Pirates.

Rich Allen and Bob Uecker homered for Philadelphia, but St. Louis rallied for two runs in the seventh innings and beat the Phils 5-4.

Southpaws Hold Key To Giants' Chances

MODESTO—Several logical deductions, positive and negative, may be made about the 1967 Giants on the basis of six weeks evidence that unfolded in spring training. Let's look first at one of the big plus points.

The brightest bit of evidence these past six weeks was submitted by the Big Five of the team's pitching staff. The Big Five? Juan Marichal, Gaylord Perry, Bob Bolin, Lindy McDaniel and Frank Linzy. Numerically they represent half of the 10-man staff but 70 to 75 per cent of its strength.

CONSERVATIVELY, Marichal and Perry should win 40 games between them this year. Bolin is expected to contribute 15 victories. McDaniel and Linzy are expected to save their customary quota of games but they also are hopefully listed for 15 wins between them.

This totals 70 victories and leaves a 25-game gap to a successful pennant bid assuming 95 will be needed to win the 1967 National League pennant.

SO THE BIG QUESTION revolves around the contributions that will or will not be made by the second half of the pitching staff: Mike McCormick, Ron Herbel, Ray Sadecki, Joe Gibbon and Bill Henry. All but Herbel are southpaws. Can they collectively contribute 25 victories?

On the basis of his spring training camp efforts, little can be expected from Sadecki whose 7.82 ERA in exhibition games (20 runs in 23⅓ innings) was the worst of the pitching staff. Still, Sadecki may be good for half a dozen wins. At least, the Giant front office men who urged the Sadecki-Orlando Cepeda trade last May fervently hope so.

SIX WINS FROM Sadecki would leave 19 to be won by Herbel, McCormick, Gibbon and Henry to make up the needed 25 from the second half of the staff. Both Herbel and McCormick, particularly Herbel, believe they are going to make substantial contributions this year. If they won 16 between them that would leave only three for Gibbon and Henry to win.

None of these quotas is fanciful. The 40 wins allocated to Marichal and Perry certainly are not unrealistic. After all, Marichal was a 25-game winner for the second time in his career last season and Perry joined the 20-game club for the first time with a most impressive 21-8 record.

THE 15 ALLOCATED to Bolin may seem high but not on BB's strong potential. He was 11-10 last year, four of his wins being shutouts. He went six shutout innings or more in 11 other starts before giving up a run. If BB's teammates had gotten more runs for him in 1966 he easily would have had an additional half dozen victories.

The 15 allocated to McDaniel and Linzy may also seem high because they are relief stoppers, not starters. Yet last year, in addition to their saves, they shared 17 victories — 10 for McDaniel, seven for Linzy. The 7-11 record of Linzy last year was one of the team's disappointments.

JUST TWO MORE wins from Linzy last season would have made the difference between a first and second place finish. But his sinker wasn't working on several occasions and when it was at other times he became a victim of missed double plays.

This spring Linzy's sinker began dropping out of sight like it did in his rookie year of 1965. It it continues to disappear in the games that count from April 11 to Oct. 1, Linzy could very well hold the key to the pennant.

Lebanese Say Don't Draft Cassius Clay

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The president of the Lebanese Boxing Federation asked President Lyndon Johnson to exempt world heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay from the draft.

A similar message to Johnson was sent by the head of a sporting club in Beirut, and the newspaper Al Anwar said signatures were being collected for a document asking Johnson to exempt Clay from the Army.

Aly Jarady, head of the Boxing Federation, said his message yesterday was prompted by purely sporting reasons and had no political motives.

In the message he said:

"America will not benefit from Clay as a soldier as much as it benefits from him as a sportsman. His exemption from military duty is a service to sportsmen all over the world."

He added: "Clay has put new muscle into world boxing and he should be left free to continue to do so."

The message from Wafik El Ajouz, head of the Jazireh Sporting Club, said "millions of humans" expected a decision from Johnson exempting Clay from the draft.

"This decision would prevent Clay from entering a battle he does not want to fight," the message said.

Clay is scheduled for induction April 28 in Houston, three days after his next heavyweight title defense against Floyd Patterson in Las Vegas, Nev. Clay, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, has requested deferment on the grounds that he is a Black Muslim minister.

New Swim Coach At Terra Linda

Kevin Ragan, 29-year-old graduate student at San Francisco State College, has been hired as the Terra Linda Recreation-Park District's swim team coach and assistant pool manager.

Ragan was varsity swimming coach at Riordan High School in San Francisco for three years, and directed the San Francisco Boys Club competitive swimming team.

The new coach will begin administrative duties for the district immediately, Gurin said, and will begin team swimming practice in mid-May, preparing for the coming Marin Swim League season. During the summer months, Ragan will join the Terra Linda pool staff on a full-time basis.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Often You Can Help Partner Solve His Defense Worries

In some hands the defense is difficult from one side of the table but easy from the other.

If you are a good partner you must make things easy rather than present a problem to the unfortunate person across the table from you.

Opening lead — ♡ A

When today's han dwas played by a few thousand students last month in the annual intercollegiate championships, Wes usually opened the ace of hearts and continued with a heart to the king.

Now West was in trouble.

NO DIAMONDS?

It was possible that South had no diamonds.

In that case East might defeat the contract by returning a heart at once in the hope that West would get two trump tricks.

Whenever East did so South made the contract by discarding his singleton diamond on the third round of hearts.

West could ruff, but then declarer easily won the rest of the tricks.

WEST HOLDS KEY

East cannot be faulted for making the wrong decision at the third trick. Actually West holds the key to the problem.

West should assume that his partner holds the king of hearts and an ace.

Any defense will work if East has the ace of spades, but East must be guided if he has the ace of diamonds.

East is forced to take the ace of diamonds.

Then he cashes the king of hearts and leads another heart.

If South ruffs low, West overruffs; and if South ruffs with an honor, West's 10 of spades eventually becomes high.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump (16 to 18 points) and the nest player passes. You hold:

♥ A J
♦ J 9 7 6 3
♣J 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have only 7 points, and partner's maximum is 18, so that game is very unlikely.

Let your partner make a comfortable part score.

Free Shave, But What About Shine?

PRAGUE (AP) — All men employed at the factory at Jecicko have to shave at work, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

The factory produces razor blades and the shaving-room serves for "technical control." The management said it regrets that so many women are employed in the plant, "and the practical tests cannot be extended to all employees," according to the CTK.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, April 6, the 96th day of 1967 with 269 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and full stage. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

U.S author and world traveler Lowell Thomas was born on this day in 1892.

On this day in history:

In 1830, Joseph Smith organized the Church of the Latter Day Saints, or Mormon Church, in Fayette, N.Y.

A thought for the day: Belgian poet Maurice Maeterlinck once said: "Men's weaknesses are often necessary to the purpose of living."

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marvelous Marin Insurance Agency Has New Co-Owner

A new co-owner has been added to Marvelous Marin Insurance Agency, Inc., San Rafael for the first time in its history.

Frank T. Follin of Santa Venetia has acquired an interest in the company after being general manager since 1963. At that time he joined the office after the death of F. Lloyd Grandi. Now he is teamed with Mrs. Grandi in the business. He has a backlog of many years experience in multiple lines and fire rating bureaus in the Bay Area.

Marvelous Marin was organized in 1933. Since its reorganization in 1963, many of the lines have been expanded. Life and hospitalization coverage have been added to general insurance lines.

LES GIRLS BEAUTY SALON in San Anselmo has been purchased by Lee Montrose, a San Francisco hair stylist. The name will continue unchanged. For the past three years Montrose has been with the Joseph Magnin beauty salon.

The transaction was handled by John Manzone of Tamarin Realty Associates, Inc.

Former owner Sarah Sosa has moved to Campbell in Santa Clara County.

A RECENT ADDITION to Drug Giant in the Ignacio Shopping Center is Ignacio Nursery—an 8,500-square-foot area devoted to extensive lines of nursery stock, insecticides, fertilizers and the like.

Operating manager Richard Zunino, who says he is offering quality merchandise at competitive prices, is also a co-owner of another nursery in Sebastopol, where he lives. He divides his time between both places.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mrs. Salle Seaman Soladay of Kentfield, who has entered the general practice of law in San Rafael in association with Lawrence A. Cowen. Their offices are in the Cheda Building.

As the wife of James R. Soladay, head of the English department at Terra Linda High School, she has had to acquire her law degree the hard way. She managed to have two babies while attending Hastings Law School and running for student body president. As a result of the extracurricular demands she was dropped from the rolls and had to put in an extra year before being graduated.

AGENCY APPOINTMENTS. Dearborn Routh and Associates, whose co-owner John Dearborn is a resident of San Anselmo, has been appointed to direct the new advertising and promotional campaign of James Allen and Sons, meat packers . . . Wenger and Michael, Inc., San Francisco has been appointed advertising agency for the Northgate Fashion Mall in Marin. Don McDaniel is account executive; Miss Miriam Goodman is his assistant.

OUTDOOR RECREATION, INC., 521 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael has been appointed exclusive dealer in Marin for the Heilite line of tent trailers and pickup tent campers. Models are available for inspection.

IT'S A BIG YEAR for science fairs in the Bay Area — there will be three of them.

Already in progress is the First Annual Santa Clara Valley Science Fair at the County Fair Grounds in San Jose. That lasts through Sunday.

If you miss that one, the annual San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair opens to the public Saturday at the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, and lasts through Wednesday.

Finally, an International Science Fair will be held in Brooks Hall at the San Francisco Civic Center May 8-13.

Top Stocks Weaken To Cut Late Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Late weakness in some leading stocks made it difficult for the stock market to hold a modest gain at the close today. Trading was fairly active.

In late dealings, losses of a point or so were shown by Montgomery Ward, Goodrich and Sperry Rand, which paced the list on volume.

IBM held about 8 points of a dozen-point rise earlier.

Gainers outnumbered losers in the closing minutes.

Volume for the first four hours was 6.8 million shares compared with 6.4 million yesterday.

The market rose from the start. In late trading gainers outnumbered losers by about 7-to-4, falling below the two-to-one ratio that prevailed earlier.

Here was the picture near the close:

The industrial average had a small gain which was clung to. Softness in some of its component blue chips made the average look weaker than the overall list.

Occidental Petroleum led in activity as it pushed ahead nearly $2 points. Second most active was Sperry Rand, which eased.

Also heavily traded, Sperry & Hutchinson, Avon Products and First Charter Financial gained more than a point each while Denver, Rio Grande & Western advanced almost 2, Scientific Data 4 and Bell & Howell sank 4½.

IBM rose 8, Polaroid 4, Pennsylvania Railroad 3, New York Central 2 and General Electric about a point.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

ANYONE FOR AN ELECTRIC CAR?

Westinghouse announced plans this week in Los Angeles to produce and market the "Markette," an electric vehicle which would be powered by a dozen six-volt batteries. Top speed will be 25 miles an hour and the auto will go about 50 miles between chargings. The basic function of the auto, a company spokesman said, is to provide short-range, convenient, smog-free transportation for urban dwellers.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Cyclical Stocks Unwise For Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We are in our early forties with two sons to educate. We own Allegheny Airlines, American Telephone and Fulton Industries. We are disturbed about the latter stock which shows a big loss. Do you believe there will be an early recovery? Would you switch Allegheny into Eastern Air Lines?" W.B.

A. I am very much pleased to try to help someone with your responsibility to a fine family. You have yourself pinpointed the weakness in your list from the standpoint of growth — in textiles where a general downturn became apparent last year. I look for no early recovery in Fulton.

As a general rule, I do not believe that investors in your position should hold cyclical stocks. I advise you to switch this issue into Gillette, a growth issue which should be relatively immune to any moderate decline in our economy.

Allegheny is a good local service airline with a rather uneven earnings record. Eastern is highly leveraged and has speculative attraction. For your objective I would prefer Pacific Southwest Airlines, which operates wholly in California.

Q. "Please list for me some preferred stocks or bonds yielding five per cent or more. We are retired and need good income with safety." V.Y.

A. I will be glad to do so. Bonds and preferreds are both fixed as to income. With the exception of convertibles, they offer you no protection whatsoever against future decline in the purchasing power of your money. With this understood, I suggest Pacific Gas & Electric six per cent preferred, selling to yield 5.41 per cent; N.Y. State Elec. & Gas 3.75 preferred, offered on a 5.43 basis. Among bonds with reasonable call protection, I like Gulf Oil 5.35s of 1991, selling to yield 5.28 per cent and Commonwealth Edison 5¾s of 1966, selling to yield 5.43 per cent.

Oil Tragedy Points Up To Size Versus Economy

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)— Britain's stout attempt to disperse with detergents a flood of oil that breached its coastal defenses is more than a symbol of man's naive hope that soap and suds will always lick slick and slime.

What is demonstrated also is the awesome size of today's ships. Such an unlikely disaster to Britain from the seas it once ruled could not have happened a couple of decades ago. Ships then were a fraction of the size they are now.

If the typical tanker of 1950 had gone aground in the same spot the resulting disturbance would have been a nuisance rather than a tragedy, leaving no more residue on the Cornwall beaches than a midterm holiday by a college crowd.

Until after World War II tankers were about 16,000 tons. Larger ships might have been possible during the war but, moving languidly, they would have been easy submarine targets.

The Torrey Canyon, now a wreck off England's southwest coast, represents a peacetime development. Fully loaded it weighs more than 118,000 tons.

The Torrey Canyon nevertheless was not nearly the largest tanker afloat. The Japanese, whose shipyards have pioneered the new size and shape of things, has afloat the Idemitus Maru, all 205,000 tons of it.

And still this is only the beginning. An oil company hopes to begin operating sometime next year the first of six tankers, each with a total weight, fully loaded, of 300,000 tons.

Such tonnage causes tanker design to stretch beyond 1,000 feet. This was once considered dangerously long because a tanker does not have nearly the supporting framework of such ocean liners as the Queen Mary or the United States.

Now plans have been drawn — by the British, in fact — for a 500,000-ton oil tanker measuring more than a quarter-mile long. The motivation, of course, is the desire to ship oil less expensively.

Business Inventory Tax Should Be Phased Out

The business inventory tax is recognized as one of the most inequitable and discriminatory taxes in California.

But because it does bring in substantial revenue to county coffers, past efforts to abolish the tax have failed. This may be the year when the state Legislature takes action to send the business inventory tax toward its ultimate grave. Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy has started the ball rolling.

The inequity is evident. Businesses that have a low markup and depend on volume sales, such as newspapers, which sell products at 10 cents apiece, get stuck for a frightfully high tax when inventory is assessed on the first Monday in March.

Other businesses that have a high markup and low turnover and do not require huge stocks on hand get off with an unrealistic low inventory tax.

Because of this, it is only natural that many businesses attempt to take evasive action by depleting their stocks to the absolute minimum on the first Monday in March. Jewelry wholesalers ship gems out of the state, even though they ultimately plan to sell them here.

Railroad cars loaded with goods sit idly across the line in Nevada until after inventory day. Barges laden with newsprint pile up at the docks, waiting for the day after inventory day for unloading.

The volume dealers, especially those who depend on seasonal business suffer heavily because they are forced to stock up heavily in February and March in preparation for pre-Easter and spring sales. Their business depends on a complete stock of goods on the shelves, not in railroad cars in Nevada.

To a degree, this same inequity applies to the household goods tax on private homeowners. Because an on-the-spot check of each household is physically impossible, the assessor must use an arbitrary formula to assess household goods. This leads to undertaxing some and overtaxing others.

Senator McCarthy has introduced legislation to abolish the household goods tax and to phase out the business inventory tax over a period of five years.

The Governor has come out in favor of the McCarthy proposals. We applaud them for exercising leadership in the move to correct the inequities.

The phase-out of the business inventory tax must be accompanied by some type of offset. Alternative sources of revenue must be found for county coffers, or the Governor's economy program must reduce government spending to the point where business inventory tax revenue will not be missed.

Otherwise, the warnings issued by Marin Assessor Bert Broemmel may come to pass: Cutting out the business inventory tax without any compensating offset could mean an added 17 cents on the county tax rate.

TEENAGERS BUILD
$20,000 HOME

A high school class built a modern home—doing all the work from original design to finished product—and sold it for $20,000.

The trades class of a West Plains, Mo., high school completed the project in just two years. The boys designed and laid out the floor plans, did the carpentry and bricklaying, finishing and decorating.

The three-bedroom house has a willow paneled kitchen, a fireplace, indirect lighting and a heated bath-tub.

Asked how it was done, the boys' instructor said: "When you have 25 boys under control and they are interestd in what they are doing, they can do a lot of work."

Young people want to participate in projects that serve a constructive use. Once their desire is aroused and practical steps are offered, the energy the Lord has given them can often work wonders.

Look for ways to bring out and guide the innate powers of young people, particularly in activities that will profit people less advantaged.

School Unification Problems Multiplying For Legislature

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The problems of school unification are multiplying as far as the state legislature is concerned.

They reach into the basic fundamentals of self-government, and appear to hinge on whether or not the state shall dictate the make-up of the various school districts, or whether the people of a given district shall be allowed to say whether or not the district shall exist.

There is no question but many arguments favor unification of school districts, and are valid in their content, especially when they relate to reduction in costs of operation.

BUT THE QUESTION before the legislature is not only one of money, but how to retain the inherent concept of self-government and at the same time insure efficient operation of the schools.

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, has a bill before the legislature which would have material bearing on the requirements of the state for school district unification. It is AB 243, which was heard recently before an assembly sub-committee on education. No action was taken on the bill, as a great many other bills on the same subject are before the two houses.

Ryan's measure is directed to the interests of middle-sized school districts. He declares the unification law now on the books is unfair, and claims it was written for rural districts, rather than heavily populated suburban districts.

BUT ON THE other hand, districts with fewer than 200 pupils in many instances, want their district autonomy maintained.

In fact, a long string of representatives of the smaller districts appeared before the sub-committee and protested the Ryan bill on the grounds it would create many hardships for the smaller, isolated districts.

Ryan pointed out that the assembly committee has more than 14 bills on school unification.

He does not expect that his measure will come out intact, but anticipates an over-all committee bill, which will take care of the needs of some of the surburban districts, and attempt to meet the objections lodged by the smaller districts which wish to retain their autonomy.

ONE OF THE major complaints at the present time is that the state is the virtual dictator of unification requirements, all of which takes away the perogative of the people in operating their own school districts.

The state, of course, is in the picture because of the financial aid it dispenses to all school districts. By and large, the state board of education does reasonably thorough job of approving and disapproving unification plans, as is required under the law.

Thus, the legislature this year is up against a fundamental question. And the question is, how much local autonomy can be arranged, and in what areas, and at the same time, provide for efficient district administration.

Doll Project Leader Says Thanks For Aid

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to thank everyone for their contributions of dolls, materials and cash which were sent to me as a result of the item in the Independent-Journal of Dec. 20 about my project of dressing dolls for underprivileged children at Christmas.

Much of the credit must go to my daughter, Mrs. Betty Grieswell, for helping in a financial way; also locating the dolls for me and buying boys' toys. Credit, too, must go to my niece, Mrs. Edith Crocker, who dressed some dolls. We are all planning a bigger and better Christmas for the foster and other less fortunate children this coming Christmas.

National Policy Hit For Inconsistency

Editor, Independent- Journal:

Never in the history of the United States has the foreign policy of this nation been so guilty of criminal inconsistency. While U.S. soldiers are being drafted and shipped in huge numbers to Vietnam to fight the Communists, the following acts of appeasement (to mention only a few) and accommodation of Communism have taken place in just the past 16 months—all as official government policy:

U.S. troops are sent halfway around the world to defend South Nietnam from the North Vietnam Communists; yet the U.S. government refuses to take any meaningful steps to protect the United States from increasingly aggressive Communist Cuba only 90 miles from our shores.

The Administration in November and December, 1965, enthusiastically cooperated with Socialist Great Britain in imposing an economic blockade against anti-Communist Rhodesia in Southeast Africa; yet refused to order a blockade against Communist Cuba.

After rushing U.S. troops to the Dominican Republic purportedly to prevent a Communist takeover, the U.S. backed down and, according to a statement by Senator Hruska on Nov. 19, 1965: "Known Communists and Communist sympathizers were not only allowed to remain but were appointed as important and high-ranking members of the new regime."

In November, 1965, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that members of the Communist Party, USA, need not register with the U.S. Government as previously required by the Smith Act for protection of our Republic. This ruling negated 15 years of work by the FBI to control subversion in the United States.

The U.S. continues to send billions of U.S. taxpayer dollars in foreign aid to socialist, pro-Communist, and Communist countries and to permit U.S. businessmen to trade with Communist countries.

Those liberty-loving Americans who are now finally revolted by these and other enemy-aiding actions should so inform their Congressional representatives—NOW!

Parent Criticized Over School Issue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Tonight, I feel very sorry for the 11-year-old son of Maurice Erickson.

Not because he got his hands sore from cleaning up a mess he made. He made the mess; he should have had to clean it up. Since when is cleaning up cruel and inhuman? Or, is it cruel and inhuman that as a housewife I sometimes get my hands very sore from scrubbing floors, walls, pots, and pans?

I feel sorry for the 11 year old because he is being taught to be a crybaby. He is being taught that when you get caught, you bellyache. You crucify anyone who dares to punish you for your misdeeds.

Mr. Erickson, you have a son to raise. What will happen to him in future years, because of this action? Will he grow up with the idea in his head that so many teen-agers have today: that whatever they do is right; whatever any Authority says, is wrong? The logical outgrowth of this line of thought is exemplified when a policeman is sued because he dared to use a little force to arrest a thief or a murderer.

Mill Valley Bond Election Questioned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is very difficult to understand the decision of the Mill Valley school board to call a bond election in June for the most expensive and inefficient scheme for developing our schools. The board has chosen to establish a new middle school, which is necessary, but also to do patch-up work on its eight existing schools. These schools serve about 3,000 students with less than 300 in some.

It is a mistake to believe that many small schools necessarily provide better teaching situations than a few larger ones. The excessive duplication of facilities raises the cost of plant and maintenance so that less funds are available for sufficient teachers to make possible close student-teacher relations. Having many small schools also limits money for libraries and special programs, such as those in art, music, foreign languages and remedial work.

This is made especially clear by the present discussion and administrators concerning which existing special programs must be eliminated from next year's curriculum because of insufficient funds. If we cannot afford a curriculum which at present is in need of improvement, how can the school board expect to strengthen education here by maintaining our inefficient and costly accumulation of country school houses?

At present one-third of Mill Valley children ride buses to school. The bond to preserve the eight existing schools would not alter this. Hence, those residents of Mill Valley who cry for neighborhood schools should in all fairness support the building of two or three more to serve these 1000 bussed children. But this would obviously spread thinner the community's limited resources and weaken all our schools.

Clearly, the maximum use of our tax dollar and educational advantage lie in the other direction — toward consolidating our schools. Rather than duplicating facilities, let us employ the $3.5 million bond on the planned middle school and concentrate facilities for the lower grades by phasing out the least efficient schools and enlarging the others. Only by this means can we provide our children with the quality teachers, small classes and special programs they require.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN WOODROW Wilson was campaigning for President in 1912, he made a whistle stop at Hannibal, Mo., and being a great admirer of Mark Twain, slipped away from his entourage to wander for a bit among the boyhood haunts of the famous humorist.

Accosting a native, he asked, "Do you know where Tom Sawyer lived?" "Never heard of him," was the answer.

Wilson made one more try. "How about Pudd'n-head Wilson?" he inquired. The native's face brightened. "I heard of him, all right," he said cheerfully. "In fact, I may even vote for the durn fool."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

What's Being Done About Shrinking State Business?

WASHINGTON — Are the states going out of business?

Isn't state government being washed away by a new political alliance — the federal government and the big cities?

It is, but can't it be stopped?

Three forces are bringing it about:

1. The unwillingness or the inability of the states to meet the mounting problems of urban living — education, transportation, poverty, pollution.

2. The willingness and the ability of the federal government to act as it is doing today in these fields.

3. The tendency of the nation's mayors to keep turning to Washington where they get help instead of turning to their state capitols where they get neglect.

THE END RESULT is that, what the Federalists of 1787 sought but failed to accomplish by force of theory, the Federalists of 1967 are accomplishing by force of events. It was Alexander Hamilton who argued that the states ought to be abolished entirely or at the very least the governors should be appointed by the President.

While the states are not being formally abolished, their functions are being increasingly discharged by the federal government. The tide of federal power has risen so high that, in the judgment of a federal-state advisory commission, state governments "are on the verge of losing control" over the mounting problems of the nation's vast metropolitan areas.

This means, the report concludes, "that if they lose this control, they lose the major responsibility for domestic government in the United States and in turn surrender a vital role in the American federal system."

THIS OMINOUS judgment does not come from officials eager to see the decline of the states but from a commission whose chairman is former Gov. Farris Bryant and whose members include governors and state legislators.

The beginning of any real efforts to arrest and reverse this trend must come from a clear recognition that it has been state neglect of city problems, not federal eagerness to take over, which has thrust the national government so deeply into local affairs.

As the federal government and the cities are growing more closely together, the states are finding themselves more isolated. In very large part this is due to the states' "can't do" attitude toward the cities.

For example, the Advisory Intergovernmental Relations, which I quoted above, says that only 11 states have even gone so far as to establish an office of urban affairs, while only eight states assist cities in the crucial problems of pollution.

If the answer is to be no, it must come soon. John Gardner, the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, believes in a more even distribution of power between federal, state and local government and he is anxious to increase state and local responsibility for programs now financed in large part by Washington.

Former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford is pressing a heroic crusade to modernize and strengthen state governments.

He has galvanized the Carnegie Foundation to help him create an Institute on State Programming for the 70s and is working with the Governors Conference and Council of State Gvoernments and others to lay out what needs to be done to enable the states to save themselves.

IF THE STATES fail to do their part, their demise will be suicide, not murder.

Red Educators Overflowing U.S.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Johnson Administration is replete with contradictions when it comes to financing the activities and foreign travels of educators and students.

While President Johnson has banned the covert financing of these by the Central Intelligence Agency, the State Department is increasing its underwriting of the visits of Communist educators to the U.S.

A STATE DEPARTMENT report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee disclosed that U. S. grants to Soviet bloc educators doubled in the past year as the administration strives to "build bridges to the East."

The report, titled "Exchanges with Soviet Union and Eastern Europe," also reveals that the State Department increased the number of grants to U. S. educators to visit and attend conferences behind the Iron Curtain.

Prepared under the supervision of Boris Klosson, director of the Soviet-Eastern European exchange staff, the document lists more than 70 Communists whose visits here in 1966 were paid for by the department, as compared to 35 in 1965.

COMMUNIST EDUCATORS whose visits were financed by the State Department include:

Poland — J. J. Wiatr, A. Jasinaka-Kanial and K. M. Ostrowski, of the Polish Academy of Sciences, to participate in the Second International Roundtable on Values in Politics, at University of Pennsylvania; Leopold Tyrmand, educator and writer, to give a series of lectures; Stanislaw Marian Zalwski, Warsaw University, for lectures and research at several U. S. universities.

Czechoslovakia — Jiri Krivanek, Academy of Sciences, to visit Washington; Karol Dlouhy, School of Journalism, Bratislava, to lecture; P. Smrz, Institute of Prague, to attend conference of American Physical Society.

Although U. S. authorities have evidence that many of these Iron Curtain educators are involved in the same type of activities as those financed by the CIA, there has been no review to determine whether they should be continued.

DURING THE RECENT presidential review of CIA aid to private education groups, several attempts were made by the CIA to include the State Department grants to Red visitors in the inquiry.

The former attorney general took the position that since the State Department reports regularly to Congress on this matter, there was no need to include it in the inquiry.

Also in discussions at the White House, Katzenbach expressed the opinion that these State Department activities should be expanded "as one of the ways of merging views and increasing cooperation between U. S.-Soviet bloc educators."

San Anselmo Councilmen Using Strange Logic On Saving Cash

San Anselmo Councilmen Robert M. Scott, Woodrow V. Capurro and Arthur W. Smith have some odd ideas on how to save city money.

About 400 San Anselmo residents, on a recent rating of 11 city services, placed the council eighth on the list, and street maintenance 10. But the council trio's plan for saving money, which passed with a 3-2 vote, is to cut the city street crew back one man, with the result that the street crew now has two men less than it had in 1946.

THE SAVINGS to the city is $458, the salary of one maintenance man. That is $292 less than the city will be paying out each month in salaries for councilmen starting in July.

There may, however, be additional savings involved. Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell told the council that if the position was not filled, the street crew would probably not be able to do all the work for which materials are budgeted this year. And if the money isn't spent, it's saved, right?

But this seems, at best, an odd way to reach a decision. The council budgeted the money presumably because the council felt the work need to be done. And if the maintenance man was not needed, then why did the council approve paying him a salary until the position accidentally became vacant?

(Mayor John M. Reichmuth voted to hire the maintenance man and voted against council salaries, but was on the losing side both times.)

A POINT of interest in the maintenance man fiasco was the heat with which Scott and Capurro defended their stands.

Capurro, when Councilman Duane C. Ragan noted that San Anselmo's streets are in "deplorable condition" and the street crew is now smaller than it was in 1946, answered that in 1946 the crew did not include "a street foreman who rode around in a car 8 hours a day."

The interesting thing about Capurro's statement is that he was half out of his chair and shouting.

Later, when Capurro proposed that the city authorize an appraisal of the American Legion Hall, with an eye toward buying it for recreation, Ragan questioned:

"YOU'RE PROPOSING we buy it? A while ago you objected to spending money for an employee, and now you want to buy property?"

Scott sniffed: "Is it difficult for you to follow, Duane?" The same Scott later called William Trewhella "insulting" and "out of order" when Trewhella questioned the maintenance man decision. One might easily conclude, however, that it was Scott who was out of order and insulting.

Another item of interest at the same council session: Those who remember the heat with which residence as a requirement for a city administrator was defended when City Administrator Douglas Flautt lived out of town, probably were not surprised to see how quickly the issue died as soon as the man in question was no longer Flautt.

Not a single councilman felt new City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel's nonresidence would be a problem.

Car Burglars Hit College Parking Lot

Car burglars struck twice Monday at a College of Marin parking lot in Kentfield, making off with auto stereophonic sets and tapes worth $210 total, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

Deputies said the car of Edward F. Gazanno, 23 Knoll Road, San Rafael, was entered by forcing a right ventilator window. His stereophonic set and one tape were taken.

Mrs. Patricia A. McKee, 453 Hickory Lane, Terra Linda, told officers Monday someone cut the canvas sliding top of her locked car parked at home. Stolen from the vehicle was a $200 box of tools, she said.

Donald T. Wood, custodian of Marin County Star Club, 100 Sacramento Street, San Anselmo, reported Monday that intruders pried a window screen for entry to the unoccupied building. Nothing was believed taken, however.

Hans Raven told deputies that burglars entered a feed shed at his dairy farm south of the Marin-Sonoma County line in the Valley Ford area, last Sunday stealing a $300 welding machine.

Intruders also entered an open garage door last Friday of the home of Jack Walsh, 632 Bamboo Terrace, Terra Linda. Taken from a purse in the house was $9.

Jacqueline O'Leary, 843 Rincon Way, Santa Venetia, told officers Sunday that burglars entered an unlocked bedroom, then stole candy, crackers and cookies from the kitchen.

MORRIE RYSKIND

Many Forget That Fiscal Sanity Is Two-Way Street

COMMENTING ON the conservative sweep last November, I wrote, thinking of California particularly:

"We won—but don't expect instant miracles. There's still a long row to hoe. And remember we have no right to ask the government to pull in its belt unless we're prepared to pull in our own. You don't get fiscal sanity just by voting for it—it's a two-way street."

But my warning was written on wind and in water. I just saw a wry line in a note Gov. Ronald Reagan sent a mutual friend: "Life is interesting, even confusing at times."

I knew what he meant. A liberal hates nothing more than a victorious conservative. But that hatred is doubled when the conservative actually tries to make good on his promises — that's the unforgivable crime.

Pat Brown had declared he had left things in excellent financial condition but, alas, the very first audit showed the state was spending a million dollars a day more than it was taking in. And other deficits keep showing up. Medicare is coming to far more than anticipated, and hundreds of druggists and doctors have not been paid in months.

REAGAN'S FIRST appeal was naturally to the educational field, which gets the lion's share of state revenues. He asked the academicians to pull in their belts and suggested tuition fees from those students who could afford it, as is done in almost all of the other states.

But from the howl that went up, you would have thought the last crumb of bread was being taken from the starving. Though California has boasted of its average income, it suddenly developed that practically all our university students came from impoverished families suffering from acute malnutrition.

A local TV broadcaster, George Putnam, revealed the dire need that often exists in the midst of apparent plenty. He took a helicopter over UCLA, where the moaning was loudest, and showed the hundreds — maybe thousands — of student cars parked there. And — as he observed and his audience could see — there were few 1912 Maxwells but plenty of shiny new models there. Perhaps never in history have so many ragamuffins ridden to class in such style. I wept for days.

You all saw — or read of — the pitiful march to Sacramento, where tattered teachers and students alike crawled to protest to the governor. They kept on protesting right through his answer, too.

I MISSED SOME of that but I did hear the local head of a teachers' union cry out that the proposed cut really ran to a frightful 28 per cent. Asked how he got that figure, he explained it readily. The university had asked for 18 per cent more and Reagan offered it 10 per cent less — and 18 and 10 make 28. . . . I take it this wizard specializes in the New Mathematics.

And wherever Reagan has turned, the tactic has been the same. "Get it from somebody else," has been the scream, "but our field is sacred. Cut a penny from us and you destroy civilization!"

Naturally, our liberal radio and TV commentators are not taking this assault upon humanity lightly. Louis Lomax has already accused the governor of opposing education, mental health patients, Negroes, and everything else. He has publicly prayed that Reagan would restore the cuts and at the same time jeered at the higher taxes such a course entails. How else the bills could be paid he has not bothered to explain. Still, he's not governor, so that's hardly his concern.

THERE FLASHED ACROSS my mind as he tore into the governor some old newspaper pictures I came across while doing some research a few years ago. Sometime around the World War I — I cannot state the date with precision — the English pound was falling, and the Prime Minister appealed to his people to pay their taxes in advance in order to weather the crisis.

And there were the pictures of queues, as the citizenry lined up in droves to meet the Prime Minister's call to save the credit of their government. Cockneys in caps and bigwigs in bowlers, conservatives or laborites, they responded as one. Nobody said, "Not me!"

But, of course, there were no California liberals. That's the difference, Governor.

SEA LIONESS SKIPS

Alice, Dear Alice, Please Come Home

Alice! Where art thou?

Paddling up and down San Rafael canal, waving a friendly flipper at the apartments? Or have you — oh shame! — taken off for the ocean and those big boy sea lions!

Eberyone is out looking for you, Alice.

Last night the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol, the entire board of directors of the Louise M. Boyd Museum, and Dr. George Lindsey, director of the Academy of Sciencec, scoured the San Rafael Canal by boat and tramped the banks searching to no avail.

Why did you jump over that four-foot fence surrounding your pond at the museum? Why did you waddle across the footbridge, up Albert Lane, cross Lindaro and plunge into the canal? In the dark, too!

Could it be those vitamin shots the vet gave you yesterday were just too powerful?

Alice, sweet Alice Parsons, come home.

(And if anyone does spot Alice Parsons, a brown sea lion, please call the Louise M. Boyd Museum, 76 Albert Park Lane, San Rafael. She escaped some time last night. A cage, truck, and crew of rescuers are standing by.)

First Draft Card Burner Sent To Jail, Still Defiant

NEW YORK (AP) — David J. Miller, 24, the nation's first draft card burner, was sent to jail today for still refusing to get a new draft card.

Miller sat down on the courtroom floor when Federal Judge Harold R. Tyler sentenced him to two-and-one-half years as a violator of probation.

"I will sit down, because I want to show you it's against my will," said Miller. Marshals grabbed his arms and legs and carried him to an elevator.

Judge Tyler had found Miller guilty on March 15, 1966 of burning his draft card. He had sentenced him to three years in prison, but suspended it on condition he get a new draft card within 15 days. The conviction was upheld by appeals court and the Supreme Court refused to review it.

Radar Trap Nets Illegal Drugs

Police arrested Douglas A. Hansen, 18, Santa Cruz, after he was stopped for speeding yesterday. They said a routine search of his car disclosed a suitcase full of LSD, marijuana, suspected methedrine and other drugs.

Hansen was held in lieu of $6,600 bail.

Meredith Talk At U.C. Draws Mixed Reaction

BERKELEY (UPI) — James Meredith, who recently changed his mind about running against Adam Clayton Powell for Harlem's congressional seat, received a mixed reaction yesterday during a speech to about 1,500 students at the University of California.

Meredith said the nation's racial problems "could be solved almost overnight if the generals of society would give the order." He said Negroes should "work together for political gains" and seek ways of gaining economic power.

He described civil rights activist Stokely Carmichael as a "25-year-old man who is trying to dodge the draft."

Bombing Plot Is Shunned By Humphrey

BERLIN (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today ignored what police called a bomb plot against his life and carried out his scheduled program under a strong security guard.

There were no major incidents but five student organizations called a major demonstration today against American policy in Vietnam and against Humphrey.

Humphrey was cheered by thousands of Berliners as he drove from the airport to City Hall. At City Hall he defended U.S. policies in Vietnam and likened the strong stand there with the strong stand that saved West Berlin.

He said of all people Berliners should realize the value of friends and allies standing by their commitments.

Humphrey read a personal message from President Johnson in which the President expressed the conviction Germany one day would be reunited.

Humphrey recalled that when Johnson visited Berlin as Vice President on Aug. 20, 1961, one week after the Berlin Wall was built, Johnson gave a pledge of American support.

"I renew that pledge," Humphrey said.

Hardcastle Backs Aid To Commuters

Marin Transit District Board last night unanimously endorsed using Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District funds to help improve Marin-San Francisco commute bus service, and voted 5-1 in favor of a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge.

County Supervisor John F. McInnis was absent.

CALLED MILESTONE

The unanimous vote directing that a resolution be prepared endorsing bridge district help in underwriting improved bus service was greeted with approval by Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, a member of the bridge district board. He called it a milestone, and declared, "I think this is all we need."

The Tri-Partite Transit Committee, composed of representatives of Marin and San Francisco supervisors and the bridge board, has endorsed the idea of improving bus service by buying buses to be added to the Greyhound commute fleet or operated by the bridge and transit districts.

NOT ACTED UPON

A resolution introduced in the San Francisco Board of Supervisors in February, but never yet acted upon, endorsed use of bridge district funds "to supplement funds raised through Marin County taxes for the improvement of inter-county bus service." However, it specified that "in the absence of any further commitment by this board, financial assistance from the City and County of San Francisco will not now be expected."

Despite this reservation on San Francisco financial assistance, Hardcastle declared that because both San Francisco and Marin apparently are convinced that improved bus service is the answer to the commute problem, "we're going to have a substantial amount of money . . . to get those buses rolling."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss felt it would be important to get San Francisco to share the cost. "It's a three-way deal, San Francisco, Marin County and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District," he said.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr warned, however, that if Marin "reaches out" for money from San Francisco, it may jeopardize that county's good will.

'RATHER CLEAR'

"I think it's rather clear" that San Francisco does not want to contribute money," commented chairman Thomas T. Storer.

The second deck proposal, introduced by Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, passed with opposition of Storer, who said he did not want to rule out possible installation of an underwater tube connecting San Francisco and Marin.

Behr insisted on qualifying Kettenhofen's motion to provide that a second deck was endorsed only if study of a mass transit system shows it is feasible. He said sending more cars into San Francisco may be doing the city a disservice.

The transit board also agreed that a transit engineer — probably full-time — must be hired. Kettenhofen warned against haste, however. He said Sonoma and Napa counties pro-

Unruh Opposes Rumford Repeal Try

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, said today he's always had grave doubts about the Rumford open housing act but to repeal it now "would be just another kick in the pants" to minority groups.

"I have some reluctance at this point to voting for a repealer," Unruh said at a news conference with Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno. Burns is the author of a repeal bill approved by a Senate committee Wednesday. (See story, page 25.)

Unruh declined to speculate on what would happen to the repeal bill if it should pass the Senate and go to the Assembly.

The Senate Government Efficiency Committee approved the bill yesterday after Burns took over authorship from Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, a member of the John Birch Society. The bill also was amended to retain the Fair Employment Practices Commission in its present form.

Burns said his taking over sponsorship is "related purely to the question of whether we as representatives of the people should carry out the people's will, and I for one think we should."

He forecast Senate passage of the repeal bill.

The Rumford act was passed in 1963, but was nullified by Prop. 14, approved by the voters in 1964. The State Supreme Court later overruled the proposition and upheld the Rumford act. The issue now is before the U.S. Supreme Court. The act bans discrimination in much of California housing, and gives the Fair Employment Practices Commission the power to investigate complaints.

Burns said the Rumford act was the final straw that led to the Democrats' defeat in the 1966 election.

"They resented this being crammed down their throats and they in turn crammed Prop. 14 down our throats and said 'there, see how you like it'."

On other subjects, Unruh:

Declined to comment on a San Francisco grand jury's recommendation that the legislature take steps to remove Assemblyman Charles W. Meyers, D-San Francisco for alledged irregularities involving state funds.

Unruh said, "We feel we have an obligation to run an honest and efficient shop here and whatever we do, that will be the end product." He denied a report that he was urging Meyers to resign from the Assembly.

Said he had no knowledge of a report that a federal grand jury in Sacramento was investigating a prostitution ring possibly involving one or more legislators. "I'd be mighty surprised" if that was the case, Unruh said.

On Gov. Ronald Reagan's first 100 days in office, said he thought Reagan had gone through a learning process and the result is evident "of our having a rather fruitful and not too discordant session."

California Is Smut Seedbed For Nation, Lynch Declares

Asks Laws To Close Loophole

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California has become the nation's leading source of obscenity — from "nudie" magazines aimed at teenagers to mail order sexual devices—Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch said today.

There is a distinct and immediate demand for legal action against the smut dealers, Lynch told the legislature in a 107-page report on how the state's obscenity industry works.

Lynch said he would testify at a Senate hearing today for bills to fill a legal gap regarding what is obscene and what isn't, and to keep obscene material from falling into the hands of children. The measures have the backing of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

LOS ANGELES CITED

Los Angeles in particular is the production and distribution center for such matter, Lynch said. He called it the undisputed king of the "girlie" and "nudie" magazines.

Law officers trying to attack the problem are confronted with a confusing legal gap between the scope and intent of recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions and interpretation of California law by state courts, Lynch said.

At issue, he added, is whether California law should apply only to hard - core pornography, as state courts have ruled, or if it should also cover some obscenity, a path cleared by U.S. Supreme Court rulings.

FIRST AMENDMENT

Lynch said he is aware of opposition to the bills by those who believe they may violate the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, guaranteeing freedom of speech.

But Lynch said the U.S. Supreme Court has found the First Amendment does not protect pandering in publication.

"I also am aware that opposition comes from those who march . . . under the flag of the green dollar. This is a very big business, as our report shows, but I see no reason why it should be protected by society and government."

Lynch said the California-based obscenity industry grosses an estimated $19 million a year. No one knows the retail value, he said.

More Rain Due Through Tomorrow

A persistent heavy downpour dumped from one to two inches of rain on Marin County up to 8 a.m. today.

Ross was the worst hit with 2.6 inches by 8 a.m. San Rafael had 1.23 inches, by noon, bringing the total so far in the city to 51.82 inches. Seasonal average is 33.17 inches.

The Weather Bureau predicted the storm clouds will bring more rain to the area through tomorrow.

Other Marin rainfall figures up to 8 a.m. today were: Woodacre 1.91, San Anselmo 1.9, Manor Hill, Fairfax 1.8, Tamalpais Valley 1.65, Mill Valley 1.49, Sausalito and Larkspur 1.45, Terra Linda and Larkspur (Chevy Chase) 1.4, Belvedere 1.29, Hamilton Air Force Base 1.26, Novato 1.25, Bolinas .94.

The rain slowed commuter traffic in city areas and caused mudslides in some places. A slide blocked much of Junipero Serra Boulevard in South San Francisco. There were no reports of mudslides in Marin County.

Turks To Vietnam Rumor Disclaimed

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Long Island Star-Journal reported today 1,500 Turkish fighting men will be sent to join U.S. troops in Vietnam within 30 days, but the Turkish embassy in Washington said the report was "absolute nonsense."

There was not immediate comment from the State Department, but officials there indicated privately they did not believe the report.

Reds Free Prisoners In Coast Attack, Span 'Freedom Bridge'

SAIGON (UPI) — A force of North Vietnamese troops crossed a bridge into South Vietnam today in a border penetration that coincided with a major Communist assault on the coastal city of Quang Tra 15 miles to the south.

U. S. artillery guarding the frontier opened up on the bridge —the "Freedom Bridge" where war prisoners have been exchanged in the past and which South Vietnamese leaders earlier this week proposed as a site for North-South peace talks.

At the same time a force of 1,200 Communists launched a series of coordinated attacks around the provincial capital of Quang Tri, killing or wounding 250 Vietnamese soldiers and some Americans and freeing 250 Communist political prisoners.

A military spokesman said eight U.S. Marines were killed in the Quang Tri fighting and that the Communists left 90 bodies behind when they withdrew later.

The guerrillas also raided the jail in the center of Quang Tri, shot the guards to death and released the 250 prisoners, who were mostly Communist political cadremen.

The targets struck three American installations—the military advisory office compound housing U.S. advisers, the U.S. Aid For International Development (AID) compound and a small airfield.

Hardest hit were the jail and

Nationwide Trucking Walkout Is Imminent

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A nationwide Teamsters strike was imminent today though negotiators worked to break the deadlock between the powerful union and major U.S. truckers.

The government made it clear it would move immediately to halt any strike under the Taft-Hartley Act.

Negotiations broke up late last night after an apparently fruitless session. William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation Service, asked both sides to return to the bargaining table today.

But there was increasing concern that having secured overwhelming rank and file authorization to strike, the Teamsters leadership may have trouble keeping their 500,000 members on the job while negotiations continue.

"Any interruption of transportation would seriously affect the national economy, the defense effort, and the welfare of the communities involved." Simkin said.

Union negotiators said that if they decided to strike, they would hit only certain carriers to avoid government intervention under the Taft-Hartley Act.

But Trucking Employers Inc., (TEI), an association representing 1,500 of the country's largest trucking firms including all coast-to-coast carriers, warned that any selective strike would be met with a shutdown of all TEI operations—a move that would almost certainly bring federal intervention.

Gunfight Clash In Neutral Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — U.N. and North Korean observers made a joint four-hour investigation today of an armistice line area where U.S. soldiers and North Koreans clashed yesterday in one of the most serious gunfights since the 1953 Korean armistice.

The U.N. command said the North Koreans claimed four of their men were killed and two were wounded. But the North Korean Central News Agency said five North Koreans were killed and a sixth wounded.

Before the investigation, the U.N. command had reported three North Koreans killed. There were no U.S. casualties.

A U.N. command statement said the North Korean observers were shown the bodies of two North Koreans killed on the south side of the armistice line and that these bodies were turned over to the Communists.

North Korea's Central News Agency said the North Koreans were civil policemen on "routine duty" in the north portion of the demilitarized zone 1.2 miles east of Panmunjom.

The U.N. command said the North Koreans crossed the armistice line into the U.N. portion of the demilitarized zone, and after the American guards spotted them there was an exchange of fire "including fire from North Korean concealed positions across the military demarcation line," which divides the demilitarized zone.

Cong Turncoats Act As Paid U.S. Scouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is hiring former Communist soldiers to help American troops locate Viet Cong guerrillas and their hideouts in South Vietnam, Pentagon sources report.

This new intelligence program was launched early this year in extreme northern areas of the country near the demilitarized zone. The repatriated enemy troops are called Kit Carson scouts.

They lead Marine patrols into the countryside to identify Communist guerrillas — usually indistinguishable from the friendly populace among whom they live—and locate enemy tunnels, arms and ammunition.

Sixty scouts, most of them former Viet Cong who were trained in North Vietnam and thus are intimate with enemy operations, are on the U.S. payroll.

For their hazardous turncoat assignment the scouts draw $40 a month, more than a South Vietnamese private gets. Because they are prime targets for assassination, the scouts live with the Marines.

The one-time Communists are screened long and hard before being allowed to lead American men, who could be vulnerable to ambushes.

Latin Session Draws Noisy Red Protest

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Acting on orders from Havana, the Uruguayan Communists are waging a noisy propaganda campaign against President Johnson and his summit conference with Latin-American leaders next week.

Tight security measures are expected to restrict the Red activity to a lot of shouting well away from the conference April 12-14 at the coastal resort of Punta del Este.

The Communists plan a 90-mile mass march from Montevideo to Punta del Este and a 24-hour general strike April 12, but informed sources said their chances of disrupting the conference are virtually nil.

Interior Minister Augusto Legnani said the march was authorized with the proviso that participants disband before reaching Punta del Este. If they try to enter the resort, police will stop them, officials said.

Uruguay's small but well organized Communist party is legal but has joined with other minor leftist groups in a pro-Castro front known as Fidel from its Spanish name — Frente Izquierda de Liberacion (Leftist Liberation Front).

The Communists dominate half of Uruguay's unions, however, including the 200,000-member National Convention of Workers, and they control the powerful Federation of University Students.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A proposal to move the University of California's downtown medical school to the U.C. campus at Irvine, in Orange County, has the approval of the medical school trustees.

The announcement yesterday noted that the action is still subject to ratification by the University of California Board of Regents.

Violin Master Mischa Elman Dies At 76

NEW YORK (UPI) —Violin virtuoso Mischa Elman died yesterday and in his passing took with him the great rich, romantic tone once described by Carl Sandburg as "a singing fire and a climb of roses."

Elman, 76, died of a heart attack in his duplex apartment on Central Park West. Mrs. Elman was in an upstairs bedroom of the apartment recuperating from a foot fracture when her husband collapsed.

Elman thrilled thousands upon thousands of audiences throughout the world with his warm, sensous tones and the pure sound of his Stradivarius. Sandburg's accolade was in a poem written after he heard Elman play in Chicago 50 years ago.

His career dated back to Oct. 14, 1904, when at the age of 13 he made his debut in Berlin.

Born in Talnoye in the Ukraine, Jan. 20, 1891, Elman came naturally to the violin. His grandfather was a concert violinist and his father a teacher of religion, also played the violin.

Powell's Right To Run Upheld

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell's right to run Tuesday for re-election to the House seat that his colleagues denied him was upheld yesterday by the appellate division of the State Supreme Court.

The five-man panel denied the appeal of a lower court decision against a suit which had challenged Powell's right to run on the grounds that the House resolution which excluded him would also prevent him from returning for the rest of the 90th Congress.

U. S. ENTERING WAR WORLD WAR I

That Day 50 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty years ago today the United States entered World War I — called the Great War until a greater one came along — and stepped toward a role in world leadership.

On that day, Lyndon B. Johnson was an 8-year-old in a Texas hamlet.

Robert F. Kennedy was not born until some eight years later.

But there is one man who was in Congress when war was declared April 6, 1917, who is still there — Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz. He'll be 90 next fall.

STARTED IN HOUSE

Hayden came to the House in 1912 on admission of Arizona as a state. He served there until elected to the Senate in 1926.

In a war anniversary interview, Hayden recalled long hours of debate before the House passed the war resolution 373 to 50 in the early morning hours of April 6.

But of all that was said, Hayden related, "I remember most distinctly the remarks of Jeannette Rankin, the lady from Montana."

Miss Rankin, a Republican, and the first woman elected to the House, did not respond until her name had been called four times on the roll call. Then, close to tears, she stood and said, "I want to stand by my country, but I cannot vote for war. I vote no."

Hayden said when he voted for the war declaration he was expressing the overwhelming view of his constituents.

GERMAN PROPOSAL

One incident that moved the United States toward war was disclosure of a reported German proposal to Mexico that it, Germany and Japan join in a war against the United States. Mexico, it was suggssted, would get the states of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

Hayden related that with the declaration of war he and a number of his House colleagues began to talk about volunteering.

FOUR ENLIST

"By the middle of 1918, when this ban had kind of been forgotten, four of us went down and enlisted and served until after the armistice."

He named the other three as retired Judge Marvin Jones of the U. S. Court of Claims, then a Texas representative; another Texan, the late Sen. Tom Connally, then in the House, and the late Albert Johnson, a representative from Washington.

Hayden, a captain in the Arizona National Guard, was made a major and was commanding an infantry battalion at Fort Lewis, Wash., when discharged.

Chronologically, the steps in the declaration of war were these:

April 2—Wilson, addressing a night joint Senate-House session, asked for the declaration. It was then that he said "the world must be made safe for democracy," the line most remembered from that address.

More prophetically, he also said: "Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its people. We have seen the last of neutrality in such circumstances."

April 3—Sen. Robert M. La-Follette, R-Wis., by the technicality of invoking Senate rules and refusing unanimous consent, temporarily blocked Senate consideration of the resolution.

April 4 — The Senate debated the resolution for 13 hours and at 11 p.m. passed it 82 to 6.

April 5 — The House began consideration of the resolution.

April 6 — After 18 hours of debate, the House passed it. Newspapers of the day variously report the time as 3:12 a.m. and 3:15 a.m. At 1:18 p.m., Wilson signed it.

One account is that Wilson's action was signaled by semaphore from a White House window to the Navy Department, then relayed to ships at sea.

Among the first U. S. actions were seizures of 91 German ships interned in American ports and the arrest of dozens of suspected German spies.

The United States sent two million men "Over There" and one was a 21-year-old from Pekin, Ill., named Everett McKinley Dirksen, now the Senate Republican leader.

As in every war, there were boys who fudged about their age to get into service. In 1917, a tough kid named Mike Mansfield managed to get into the Navy at 14. He later did time with the Marines and the Army.

Now a senator from Montana, Mansfield is leader of the Senate Democrats.

There are numerous other World War I veterans in Congress, but the majority of the present Congress is too young to have known that war.

The Germans believed that if their U-boats strangled supplies, the French and British on the Western Front could be defeated before America could exert any important force in France.

The Germans miscalculated. The French and British proved tougher than they expected; the Americans got there faster.

The late Gen. Peyton C. March, a wartime Army chief of staff, once told a reporter years later that in his view the greatest U.S. achievement of the war was the movement of two million men to France as quickly as was done.

He recalled that some men moved in old ships with three-tier bunks improvised from 2 by 4s with chicken wire netting for the men to lie on. Three men were loaded for each bunk and each allotted eight hours of bunk time. The bunks were used around the clock.

If it was indeed a race with time, it was won.

Tempers Flare In Murder Trial

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — Tempers are beginning to flare in the murder trial of Dr. Carl A. Coppolino, who appears to be one of the most relaxed persons in the courtroom.

State attorney Frank Schaub and chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey engaged in heated exchanges Wednesday during the third day of jury selection.

Forty-one prospective jurors had been dismissed through Wednesday, 22 because they said they could not return a death penalty.

Coppolino, charged with killing his first wife 40 days before he honeymooned with his second wife, sat smiling and composed throughout Wednesday's session.

If Mount Everest were submerged in the deepest part of the ocean, more than a mile of water would cover it.

Johnson Holding On Surtax Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration appears quietly to be backing away from a July 1 effective date for its proposed 6 per cent surtax on most income taxes.

But the surtax itself, key officials insisted today, is still very much alive and will be needed during the second half of the year to help stem inflation in what they predict will be an expanding economy.

TIMING CRITICAL

The critical question now is in the timing.

Although the July 1 effective date is still considered a possibility by the administration — "It's still in the ballpark," one analyst said — the chances reportedly are good that it might eventually be abandoned officially.

Reasons are the opposition in Congress to the surtax itself and the current sluggishness in the economy, which is deeper than government economists anticipated in January when the surtax was proposed.

Officials want the latest economic figures in hand when they approach Congress later this spring with their formal surtax proposal.

By June, when the House Ways and Means Committee has indicated it will hold hearings on the surtax, government economists hope they will have the economic facts to support their plan.

But the general coolness of effective date — Sept. 1 or Oct. 1 for example.

Administration sources said a decision on details for the surtax — and exactly when it might become effective — won't be made for at least another month.

By that time all the first-quarter figures will be available, as will preliminary estimates for April. This should also give some indication of possible later trends in the economy.

UPTURN HOPES

Some government experts hope, however, that the beginnings of an upturn might be reflected in statistics yet to be published for March and April.

But the Gross National Product — the value of all goods and services produced in the economy — is expected to show one of its smallest advances in recent years for the first three months of 1967, a factor which could reinforce opposition to the surtax.

Slate For Lions Club Unopposed

Election of the full slate is expected at next Wednesday's noon meeting in the absence of rival nominations from the floor.

Prospective new officers named were: Charles L. Convis, president; Fred B. Saccone, first vice president; Howard A. Levenson, second vice president; George Klein, third vice president; Clifford S. Lund, lion tamer; Donald C. Barksdale, tail twister; Arthur C. Latno, treasurer; Robert J. Brusatori, secretary.

Nominated as directors were Andrew Pedroli and Robert Pawlo.

Theft of jewelry worth $450 was reported Tuesday to Sausalito Police by Lida B. Schneider, 1 Alexander Avenue. The theft occured sometime during the morning, she said, while her apartment was unoccupied. A lock was forced.

AND LOS ANGELES?

They Like It In Bay Area, San Diego, Poll Reveals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Poll revealed Wednesday that San Diego residents are among the state's happiest, San Franciscans are not far behind—and Los Angeles leaves something to be desired.

The poll said 85 per cent of the persons intereviewed in San Diego said they enjoy being right where they are. Seventy-nine per cent of those residing in the San Francisco Bay Area rated their section of California as the best place to live.

The Central Valley was favored by 71 per cent of its residents, while Los Angeles drew the praise of only 69 per cent of the people in that area.

Most native Californians were firmly convinced of the state's superiority, but people born elsewhere were less enthusiastic.

Eleven per cent of California's residents rated the state as only an average or poor place to live. They blamed overcrowding, high cost of living, smog, high taxes, heavy traffic and unfriendly people, in that order.

'Pinnochio' Due At Reed Schools

Youngsters in kindergarten through sixth grade in the Reed School District will see performances of "Pinnochio" by the San Francisco Players Guild next Monday at Bel Aire School and Tuesdy at Reed School, during morning and afternnon assembly periods.

Del Mar School principal Robert B. Gaw said pupils will be bused from Granada School to the Bel Aire performances Monday, and from Belvedere and Tiburon schools to Reed School Tuesday.

Gaw said the play is part of the district's cultural series, allowing the children to witness "live" performances by professional actors.

Taxing Agencies Warned To Save Against Appeals

Under the new rules for assessment role appeals, all taxing agencies in Marin County will be well advised to budget reserves to cover property assessment adjustment, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell warned today.

Under the old rules, assessment appeals before the county board of equaliziation were completed prior to the third Monday in August when the county assessment role is fixed. Under the new rules, however, there is no time limit on appeal hearings, which could conveivably continue through the year, meaning that taxing agencies might have to refund a portion of taxes in some cases, Mitchell said.

He will recommend that county supervisors allow for .25 of one per cent reduction in the assessment role. Small districts may have to allow a larger cushion since a change in a large parcel or two within a district could mean a larger percentage reduction.

Bill Paying In Extortion Trial Related

A Berkeley builder today testified in Marin Superior Court that he once paid any and all bills charged by Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, of Ross.

"Why would a man do that unless he is under a threat?" he added.

The testimony came during cross-examination of Joseph M. Walker, owner of Walker-Built Homes Inc., in the jury trial of Mrs. Fritz on three counts of extortion and a fourth on attempted extortion.

Walker, who has accused Mrs. Fritz of obtaining over $138,000 from him during a near 10-year period to keep their intimacies a secret from his wife and business associates, was the prosecution's first witness in the trial which began Tuesday before Judge Peter Allen Smith, sitting in the higher court.

Cross-examination by the defense attorney, W. O. Weissich, began yesterday afternoon and centered around letters and notes exchanged between Walker and Mrs. Fritz.

Walker, who testified the intimacies ended in 1962, said it was in 1961 that he started paying the bills. Last money he sent her under her extortion threats, he testified, was in February of 1966.

may well be the most profitable. It is certainly the most objectionable from the stand-point of complaints because it invades the home."

"California, and more particularly the Los Angeles area, is the undisputed capital of the sex - oriented mail order business. More than 100 firms are known to operate from Southern California, offering in their direct mail solicitations everything from photos to bizarre coital contrivances," the report said.

Lynch proposed the legislature urge Congress to regulate mail order list brokers, who peddle names and addresses of unwary prospective customers to the smut purveyors.

"California law enforcement agencies have been swamped regularly with complaints from small towns in the midwestern United States which have been inundated with sex - oriented mailings addressed solely to the children of these towns and bearing the postmarks of Los Angeles or its suburbs."

The report, available only to the press, legislators and other officials, reproduces in one two-page spread the covers of 32 "nudie" magazines.

Also illustrated are book covers and advertisements for sexual devices.

Lynch said an edited version of the report probably will be made available to the public later.

Humphrey. The students charged the police "fabricated the bomb plot to suppress demonstrations against Vietnam and Humphrey.

About 3,000 persons cheered Humphrey as he arrived at city hall on John F. Kennedy Platz but there were a few whistles—a sign of hostility in Germany—and one man cried out "war criminal." The shouter was booed by his neighbors and told to keep quiet.

Humphrey, traveling with his wife Muriel, looked at ease as he stepped out of their plane at Tempelhof Airfield. He appeared unworried by a police announcement they had uncovered a plot against his "life or health" and had arrested 11 persons, mostly left-wing students.

Humphrey's 14-day tour of American allies in Europe has been marked by frequent demonstrations by left-wing youths against the war in Vietnam. Incidents have included paint and egg throwing and chants of "Humphrey, murderer."

two Vietnamese base areas where North Vietnamese and main force Communists penetrated the defense perimeters before being hurled back.

American artillerymen guarding the border fired 15 to 20 rounds into the bridge area, shattering the across-the-border assault, but it was not known immediately whether the bridge itself was destroyed.

Freedom Bridge, or Victory Bridge as it is sometimes called, is a tiny span across the Ben Hai River and connects North and South Vietnam. Normally it is a peaceful area.

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said he believed this was the first time the Communists have attacked across the bridge in this war.

The attacks in the Quang Tri sector coincided with a 10-hour wave of terror attacks extending from the Saigon area to the Demilitarized Zone itself. Some of the attacks backfired and at least 55 guerrilla bodies were counted; others were believed killed by airstrikes.

But the Communists, trying to disrupt another round of local elections next Sunday, left a number of men, women and children dead or maimed. The Communists also struck with mortar barrages against U.S. troops near the Cambodian border and wounded 41 in two attacks.

Allied spokesmen reported American troops lost 194 killed in battle last week and 1,679 wounded, reflecting the fighting in War Zone C where outnumbered U.S. troops twice inflicted major defeats on the Communists. The Viet Cong death toll for the week was put at 2,373, a drop from the record 2,783 of the week before.

The deaths were 80 less than the number of Americans killed the previous week, but the wounded rose sharply from 1,320.

Mobile Chest X-Ray Unit Kept Busy

The mobile chest X-ray unit was kept busy yesterday as 454 people who had reacted positively to tuberculosis skin tests given in Novato Sunday stood in line at the Novato Community House until long after dark.

Or the more than 7,000 who were tested Sunday, 747 reported to the community house for a reading of the test, according to the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association, which conducted the tests.

Of these, 275 were declared negative. Another 18 had to be retested. These tests will be read from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Novato Community House.

Giant Pearl To Be Shown

A giant pearl owned by Wilburn D. Cobb of San Francisco, a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison, will be displayed at the World of Gems show April 15 and 16 in Hotel Claremont in Berkeley.

Said by Cobb to be worth $3.5 million, the pearl weighs 14 pounds and measures nine and one-half inches long and five and one-half inches in diameter.

Cobb said the gem was given him by an aged Mohammedan chief in the Philippine Islands in 1934 during an archeology expedition. The pearl has been on exhibition several times since then, in New York and Beverley Hills.

Windows At Catholic Schools Are Broken

Rev. Edward M. Dullea, principal of the school at 675 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, told deputies the damage involved six classrooms.

$280 Million Rapid Transit Cost Argued

A rapid transit system from Ignacio to San Francisco and including a tube beneath the bay would cost about $280 million if built by 1972, County Traffic Engineer James B. Robertson told the Marin Transit District board last night.

Robertson said he based his estimate on an approximate 25 per cent increase over 1961 Bay Area Rapid Transit District figures.

He said a mostly overland railroad — roughly paralleling the Northwestern Pacific Railroad line — could be constructed from Ignacio to Sausalito for $110 million.

A tube from a point near Sausalito to the end of Van Ness Avenue in San Francisco would cost some $170 million, he said.

Construction of such a project by 1972 is unlikely, however, he added, "so we would have to envision" a cost higher than $280 million.

Chairman Thomas T. Storer declared, "I wouldn't have been surprised if these figures had been doubled."

Thomas D. Hardcastle, member of Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board attending the meeting, scoffed at the estimate. He cited strong currents of the bay and estimated it would require $500 million for the project.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen agreed that the $280 estimate appeared low. "It seems there is something lacking," he said.

bably will become "partners" in any transit system and should "help pick up the tab."

Board member Edward W. Colthurst, Corte Madera mayor, said he also wants to have a job description for the post. The board instructed County Administrator Alan Bruce to prepare information on job description and salary range and present it at the next board meeting at 8 p.m. May 3.

A financial report on the current fiscal year disclosed the district spent $61,516, and should have a balance at the year's end of $158,821.63. Bruce pointed out that $120,416 was raised through a five-cent property tax rate approved last year.

The board unanimously agreed the same rate should be levied for the 1968 fiscal year.

Late Office Hours For Tax Payments

With $16.8 million still to be received in county property taxes by the deadline at 5 p.m. Monday, the Marin County treasurer-tax collector's office at the Civic Center will be busy with office hours extended to 9 p.m. today and tomorrow.

Late payments, not paid by 5 p.m. or postmarked prior to midnight Monday, will be subject to 6 per cent penalty plus a $3 publication charge for each parcel.

FOOD for THOUGHT.

More than a billion people—over one-half of the earth's population—live mainly on RICE. It is estimated that a plot of land put to rice will support five times as many people as the same piece of land set to the raising of any other food. A "meat-eater" would starve on the same acreage from which several large families can live in the rice growing countries.

Historically, rice became the symbol of fertility and prosperity. Today in India, it is still part of the wedding ceremony to give the newly-wedded pair a gift of rice powder. In Japan, rice cakes are given to insure a prosperous and fertile married life. Even in the west, you will find a stylized version of this in front on many a church on a Sunday afternoon.

Judge Frees Woman Held By Error

A Los Angeles woman arrested on suspicion of aborting a girl who died after a September operation in Sausalito was released yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth after two witnesses said she was not the suspect being sought.

"A pretty rare coincidence," said Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins, led to arrest of the woman, Bessie Lee Luke, 32. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested her Friday in Los Angeles.

The name, age, height, weight and general physical description of Miss Luke match those of the woman being sought on the abortion charge, Kreins said. The suspect also is known as Bessie Milos and Bessie Floyd.

The suspect and a companion, John Francis Milos, 26, both formerly of 1617 Bridgeway, are charged with aborting a 24-year-old Petaluma woman last Sept. 24, in Sausalito. Bail for each is $28,075.

World War I Air Squad Gets Together

World War I will be relived in memory a half a century after it started when members of the 135th Aero Squadron have a luncheon tomorrow and tour Hamilton Air Force Base.

Following the luncheon at the officers club, the 18 members attending—out of 24 surviving—will tour North American Air Defense Command headquarters at Hamilton. On the flight line, they will inspect a supersonic fighter plane.

The reunion started today at the Marines Memorial Club in San Francisco, exactly 50 years since the United States entered the war.

The 135th was the only United States squadron at the front in World War I equipped with American-made airplanes and engines, De Haviland 4-S with Liberty engines.

Birg. Gen. George L. Usher, who once commanded Hamilton Air Force Base and now lives in Santa Rosa, will be among those attending.

Plans Talks Set On Civil Defense

Tomas Larke Jr., chairman of the Marin emergency disaster plan, has called a meeting for 2 p.m. next Wednesday at the Civic Center to make any changes necessary to update the plan.

Dr. William Klemme, chairman of the disaster committee of the Marin Medical Society, will attend. Officials of hospitals and clinics have been invited.

The plan, formulated under auspices of the county civil defense and disaster office several years ago, lists where bed space would be available and means of transporting victims from a disaster area.

41 YEARS A TEACHER

Charles Doll Likes Whistling At Youth

Charles Doll of Mill Valley, who plans to retire in June after 41 years' teaching, hopes to spend his leisure time close to the pool.

But he will carry a whistle instead of sun tan lotion.

Doll, who will be 65 in June, is vice president of the local district of the Amateur Athletic Union and referees swim meets for youth in Marin nearly every Saturday. He plans to continue this work after he retires as an industrial arts teacher in the Tamalpais High School District.

"It's my form of relaxation," he said yesterday. "These kids are the greatest in the world and you don't find better sportsmanship than in swimming."

Doll, now teaching industrial arts at Redwood High School, said he joined the AAU in 1949 and became interested in refereeing swim meets after a daughter, Susan, now a business education teacher at Terra Linda High School, set several American records while competing for the Santa Clara Swim Club.

He has taught for 22 years in the Tamalpais district, spending time in each of the district's three high schools.

He was born in Kansas, and started teaching in Klamath Falls, Ore., in 1926. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Kansas State College in 1928, finishing work for his degree by attending summer sessions.

He has taken graduate work at San Francisco State College, University of California at Los Angeles, and University of Oregon.

He taught in Sutter County from 1938 to 1944, when he came to the Tamalpais district. He taught industrial arts, wood and metal shop, mechanical drawing, and architectural drawing at Tamalpais High School from 1944 to 1951, at Sir Francis Drake High School from 1951 to 1965, and since then at Redwood High School.

In the 1958-59 school year he taught in U.S. Army schools in Karlsruhe, Germany, and managed 15,000 miles of touring during that year. He and his family visited Italy, Austria, France, Holland, Belgium (including the World's Fair at Brussels) and England.

He and his wife, Alice, live at 195 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley. Their oldest daughter, Marilyn, is the wife of Col. John Rankin, post commander of Fort Douglas, Utah.

Foundation Gets Nature Club Funds

The College of Marin Foundation is a little richer and the county is one club poorer with the dissolution of Marin Nature Group, announced after the group's March meeting.

The group voted to contribute its remaining money, $258.15, to the foundation, which provides loan and scholarship funds for students. The nature group suggested the recipient of the money, if possible, be a student in antural sciences.

The contribution was in honor of Dr. Paul T. Wilson, head of the college's natural science department for many years.

A poll of the group's members produced a 30-1 vote in favor of disbanding, secretary Myrtle D. Ensign reported.

Marin Nature Group held monthly field trips to all parts of Marin, often accompanied by botanists, entomologists or other scientists.

Anxious Cub Worries Over Fate Of Speedy Model Car

By PAT (MOTHER) PERRY

The results of Marin Council of Boy Scouts Scoutarama Pinewood Derby in June probably won't be listed in the Times or Manchester Guardian, but there will be one Cub Scout in England waiting anxiously for the results.

Winner of Pack 27 Pinewood Derby at Hamilton Air Force Base last week, Christopher Perry is eligible to represent the 60 Hamilton Cubs in the county-wide model car race.

But he's moving to England next week, where his Air Force father has been transferred.

So the Silver Streak, the winning car, will be left with a proxy to race in the derby, and Christopher, a fourth grader at Hamilton School, will leave some of his savings to pay for a cablegram telling him the race results.

Cubs build the pinewood cars from a simple kit of a slab of wood, four wheels and four nails. It's a father-son project, although fathers invariably wind up doing most of the work.

Christopher attributes his success to "unc." His father was too busy arranging the overseas transfer, so his English uncle, Alan White, a mechanical engineer, helped construct the car.

Scorning the traditional weights and silicone, Uncle Alan concentrated on design, producing a car which beat some 60 others, many elaborate affairs constructed in Hamilton base workshops.

Meanwhile Christopher, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. William J. Perry, 292 Bolling Drive, on the base, has written to Lloyds of London inquiring about insurance on the Silver Streak.

(Editor's note: Sergeant Perry's transfer to England means not only the departure of the owner of the Silver Streak, but also the loss from the Independent-Journal staff of the sergeant's wife, Pat Perry, whose by-line and occasional Britishisms will be missed.)

$1,866 In Fees

Fees totaling $1,866 were collected during March by the City of Mill Valley's building department, reported building inspector Loren K. Rohde. Twenty-five building permits were issued for work valued at $91,869, compared with 23 building permits issued in March of 1966 for work valued at $172,220.

Police Chief Chiesa Endorsed By Labor

Marin County Labor Council voted last night to endorse San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa for re-election to office in the upcoming municipal elections, secretary-treasurer James Smith reported today.

The council also voiced disapproval of proposed cuts in the county and state's mental health program and agreed to send letters to Marin County Board of Supervisors, Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He Pays $250,000 For Son's Release

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — The son of a multimillionaire financier was released unharmed today after a $250,000 ransom was paid. His head shaved and drugged with sleeping pills, the youngster was dropped off on a residential street.

"Dad, I'm all right, please come and get me," Kenneth Young, 11, told his distraught father from an apartment house telephone.

The youngster was kidnaped early Monday from the second floor bedroom of the Herbert Young mansion in the center of this exclusive community. The parents, two brothers, a sister and a maid slept in nearby rooms.

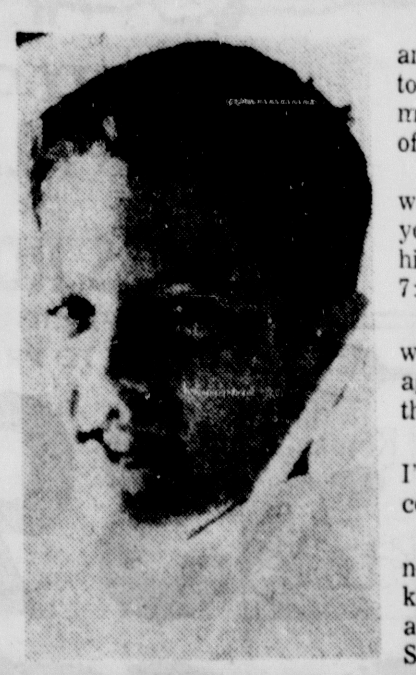
A typewritten ransom note addressed "to the master" warned the family not to call police or "you will lose the merchandise." But Young notified police immediately and FBI agents joined the officers in moving into the mansion.

The telephone rang several times Monday and Tuesday but each time Young answered it the caller hung up.

Young said he received a letter of instructions yesterday.

"At 6 p.m. last night I went to Westwood Boulevard and Ohio Streets in Westwood as the letter said. A man met me there and asked, 'Are you Herbert Young?' He was soft-spoken and well-dressed. He seemed very intelligent and was a Caucasian.



KENNETH YOUNG
Safe at home

"He told me to go to Sunset and Moraga and go to a phone booth next to a telephone pole in a Standard Station. I waited 45 minutes when a car came by and a man in it waved to me. There was only one occupant in the car.

"He told me to get in my car and follow him. We drove north to Sunset Boulevard and about a mile beyond then the man drove off into a flat gravel area.

"He got out of the car and walked toward me and said, 'Do you have the bag?' I gave it to him and returned home about 7:20."

Young said he and his family waited with police and FBI agents until about 4 a.m. when the telephone rang.

"It was Kenny. He said, 'Dad, I'm all right. Will you please come and get me.'

"Then a man, who had nothing to do with the kidnaping, came on the phone and gave me the address in Santa Monica. Apparently the men in the crime just dropped Kenny off in front of the apartment and he rapped on the door and asked to use the telephone.

"He said he was very tired. By the time my wife Arlene and I got to the apartment with police there were FBI men all over the area.

"We noticed they shaved Kenny's head and his eyes seemed to have been blindfolded. Kenny told me they gave him sleeping pills, maybe three."

The youngster told his father he was treated well enough by one man who apparently was in charge of taking care of him, "but he was a lousy cook."

Guitar Class Slated

An intermediate class in folk guitar, open to students who have completed the beginning class, and taught by Alan Eshelman, will be offered by the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department, starting next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets.

Department Head Change To Be Asked

The Marin Junior College District board will consider proposals that the faculty position of division chairman be eliminated, and that department chairmen be elected by the faculty of their departments when it meets today at 8 p.m. in room G3 of the physical education building at the college.

The proposals have been approved by the academic senate and the administrative council, and acting president Irwin P. Diamond will recommend they be accepted.

Department chairmen are now recommended by the administration and appointed by the board. Diamond said the proposed system would give department chairmen and faculty more responsibility.

If approved, the new system would be in effect for the start of the fall semester, Diamond said.

Dr. William K. Ramstad, newly appointed college president, is expected to attend an orientation dinner meeting for new board members Thomas A. Skornia and Alan D. Ewen with the board and student personnel staff at 6:30 p.m. in the faculty lounge of the student center.

The board may award a contract for furnishing a mobile laboratory. Two bids were opened March 27. Designed Facilities Corp. of El Monte was low at $16,440. Advance Mobile Structure Co. of San Francisco bid $16,925. The project was estimated at $16,500.

The board may authorize a call for bids on replacement of the seawater system at the Bolinas laboratory, estimated to cost $4,500 to $6,500.

HER CIGAR BUGGED?

Obviously smoking isn't banned during the Senate subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure's hearings on electronic eavesdropping. But the full-house audience at yesterday's session apparently paid little heed to one woman who puffs on a cigar while intently following the testimony in Washington. (UPI Telephoto)

Dutton's Home Status Is Hit

Membership on the University of California Board of Regents of a part-time Sausalito resident is reportedly the target of a bill introduced in the State Assembly yesterday by a Southern California Democrat.

The bill, by Assemblyman Newton R. Russell, R-Tujunga, would require that university regents be residents of California and "physically present in this state not less than a majority of each two successive calendar years."

United Press International reported from Sacramento that the measure is aimed at expelling Frederick G. Dutton, a former aide to Gov. Edmund G. Brown and State Department official in the Johnson administration.

Dutton has been a vocal opponent of Gov. Ronald Reagan's university tuition proposal.

His family home is at 27 Vista Clara, Sausalito. However, he has a law practice in Washington, where he served as a cabinet secretary to President John F. Kennedy and in the State Department under President Johnson.

Mrs. Dutton, at home in Sausalito, said today her husband is now in Washington but will be home Saturday. "He spends a lot of time in Washington, but I would say he is here a majority of the time," she said.

The word posh, meaning elegant or luxurious, originates from the initials of the words "port out, starboard home," designating the most exclusive staterooms aboard vessels traveling between England and India.

Candidate Brown On Time For Peacock Gap Forum

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Carl J. Brown, candidate for re-election to the San Rafael Board of Education, arrived late for a Peacock Gap candidates' forum meeting.

Candidates Herman L. Childress and John C. Pfeiffer arrived late from the "coffee." Brown, however, arrived on time and sat among the audience near the back of the hall until school board candidates were called up to speak.

Brown today emphasized that he has not participated in the "coffee circuit" campaign with Childress and Pfeiffer.

Childress and Pfeiffer are running as an informal team for election to two of the three positions on the board to be filled in next Monday's city election. Brown and Anita C. Strom, also an incumbent, are running as individuals without ties to other candidates.

Bagley Asks 'Civil Rights For Blind'

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today introduced a bill which he termed "in essence, a civil rights act for the blind and disabled."

Known as the model White Cane Law, the measure is the product of a study by University of California Prof. Jacobus tenBroek, who is himself blind.

The bill defines various rights of blind and other physically disabled persons with respect to accommodations and public facilities, and specifies duties of other persons toward the disabled. It also provides that the governor annually proclaim Oct. 15 as White Cane Safety Day.

"As Professor tenBroek has said, the policy of this act is to entitle the disabled to full participation in the life of the community, and to encourage and enable them to do so," said Bagley.

Several states already have enacted legislation of this type, Bagley said.

Garrison's Plot Probe Heating Up

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's probe of an alleged plot to assassinate President Kennedy heated up today, fueled by new indictments and re-enforcing arrest warrants.

Layttn Martens, 24, a student at the University of Southwestern Louisiana who once roomed with the late David W. Ferrie, was indicted yesterday for perjury by the New Orleans Grand Jury.

The true bill against Martens followed by one week his first appearance before the 12-man jury, which is conducting its own special investigation of events leading up to the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination in Dallas.

Also yesterday, authorities in Terrebonne Parish ordered the arrests of material witness Gordon Novel in Columbus, Ohio, and Cuban exile leader Sergio Arcacha Smith in Dallas.

Dist. Atty. Wilmore J. Broussard Jr., filed charges of simple burglary against Novel and Smith in connection with the theft of several cases of blasting caps and explosive charges from a bunker in Houma, La., in 1961.

Two Bands To Play

Two musical groups, the Syndicate of Sound and Butch Engle and the Styx, will alternate on a four-hour performance beginning at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Fairfax Pavilion on Bolinas Road.

Prowler Knocked To His Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A prowler was knocked off a roof by his intended victim early today and plunged five floors to his death, police said.

He was identified as Bernie Antuna, 21. Police said he climbed through a fire escape into the apartment of Bob and Sheila Bereche. Antuna weilded a broken bottle, they said, and cut them on the shoulders.

Bereche was locked in the bathroom and his wife forced up to the roof, they said. On the lip of the roof, she suddenly gave a violent kick backward, and Antuna went over, police related.

Florida Grocery War Delighting Shoppers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Remember the housewives' rebellion against supermarkets last fall? Well, one chain took the ladies at their word and now the grocery stores in southern Florida are at war with each other. The housewife is coming out a winner.

Eighty-eight stores in the Winn-Dixie chain today rounded out a week in a no-stamps, no-games, no-gimmicks marketing experiment featuring only lower prices. The boss said it is a success.

"There's not a chance in the world we will return to stamps," said C. W. Waldorf, chief of the ero Beach-to-Miami division.

Other chains have struck back with advertising campaigns, insisting they will have lower prices and stamps.

Shoppers interviewed in the stores, most of which carry the name "Kwik-Chek," are also happy.

For example, T-bone steaks came down 31 cents, a pound of bacon 11 cents, a can of applesauce 4 cents. Even prepackaged food with the price marked by the processor, such as potato chips or cookies, have been cut a penny or two. The old price is marked out.

Waldorf, 48, said he started thinking about the multimillion-dollar experiment when the housewives boycotted last fall protest high prices. He set up a single store without stamps and watched the reaction.

Police Doubt Boy's Story About Kidnap

David Hebel, 16, of San Rafael had not been kidnapped at the point of a gun as he told his father by telephone from Sacramento Tuesday, San Rafael police said today.

After questioning the youth yesterday, juvenile officers were satisfied his story was not true, said Deputy Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori.

"The officers are still working on it and have not yet decided what action—if any—will be taken against the boy," he said.

David disappeared after leaving for the public library Tuesday night and reappeared in Sacramento two hours later. He told his father, Raymond J. Hebel of 104 Golden Hinde Boulevard, he had been held up by the occupants of a pick-up truck who demanded $50,000 for his release.

The youth was taken into custody by Sacramento police who handed him over to his father.

County Faces Lawsuit On Fish, Game Fines

The Marin Rod and Gun Club may sue the county to prevent transfer of fish and game fines from club use to use by the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

Attorney William O. Weissich said today the club has instructed him to file suit if necessary to block the board of supervisors' action of March 21 transferring $15,609 in accumulated state fish and game subventions to the museum.

In a letter to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, Weissich suggested today that Mitchell seek an opinion from the state attorney general on the legality of the state fines going to the museum.

He also asked Mitchell for assurance there would be no disbursement from the fund until the attorney general's opinion is received.

Fish and game fines allocated to counties are for conservation, wildlife promotion and education to that end. Three supervisors believed that the museum's use of the money would come under the education category. Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss dissented on the vote to transfer the money.

In his letter today Weissich said, "we are of the opinion that the proposed payment to the museum is in violation of the law and would constitute an ellegal expenditure of county funds."

Terra Linda Rec Official Rapped For Acting Alone

Director Cecelia Martz of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District last night was reprimaned by fellow board members for alleged unilateral action.

Mrs. Martz, trying to reach a deadline on applications last week, applied to the county for aid on a senior citizens program. the county will contribute $2,000 or half the cost, whichever is less, under a recently authorized policy.

Mrs. Martz was unable to confer with other board members prior to rushing the application through to the county parks and recreation department last week. Last night, other board members let here understand they did not like it.

"We all agree that we will have a program," Board Chairman Norman Gurin declared.

Mrs. Martz and Director Patrick H. Martin were named to draw up plans for the senior citizen program and present them at the next meeting April 19.

The board set daily pool attendance rates at 50 cents for children under 12, 75 cents for adults, and $1 for out of district guests.

Salary Hikes Boost Proposed Parks Budget

Salary step increases and two additional parks caused a $6,130 increase in San Rafael Parks Department proposed budget, approved last night by the Parks and Recreation Commission for a total of $102,588.

Commissioners told Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr. to amend the proposed budget by reducing utilities from $8,000 to $7,000 and providing an increase in Park Foreman Scott Tilden's salary from $757 to $815 a month.

Commissioners also approved the proposed street trees and parkways budget at $67,581, up from this year's $62,160. The increase was caused by planned addition of a fulltime groundsman assigned to the parkway crew.

Two neighbors on De La Guerra Road, adjacent to the new Santa Margarita Valley Park, wrote asking that the city install an eight-foot solid board fence at their property line, but commissioners refused the request.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman of 97 De La Guerra, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Hughes of 93, complained that they have no privacy in their gradens, children have thrown rocks into the swimming pool and climbed the wire fence.

Snyder reported it would cost approximately $1,000 to install a fence along both properties. Commissioners were reluctant to set a precedent, even if owners shared costs, by installing fences on private property.

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission also:

CELEBRATION —Approved a request from St. Raphael's Church for use of Albert Field on Oct. 20 for a sesquecentennial celebration.

APPLICANTS — Snyder reported 115 young applicants had been interviewed for 70 part-time summer job vacancies in the recreation, swimming, day camp and maintenance programs.

MEETING CHANGED — Decided to change commission meeting dates to the last, instead of first, Wednesday in each month, beginning April 26 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Firemen 'Almost Certain' Terra Linda Fire Was Set

The $10,000 fire at Terra Linda High School last Thursday was "almost certainly" of incendiary origin, San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett said today, but investigation of the case appears to be at a dead end.

Nearly all possible accidental causes have been eliminated for the fire which gutted the coaches' office and damaged locker and shower rooms, Trivett said. But the department has no suspect and "there's not a whole lot we can do" about the case, he said.

The fire was the sixth of mysterious origin in the area in recent months. Others included Temple Rodef Sholom in Santa Venetia, Catholic Social Service headquarters in Los Ranchitos, and a storage shed near Merrydale Apartment in San Rafael Meadows.

Principal Frank Stocking of Terra Linda High said the school hopes to get boys' physical education classes back into session next week. Repair crews are rewiring the locker, shower and rest rooms. The destroyed office space will be rebuilt during summmer vacation, Stocking said. Meantime, coaches are operating from a smaller room previously used for storage.

The school's 1,000 boys are taking study sessions in available classrroms in place of physical education while repairs are made.

Sanitary Board Asks City's Nod

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night passed a resolution asking the Larkspur City Council to let the district from a special maintenance assessment district within city boundaries.

District Mgr. Ralph C. Noah said the special district would allow the sanitary district to charge the cost of service in Larkspur to the city's residents rather than to spread it over the entire sanitary district.

The board called for bids April 20 at 8 p.m. in the district office on a Greenbrae-Corte Madera Creek siphon crossing.

Mother Rescues Baby From Ditch After Accident

A 23-month-old girl was saved from drowning in a ditch by her mother yesterday when she was thrown from the family car in an accident on Highway 101, two miles north of Novato.

California Highway Patrol reported the northbound car, driven by Jon Carlyle House, 27, of 2445 Center Road, Novato, swerved off the wet road into a ditch and struck a power pole at 8:55 a.m.

The child, Lori House, was thrown out when the impact tore the car door She landed in the ditch with two feet of water in it.

Marjorie House, 30, jumped out and rescued her daughter.

All three were examined at Marin General Hospital, but had no apparent injuries.

Officer Session

Hillhaven Property Owners Association will meet April 18 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nock, 1806 Lagoon View Drive, Tiburon, to elect new officers.

Patrol Car Duty Stilled For Session

The nine patrol cars of San Rafael Police Department were in the city hall parking lot yesterday because every patrolman was attending an hour-long instruction session on stolen car recovery, Deputy Chief Joseph J. Brusatori said today.

No beat patrols were carried out during this time although officers were answering all emergencies from the headquarters, he said.

Brusatori said adequate patrols are carried out and it was unusual for all patrolmen to be in the headquarters at once.

The session was held by Special Agent Frederick Douglas of the National Auto Theft Bureau in San Francisco.

Inmate Dies; Natural Causes

Chico Jose Gonzales, 33, a San Quentin Prison inmate, died of apparently natural causes in the prison hospital yesterday. Gonzale shad been treated at the hospital March 29 for swollen legs and ankles, and was admitted yesterday.

Gonzales was serving a one year to life term for second degree robbery. He was sentenced in Los Angeles County and had been at San Quentin since Dec. 30, 1966.

He was a native of Puerto Rico and had lived in California for 12 years. He was a radio-television repairman. Prison authorities said he had no known relative.

More Livestock And Crops Bring Dip In Market Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Food prices dived again this week.

Farmers have been sending more livestock to market, and Southern crops have been better than they were a year ago, when they were curtailed by freezes.

As a result, wholesale prices this week dipped 6.3 per cent lower than a year ago, and are now the lowest in 15 months.

Shipments of strawberries, cauliflower and asparagus from California, and sweet corn, tomatoes, potatoes, peppers and citrus from Texas and grapefruit from Florida are increasing, leading to lower prices.

Egg prices, which have been tumbling since Easter, fell again this week. Prices now are about 25 cents a dozen lower than they were in November.

Shoppers also may find lower prices on frozen strawberries and canned fruit cocktail, pears, zucchini, lima beans, crinkle cut beets, diced carrots, pineapple, salmon and tunafish —special brand promotions this month.

The California tuna market has been glutted, and some vessels have been diverted to Puerto Rico. Tuna production in Hawaii and American Samoa in February was up 60 per cent

'COMING UP ROSES' THEME IDEA

Huddleston-Churchill Nuptials

In a ceremony on Saturday at the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, Lynn Churchill became the bride of Thomas H. Huddleston.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Asa G. Churchill of San Rafael.

Daniel Bell of San Quentin served the bridegroom as best man and ushering were Robert Turner and Mark Churchill, the bride's brother.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Huddleston was graduated from San Rafael High School and is attending College of Marin. Lt. Bruce W. Churchill is also a brother of the bride.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Helen Mendosa of San Bernardino and Jack Huddleston of Petaluma, was graduated from San Rafael High School. He is employed with Colonial Wax Products. Weidon, Charles and James Huddleston are his brothers.

The newlyweds will reside in San Rafael.

A MILITARY CEREMONY was held Saturday when Ens. Dennis W. Parker exchanged vows with Caroline C. Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wilhelm of Kentfield. St. Sebastian's Church in Kentfield was the setting.

Who's Real News On Carnaby?

LONDON (AP) — While high fashion designers in Paris, Rome and London have been showing their wares in annual spring openings, another kind of fashion show runs daily in Carnaby street.

To a fashion writer, used to the atmosphere of perfumed showrooms, Carnaby Street itself is an outdoor catwalk for male mannequins, several blocks long and larger than life.

Willowy young men in curvaceous velvet suits swagger self-consciously along, elbowing tittering tourists and horrifying boggle-eyed old ladies, up from the country on shopping expeditions in Regent Street and innocently strayed into The Scene.

Audience and models, exhibitionists and voyeurs, are all on-stage.

THE SHOP WINDOWS, redressed almost daily always have new shockers to offer. At the "Tom Cat" this week it's red and turquoise satin shirts, Tom Jones style, and silky purple hipsters. "Take 6" down the block vies for attention with a silver lame number described on the window card as "glitter shirt, 5 guineas, with high back collar and puff sleeves." Lord John features a black velvet suit with wide red lapels and buttons, next to a grey herringbone suit with the jacket cut like a shirt.

Capes and cape-shouldered coats, daisy-flowered shirts with white collars; jackets of black lace over blue taffeta; shirts of black lace over pink silk; lace ties in rainbow colors; pussy cat fur coats combining ginger with black and white spotted effects; grandfather high-button boots and buckled father pumps . . .

IN FACT, IT MUST soon be clear to the experienced that the Carnaby Street boys get most of their shock effects by borrowing sartorial styles from the ladies (those fitted velvet suits, all that lace and lame). Otherwise, they do as the high fashion dressmakers do — inspire themselves with period costume from the past. The velvet-trimmed chesterfield frock coat in the window of "His Clothes" is a pure steal from another age, and so are the spats-topped boots called "yesteryear," "Costermonger" and "Pearly King" in "The Village Store."

Colin Ashton, a 24-year-old Cockney lad started three years ago in "His Clothes," the original Carnaby Street male boutique when the street was full of repair shops, bakeries, dairies, warehouses.

St. Sebastian's Church Setting For Parker-Wilhelm Wedding

A Saturday wedding at St. Sebastian's Church in Kentfield united in marriage Caroline C. Wilhelm and Dennis W. Parker. The Rev. Raymond Kenney officiated.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wilhelm of Kentfield, Caroline chose a Guipure cage with peau de soie train for her gown. Attendants were her sisters, Julianne Wilhelm, maid of honor, and Mrs. James Richman (Elizabeth Jane Wilhelm), and the bridegroom's sisters, Cheryl and Penny Parker of Cloverdale. They all wore full length dresses of yellow linen.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is an ensign with the U.S. Coast Guard, was Edwin Dale Kaserman Jr. and the ushers were Ensigns William Lehmann, Jerry Heinz, Dennis Shaw and Warren Miller.

A reception was held at the Meadow Club after the wedding. Following a wedding trip to Hawaii the newlyweds will live in Alameda.

Caroline is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Miss McAleer's Secretarial School, and her husband is a graduate of Cloverdale High School and the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn. He is the son of Walter W. Parker of Cloverdale and the late Irene Parker.

FUN AND GAMES AT SCHOOL—

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

I've had it. Unite, kids, and stamp out steadying! At least half the girls I know would rather go out with different fellas, but we can't. The minute a girl shows interest in a boy the other girls put him down if he isn't "true" to her —even if she doesn't want it that way.

It's ridiculous. But somebody will change it. So I'm going to start a campaign through your column, Helen.

Who wants to join S.O.S.? That means — STAMP OUT STEADIES. Let's get back to the good old days my mother tells about when a girl and a boy could play the field without getting a reputation? I want to be pals with lots of boys, not tied to one — and definitely not in love with one!! — ANYONE FOR S.O.S.

DEAR S.O.S.:

I'm with you all the way. Anyone for S.O.S drop me a line. Maybe we'll get some action — finally — on this "steady" business many kids groan about but no one, till now, has gone about changing. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My mother won't let me have a skateboard. She says it's too dangerous. I know how to ride one and have never hurt myself. All my friends have them. I won't ask you to go against my mother, Helen, but, tell me, do your kids ride them? — SITTING SPECTATOR

DEAR S.S.:

Our four not only have had skateboards — and loved them —but own water skis, ice skates and a pogo stick. They also go for trampolines (so do I!), snow sports and diving from high boards. And the Bottels have been amazingly free of broken bones — so far. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's my problem. I have fallen hard for a really nice girl. But I'm used to the other kind. We've been going together eight months and I wouldn't hurt her for anything.

So why do I keep trying, when I know she's too decent to give in?

Helen, we plan on marriage after we graduate this year. What makes me get so forward that she has threatened to break up with me if I don't stop? I don't want to. I love and honor her. I would probably be disappointed and disillusioned if she ever gave in. So what's with me anyway? — A LOW DOWN DOG

DEAR LDD:

If you didn't want the girl you love, you wouldn't be normal. But if you plan marriage in just a few months you can certainly wait —and your girl knows it must be that way. Help her keep YOUR respect, and HER self-respect. She'd like to earn that wedding veil! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My girl friend is a great and terrific person, but there's one thing about her I can't stand. She has hair on her upper lip. This drives me batty. Is there any polite way I could tell her I hate it? And how can she get rid of it? — DAVE

DEAR DAVE:

She can get rid of a "mustache" with a good depilatory or cosmetic "sandpaper" which she may buy at any drug or variety store. But "telling her about it" is something I'd hate to tackle if I were in your shoes.

Maybe you could lead up to it with a discussion of "electrolysis" — the permanent removal of unwanted hair — and she might get the idea. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Tax Bite On Salaries Not As Drastic As Wives Think

"With income taxes what they are, it doesn't pay for me to work." Many married women who would like to work are deterred by this idea, but it is a misconception, according to figures compiled by a temporary help organization.

The manager of a San Rafael organization said that her company had determined that the tax bite on salaries isn't nearly as drastic as most married women believe. She added that her company is making an intensive effort to lure housewives back to the labor market to combat employee shortages which exist in offices throughout the United States.

When a husband and wife file a joint return, the wife can keep 75 per cent or more of her earnings, provided the husband's earnings are $18,000 or less and they have at least two children.

For example, with two dependents and standard deductions, if the husband's earnings are between $6,000 and $10,000 and the wife earns $1,000, the net additional income from her earnings would be between $847 and $810 after federal income tax deductions on the combined earnings.

An ever-increasing demand for office workers has resulted in an all-out effort on the part of the temporary help industry to increase the supply by offering special benefits to housewives says the manager.

Her company will welcome the more mature office worker who wants to limit her work schedule and her earnings to conform to her social security income.

A reminder to Madame Hostess and Mothers of Brides . . . plan ahead, ladies, L'ENTREE tells us it is time to start reserving those summer party dates. They offer a very complete catering service that welcomes reservations for small cocktail-buffets or grand receptions . . . all you have to do is to remember to phone in advance, then relax and let L'ENTREE take over.

Saw spots before our eyes last week at THE HOUR GLASS (polka dots, if you must be literal, Mabel.) Said spots (or dots) appear in navy and gold on white, or pink on white . . . with the Sarong label there are garter belts, pantie girdles and bras . . . and the Fischer label coordinates half-slips and chemises for this speckled springtime spectacular.

Seems this fashion season was planned with the expectant mother in mind, since the tent dress is a runaway fashion favorite. Along with other flattering styles, EXPECTATION MATERNITY SHOP carries a stunning collection of tent dresses . . . such as that "go anywhere" black and white checked bonded cotton with short sleeves and smart, standaway collar.

Handsome brushed stainless steel from Italy and Denmark at HAPPY HOUSE. Steak knives with one-piece, molded handle and blade . . . and matching carving set. Many serving pieces, such as the covered vegetable dish (the top handily doubling as another dish.) Also, with walnut handles, gravy boats, butter warmers, salad bowls, etc. HAPPY HOUSE includes in this collection a very tricky, scissor-type salad server that is as functional as it is good-looking.

We quote: "Have you had a Critter to dinner lately." These little Candle Critters from FIESTA CANDLE SHOP sit on their wooden perches and light your table through dinner. Critters come in many shapes and colors and are perfectly delightful, dripless "glowery." (Nice little price too . . . 50c for candle and stand . . . refills for 25c.)

CAPRICORN BOOKS tells us they now have William Manchester's "Death of A President." Many public and private opinions have been expressed about this controversial and much talked-about book . . . but we've never heard anyone express indifference. This is bound to be the best-seller of this, and many other, years, so we advise you to pick up your copy soon.

The HICK'RY PIT take-out department has thoughtfully and conveniently packaged their delectibles for easy carrying and, if need be, re-heating. As a for instance, we'll frequently pick up our order of spareribs late in the afternoon, then re-heat them for a dinner-time feast, and even later for elegant snacking.

THIS LITTLE PIGGY LIKES TO TRAVEL!

April is spring fashion time in The Village. A delightful way to view this season's styles is to take in the Fashion-Luncheons at the Cherish Inn. Each Wednesday at 12:30 fashions and accessories from Village specialty shops are modeled . . . reservations are suggested, 388-4212.

The Original Doggie Jamas are found at MUTTS OF MARIN. These shiver shirkers are of machine washable cotton and cost only $1.25. Happiness is a warm puppy?

Say, Mabel, honey, if you "lucked out" and have been elected entertainment chairman for your women's organization . . . don't stand around wringing your hands. Just consult Mr. Stanley Toy at KUBLAI KHAN and he will be happy to make luncheon-meeting arrangements for most any size group.

Found some prettily colorful shifts at CARLTON'S VILLAGE SPORTSWEAR, priced from $9.95 to $12.95. (The sleeveless, button-front coulotte is very fashion newsworthy.) Cool and comfortable cotton knit coordinates here imported from France by CARLTON'S. Many styles and colors in these washable and packable shells, tops, skirts and dresses.

We've often noticed paintings that seem to "just miss" . . . the picture is beautiful, but the frame is all wrong. This never happens at FU'S ART STUDIO where framing is done with the finest materials available by artists who know just how a picture should look.

One of our favorites in the spring collection of CONTESSA ANGELA OF ROMA is a sassy cotton . . . red and white stripes, sleeveless, dropped waist and full skirt (saucy ruffles inside hemline play peek-a-boo as you walk). And, for travel, you can't beat that art nouveau WOW print . . . just slightly slinky and packable enough to roll up in your handbag.

An impressive display of Champagnes at VILLAGE LIQUORS . . . an excellent selection of fine imported and domestic champagnes to please connoiseur and novice alike. Should your knowledge of champagne be limited, VILLAGE LIQUORS is always very nice about answering your questions.

Found a pretty spring "garden" blooming from the card racks at ROJEAN'S CARD & PARTY SHOP. These all-occasion cards are labeled "Flower Fantasy."

Ah, there's good news tonight, girls . . . the semi-annual Villager sale starts Saturday, April 8th at THE DAISYBUG. We're told this sale will feature winter merchandise at a full one-third "off." What a great opportunity for Villager fans to fill in their collections!

Noticed some good-looking I.D. bracelets by Speidel at VILLAGE JEWELERS. This popular bracelet style for both boys and girls, comes in silver or gold with smooth or Florentine finish. Prices start most reasonably at $4.95. (We've found this a nice gift for a youngster going off to camp and, of course, many other occasions too.)

Speck's Council Quizzes Survivor

PEORIA, Ill., (AP) — Corazon Amurao, the state's key witness, was questioned by defense counsel today about men — boyfriends — who came to the dormitory where eight nurses were slain.

Gerald W. Getty, who represents Richard Speck, took over the witness for cross examination at Speck's trial on charges of murdering the young women early the morning of July 14, 1966, in their townhouse dormitory on Chicago's South Side.

DRAMA UNFOLDS

Miss Amurao, 24, wearing a high necked yellow blouse and a dark skirt, resumed the seat in the witness box from which she told yesterday the story of the slayings for the first time in public.

The most dramatic moment came when Miss Amurao, the only survivor, identified Speck as the killer.

Under questioning by Getty, she began retelling the story she had told yesterday. Getty asked if any of the girls who resided in the townhouse had boyfriends who called on them.

"The American girls have boyfriends," she replied. "They waited for the girls in the living room and would bring the girls home."

MANY DETAILS

Three young nurses from the Philippines and six from Chicago and other Midwestern communities shared the townhouse at the time of the massacre.

Getty, a veteran of courtrooms who has an easy manner and usually talks in a gentle tone, also questioned Miss Amurao about whether the doors were locked. She said she locked the front door before she went upstairs to bed at 10:30 p.m. July 13 but didn't know whether the back door was locked. Getty also asked if Miss Gloria Davy, one of the victims who came in about 11:30 p.m., had used a key to enter. She replied that she did not know.

Getty also questioned her about the time she heard knocking on her bedroom door. She had told the circuit court jury yesterday that it was 11 p.m. when she heard the knocking, opened the door and saw a man she identified as Speck standing with a pistol in his hand. The defense attorney inquired about the position of a clock-radio in her bedroom.

"I could see it," she said.

She testified previously that the light was on when she retired.

Old Goat Dies; Dogs Suspected

"Faster," a goat owned by George McKegney, Vistazo East, Tiburon, was killed last night while she was tied outside in the yard.

McKegney said from wounds on the goat's throat, it appeared the 14-year-old animal had been killed by a dog.

Improvement Group Installs Officers

Mitchell is slated to be the first man executed in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber in four years.

He sought a writ of habeas corpus which would force the state to consider a new penalty trial.

Giant Satellite Stranded In Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A giant experimental satellite with 251-foot long "Daddy Longlegs" booms was left stranded in the wrong orbit today by rocket failure and was expected to fall to a tumbling death.

Space engineers predicted 12 hours after launch of the satellite that its freak egg-shaped orbit—ranging from 115 to 6,915 miles above earth—was far beyond what its gravity-sensitive booms could cope with.

Mother To Napa In Knife Attack

Police charged Mrs. Lola Lee Spinale, 36, of 1704 Center Road with assault with a deadly weapon. She was then taken to the state mental hospital for observation.

Her son, David, was treated at Novato Hospital for a superficial cut in the shoulder about one and one-half inches long.

Mill Valley Summer Class Expansion Recommended

Mill Valley School District' summer school should be operated completely on a state-supported basis, the district's salary study committee recommended Tuesday night.

The program last summer cost $27,000, reported Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson, with the state paying about $22,000. The district's contribution, however, can be eliminated by increasing average daily attendance, upon which state aid is based, the committee agreed.

To do this, either the length of the term should be increased from 19 to 23 days, or class size should be increased by about 20 per cent, the committee recommended.

The committee also recommended addition of a sixth step on the pay scale for psychologists.

Sleuths Almost Sure Virus Is Culprit In Leukemia

By BARBARA J. CULLITON
Science Service

If leukemia is induced by a virus, sooner or later science is going to know.

A major investment of talent and money in a task force to combat leukemia says it will be sooner, and top flight scientists across the country have been mobilized in an all-out effort to unmask the virus-like particles that turn up when the blood cancer is present but elude researchers' efforts to pin them down.

Successful transmission of leukemia in laboratory animals and strong circumstantial evidence linking animal leukemia viruses and human virus-like particles stand behind the premise that leukemia is an infectious disease and that a vaccine can be developed once its viral source is identified.

Two years ago the National Cancer Institute launched the Special Virus - Leukemia Program to sponsor the intensified virus hunt. Instead of giving separate, unrelated grants to individual scientists, the program funds the work of research teams each looking for answers to the same question

NCI is coordinating the myriad of activities and serving as a central switchboard to keep information flowing freely between its scattered task forces.

Out of this concentrated anti-cancer campaign has come a forward-looking outfit called, in typical bureaucratic fashion, the Viral Resources and Repositroy Section of the National Cancer Institute.

Now that more scientists than ever are pursuing research along parallel lines, the demand for research's basic tools has boomed. Doctors in New York may be tracing the effect of the same viral strain in mice as are doctors in Chicago. If the two are going to compare results, and that is what they want to do, they have to be sure they are working with identical strains of both viruses and mice. If an investigator in Buffalo thinks he's identified a new type of virus, he needs a standard of comparison to be sure.

This is where Viral Resources comes into the picture. Its storehouses hold samples of animal and human viruses, and reagents that can be supplied to program participants upon request. "The viruses number in the hundreds, and we've identified many more viruses than corresponding diseases," Dr. Harry C. Steinman, Viral Resources' chief, reported. "There are at least 60 different types of viruses from monkeys alone," he said, "and we hope to have them all in storage as the program gets under way."

Diseased tissues from humans are vitally important to further study because so much has already been done on model animal systems, Dr. Steinman explained, but it is extremely difficult to obtain and supply such tissue fast enough to be useful — that is, before it has time to begin disintegrating.

Laboratory animals, probably the most basic need of basic research, present quite a problem to the scientific community but one Dr. Steinman's team is trying to resolve by anticipating possible needs before they occur. One calls for new species of experimental animals.

Mice, as everyone knows, are used frequently in biomedical studies. They are easy to care for, don't cost much to house, respond to dozens of disease organisms and have a comparatively short life-span so if they are going to get sick and die from a virus, they do so rather quickly. But mice are not very close to men and the discrepancy between what happens biologically in mice and what happens in men is enormous.

Monkeys, on the other hand, are the primates closest to man. But the incubation period for a virus in a strapping young chimp may be up to 10 years — a long time for crash program scientists to wait — and the hotel bill for these human cousins is staggering.

An Old World or rhesus monkey costs his keepers about $250 a year. Cats run around $180 a year, guinea pigs about $36 and mice only $9. Therefore, a laboratory doing monkey studies spends $10,000 a year just for hotel services if it has an average of 40 residents.

So, other animals combining the best features of mice and monkeys are being sought. At Tulane University in Louisiana, scientists supported by NCI are trying to breed tree shrews from southeast Asia, little chipmunk-like creatures that seem promising as animal models. But the highly sensitive shrews are resisting efforts to get them to mate. They have not yet adapted to life in captivity and their captors have not learned enough about their native habits to provide satisfactory living quarters. But things may change once the shrews are happier.

Marmosets and galagos are other exotic animals that are potential candidates for the research ranks. Zoologists at the San Diego Zoo are working under a NCI grant to learn about the natural habits, biological activities and native diseases of these creatures. Knowledge of native diseases is fundamental to research efforts to preclude the possibility of thinking a disease had been induced in the laboratory when it is actually something quite common to a particular species naturally.

Building stockpiles of research materials and anticipating research demands are vital to the efficient operation of this massive war on leukemia. A colony of 40 animals may be valuable to one researcher in one lab, but is inconsequential when teams of researchers in a number of labs are all pursuing the same thing. If someone discovers a link between leukemia viruses in shrews and virus-like particles in humans, the whole task force is going to want shrews — in a hurry. Whatever the need, Viral Resources is beginning now to anticipate and meet it, so that when success is imminent, science won't be caught short.

Hamilton Fliers Hunt Navy Jet Down In Sierra Storm

Five fixed-wing Air Force search planes braved stormy weather today in an intense effort to locate a twin-engine Navy jet that diappeared over Northern California with four persons aboard.

"We're checking out every possible lead, no matter how remote," a spokesman at Hamilton Air Force Base's Search and Rescue Headquarters said.

The spokesman said ground parties were investigating a report of a scorched area about 20 miles east of the Modoc County community of Likely.

He said helicopters will be added to the search effort if weather conditions improve substantially.

The A3B Skywarrior bomber was en route from Miramar Naval Air Station near San Diego to its home base at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, Wash., when it disappeared from radar scopes in a heavy snowstorm.

The plane was believed down near 9,934-foot Mount Eagle, about 29 miles southeast of Alturas.

Tighter Leash Law Is Asked

Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association directors last night asked Mill Valley city officials to put teeth into the leash law in their neighborhood, reported William H. Bay, club president.

Dogs running loose are both a nuisance and a danger, directors agreed. The city has stepped up enforcement of its leash law in commercial districts, but dogs in residential areas have been allowed to run free.

Annual membership meeting of the association will be May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in Edna Maguire School, Bay said. Four of the seven members of the board of directors are to be elected for two-year terms and three for one-year terms.

Landscape Plan For Marinwood Viewed By Groups

Directiors fo the Marinwood Association last night discusses possibility of a landscape master plan for Marinwood in a session with two members of the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission.

Commissioners Lawrence B. Malkin and Frank Furtado also told association directors of the recreation program planned at the Marinwood Community Center this summer, association chairman Jack Nixon reported.

Allan Fisher of 2571 Heatherstone Drive was named to the board of directors. George D. Gazulis of 717 Appleberry Drive was named to the board last month.

'Arsenic And Old Lace' On Marin Catholic Stage

"Arsenic and Old Lace" will be presented tomorrow and Saturday by the Marin Catholic High School senior class at the school gymnasium. Curtain time will be 8 p.m.

The play, a long-run Broadway comedy, relates the story of two sweet little old ladies with a weakness for poisoning little old men. Helping matters along is a nephew who believes he is Teddy Roosevelt leading the Rough Riders. Their humdrum lives are disrupted when one, or maybe two, extra corpses turn up.

Directing the three-act comedy will be Rev. David Pettingill and Sister Mary Edmund.

In the cast are Dorothy Zanotti as Martha and Kathleen Earll as Abby, the two leading ladies; Patrick Blake as the eccentric nephew; James Silvestri as nephew Mortimer; James Giovannoni as Jonathan; George Foster as Dr. Herman Einstein; Mark Werner as Dr. Harper; Susan Palleschi as Elaine Harper; Anne Lawrence as Officer Brophy; Robert Perrier as Officer Klein; Harry Gilbert as Officer O'Hara; Joan Bonfilio as Lieutenant Rooney; William Houston as Mr. Witherspoon, and Dennis Lee as Mr. Gibbs.

ACT Will Bring Shaw 'Misalliance' To TV

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area residents who have not seen the American Conservatory Theater in action will have a chance to watch the repertory group on television as KQED, Channel 9, airs "Misalliance", by George Bernard Shaw tomorrow at 9 p.m. and repeats it Sunday at 8 p.m.

"Misalliance" was filmed at the end of ACT's Stanford run last summer on location in an old Victorian mansion in Woodside. It is a two-hour show.

Church Displays Children's Art

A display of paintings by children from the Ignacio Nursery will be on display at the Church in Ignacio, 400 Ignacio Boulevard, through next week.

The show opened last night for parents, and will be open to the public weekdays from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and Sundays from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Hiring Practices Will Be Reviewed

The employment committee of the Human Rights Commission last night directed commission executive officer Robert Brauer to gather information from all public agencies in Marin on minority hiring practices.

Brouer will interview city managers and school superintendents as well as representatives of state and federal agencies operatiing in Marin.

Marin Planner Holds Time Key To Any General Plan

The county should adopt a general plan which sets goals by 1967 standards and needs, and should avoid a plan that is filed away and forgotten, Albert Solnit of the county planning department told the planning committee of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs last night.

Solnit, in charge of advance planning, described a new concept which he calls "process planning" which would allow continuous adjustment of policy and goals to take care of changing times.

"We really don't know what's coming up," Solnit said of future planning. The Marin General Plan the department proposes would enable planners to keep on top of new developments, he claimed.

He said the conventional master plan is usually something everyone struggles to complete by a certain date; it is then submitted and everyone goes home.

Under the proposed plan, the department would develop enough information of traffic movement and volumes, for instance, to predict the problems and needs with each new development, Solnit explained.

The eight members of the committee present voted unanimously to send formal invitation to cities and major districts in the county, to send representatives to future committee meetings.

The planning committee also voted to work toward publication of a booklet or preparation of a film to show the need and function of a county-wide general plan.

The motto of the state of Kansas is Ad Astra Per jaspera (to the stars through difficulties).

LABOR UNION DEPLORES ANY CIA FUNDING

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemens Union deplores the acceptance of CIA funds by organized labor and declares it "must be condemned by any honest trade unionist."

Despite Central Intelligence Agency secrecy, "enough has come to the surface to justify estimates that CIA money paid to organized labor was around $100 million a year," said a resolution adopted yesterday. "The American Newpaper Guild alone has received $1 million."

The resolution asserted the ILWU "has sought help of unions overseas and we have offered them our assistance. But we have never sought to interfere in their internal affairs."

Today's Graduates Held Hostile, Lacking Labor Union Knowledge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Although one-fourth of this generation's school children will go into union jobs, they are being graduated with a hostile attitude toward organized labor, the International Longshoremens' and Warehousemen's Union protested yesterday.

Delegates to the union's week-long convention adopted a resolution saying:

"Most students emerging from public schools don't even know what labor unions are. They are, to put it bluntly, leaving school with a great gap in their education.

"If they think they know anything at all, it is generally their opinion that unions are 'bad,' 'too big,' 'too militant,' or 'un-American'."

The ILWU long has supported a national health service, explaing, "we believe this in the long run offers the only way to put medical care on a satisfactory basis."

The delegates resolved:

"If the hospitals will not produce their figures, or if the figures do not in fact support the increases, the California Council for Health Alternatives threatens to seek legislation to declare the hospitals to be public utilities, subject to rate regulation."

Another resolution demanded more jobs to alleviate poverty.

Another, labelled "apathy in the labor movement," demanded that all union leaders "bring the American labor movement back to what it was meant to be—an integral part of the American way of life with a voice that speaks out on the issues of the day, and that uses its strength to give direction to the foreign and domestic policies of this country."

In other resolutions, the ILWU:

Recommended tax reform measures to produce a fairer tax system.

Pledged support to the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists in its strike against national television companies.

Criticized NBC newscaster Chet Huntley for crossing AFTRA picket lines and for advocating a back-to-work movement among striking TV newsmen and labelled him a fink.

Urged the United States to recognize Red China and to sanction trade with it, and urged the United Nations to seat Red China on the Security Council.

Asked the State Department to permit an ILWU delegation to go to Red China to study its labor movement.

Urged Congress to increase quickly the basic Social Security retirement benefit "as much as possible" and called President Johnson's recommendation for a 15 per cent increase "inadequate."

Called harassment the Internal Revenue Service's demand that the Sierra Club pay income taxes on money previously exempted as gifts.

Urged the government to protect forests and recreation areas "in the interest of Americans' right to a superlative natural and scenic heritage."

Labelled auto insurance rates "outrageous" and urged union officials to study the possibility of group auto insurance.

The first woman to fly in a balloon was Mmme. Thible, a French opera singer, on June 4, 1784.

Jury Set For Second Kesey Trial On Dope

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jury selection was completed yesterday in the second trial of author Ken Kesey on charges of possession of marijuana. His first trial ended in a hung jury.

The 32-year-old writer was arrested on a rooftop in North Beach a little over a year ago.

A Letter To San Rafael Voters

In 1965 there were 512 felony cases in the category which encompasses murder, rape, robbery, auto theft, aggravated assaults, etc. In 1966 there were 442 cases reported in this same category, a decrease of 13⅔ per cent. I therefore believe the officers have been doing an excellent job of crime prevention.

It has been mentioned that in the Terra Linda area there are certain times when there are no patrol cars in the area. This is not so because we have overlapping shifts on this beat, as we have on other beats.

We have a continuous training program in effect. Critiques by the shift commanders to the officers every day; monthly meetings where films are shown or lectures are given relative to all phases of police activities. We also send our officers to specialized police schools. One officer recently graduated from a 6 weeks course in law enforcement training from Diablo Valley Police Academy. Five officers are presently attending schools during their off-duty time, three attending a police supervisory course and two attending civil defense procedure course. Also there are officers attending police science courses at the College of Marin on their own, for which I have requested in this budget for allocation of funds to reimburse these students for any expenditures.

Siemens Rips At 'Political Techniques' Tried By Ring

Ring had a chance for rebuttal, but this was as close as the two candidates got to a debate. At this point, the moderator steered questions away from "personalities" toward district operations.

CARLISLE ISSUE

Earlier in the campaign Ring questioned the propriety of a business relationship between Siemens and District Supt. Chester G. Carlisle. Dr. Siemens is executive director of the Tamalpais, a retirement home, and Carlisle was president of the board of the project. Carlisle has since resigned from that board.

Siemens charged that "political techniques" are being used, "techniques that have never been used in high school district campaigns."

He said that information questioning ethics, "in part infactual," was "given to the press or made public" before it was presented to the board or the persons involved.

"Are these techniques in the campaign really benefitting the high school district?" he asked. "What is the motivation?" He also asked whether such publicity would "elevate the status of a school board or tend to demean," and "be disruptive."

There is a need "to maintain the status of the board and integrity of its members," he said.

Galen Williams asked for identification of the issues and candidate that Siemens meant, and Ring responded.

Ring, a former member of the Reed School District Board, said, "Nobody who serves eight years on a school board has an ulterior motive."

'POLICY QUESTION'

Raising the question of the business relationship bewteen Siemens and Carlisle "wasn't an attack on Siemens," he said. "I was just raising a question of policy" he said — of the propriety of such a relationship. "I think the superintendent and the board should be independent and the welfare of the district requires that they be."

At this point, Mrs. Samuel Newson, moderator, said, "We don't wish to get into personalities," and asked for questions concerning the district.

In her opening statement, Mrs. Bette Wallace, an incumbent, said the most pressing district need is classrooms, and she favored building the first stage of San Geronimo Valley high school as the first building move.

Mrs. Wallace contended there "is a lack of public knowledge about district-wide problems." She claimed that "time has run out" and even if funds were available, it would be three years before more high school classrooms would exist.

Ring said his purpose in the campaign has been to raise issues and engender public discussion that will continue after the campaign is over. There are critical issues "and too little has been done," he said. He charged that the board has been passive in its relationship with the administration, and should provide leadership.

UNIFICATION VIEW

Siemens said that district administration and board have been alert and "have kept up with issues." He said he was opposed to any unification plan that would divide the district.

Mrs. Wallace advocated establishing a "foundation for the education of Negro students" to aid those with educational problems. "We could apply for funds to other foundations," she said.

Tiny Apartments Get Pocket Veto

Brixon said he knew of a new apartment building in San Rafael filled with tiny studio apartments and warned against allowing them in Larkspur. "They're creeping up on us," he warned.

EARL J. O'GRADY
Takes over gavel

The ordinance was recommended by the planning commission for approval, but the council killed it by declining to act, leaving the zoning ordinance as it is.

Minimum floor area is now determined indirectly, by an ordinance allowing one apartment unit for each 2,000 square feet of land in a parcel.

SEWER BIDS

The council took its only available escape route out of a tangled sewer situation by authorizing advertising for bids for a sewer force main, leaving timing of the bids up to city staff.

City Engineer B. J. Whitlow said it will take several months for delivery of pipe because it must be designed specifically for the project. The main now crosses Corte Madera Creek and must be relocated to allow flood control dredging. Delay in getting the pipe could affect timing of the dredging by the Army Corps of Engineers, Whitlow said. If the flood control work is delayed, Larkspur could be liable for damages, he warned.

CHANGE COMPLAINT

Whitlow also complained about a last-minute request yesterday from the Ross Valley Sanitary District for a change in plans for the force main to meet needs of a district pumping station. The change would require complete redesign of plans, he said.

With authorization to seek bids, he said, the city can work out scheduling and other problems with the Army and the sanitary district, which must assure the Army Engineers that all preparatory work and land acquisition are done before dredging starts.

LAND TRADES

The Larkspur council completed its end of a territory exchange with Corte Madera by annexing a small area on Industrial Way, rescinding a call for a de-annexation election for the Christmas Tree Hill area, and consenting to detachment of Christmas Tree Hill from Larkspur.

Councilman Earl J. O'Grady was elected mayor for 1967-68, to succeed Marker. Councilman Alfred Malvino was named vice mayor. Both men were presented gavels by the Larkspur Volunteer Fire Department.

The volunteer firemen also presented the city with two pieces of equipment worth $1,200, a "Salvage Master" high-powered vacuum cleaner for rapid cleanup of water and debris, and a two-way radio unit for fire department calls.

The Larkspur City Council also:

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed O'Grady and Brixon to a committee to study establishing joint library facilities with Corte Madera. The committee will meet at 9 a.m. April 15 at Corte Madera Town Hall. The council will meet at 8 p.m. today at Larkspur City Hall with the Larkspur Library Board.

CLERICAL JOB — Withheld action on a proposal by City Mgr. Kent Bathurst to buy a $9,000 bookkeeping machine which he said would allow reorganization of clerical staff to eliminate one job. Councilmen Brixon and Henry Brocco were named a committee to study the machines available.

ENCROACHMENT — Delayed action on a proposed ordinance on right of way encroachments to allow the parks and recreation commission a chance to dovetail it with a new tree ordinance.

FIRE TAX — Passed a request to the county to eliminate Larkspur from the county structural fire tax levy. The request must be repeated annually.

DEEDS — Accepted a quitclaim deed from C. H. T. Wright for right-of-way along Doherty Drive, and a grant deed from Wright for right-of-way on Bon Air Road.

INSURANCE — Agreed to take up proposals for health and accident insurance for city employees during budget sessions.

BOTH SIDES CAUTIOUS

Search Still On For Compromise On Fate Of Strawberry's Pool

Strawberry Recreation District and Strawberry Swim Club last night each took a hesitant step back from the brink of what could be a long and costly legal battle over control of the Strawberry pool.

The club's attorney, William Kiriakis, told district directors he had requested the American Arbitration Association in San Francisco to hold in abeyance the club's call for arbitration proceedings, pending further efforts by both parties to find an amicable solution.

The district directors on their part made no effort to seize control of the pool and operate it yesterday, as previously threatened. They instructed their attorney, Stephen H. Kaufmann, to enter negotiations with Kiriakis.

POOL AT STAKE

The heart of the controversy is the determination of the district to take over the $64,000 pool which was built on district property and paid for by the club on the understanding that at the end of 20 years, ownership would revert to the district. The agreement between the club and district gave the latter the right to take over the pool on 60 days' notice.

The district board has for some time complained that the club serves only a limited number of residents and taxpayers of the district.

On Feb. 1, district directors terminated its agreement with the club on the ground that "the residents and taxpayers would benefit by the district's maintaining and operating a public swimming pool."

DEBT ISSUE

Out of that disagreement over whether the pool shall be publicly or privately operated have grown other differences as to how much the district would owe the club on the latter's investment if the agreement is terminated by negotiation or by legal action.

These matters were only obliquely touched on last night after Kiriakis read a conciliatory letter suggesting negotiations before both parties plunged further into "an extremely complex legal quagmire . . . that will require considerable expense and time to resolve, perhaps a couple of years."

The directors then went into closed session to confer with their attorney. They emerged an hour and a quarter later to announce that Kaufmann would enter talks with Kiriakis.

The board then continued the matter until a special meeting April 17 at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Point School.

DIRECTOR QUIZ

The board agreed to a request by James Garner that it determine whether director William H. McDonough, who was absent last night, is still a resident of the district and a qualified director. The board declined to grant Garner's request that it recommend him to the board of supervisors to fill any vacancy created by McDonough. Garner pointed out that he was first runner-up with 450 votes in the last district election.

Architect J. Martin Rosse reported a low bid of $3,460 had been received from A. J. Bresnan Co. of San Rafael for construction of a 46-foot diameter tot lot. This, he noted, was more than $1,000 above his estimate of $2,210. The board voted to accept the bid, however, but deferred till next fiscal year purchase of $1,500 in play equipment. Other bidders were Maggiori and Ghilotti, $3,990; Ghilotti Brothers, $4,198; Brown-Ely Co., $4,344, and E. A. Forde, $5,620.

The board designated the Allen residence at 301 East Strawberry Drive as the polling place from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 2 for the district's $23,000 bond election for dredging Strawberry Canal.

Marin Schools Vocation Day Set

Vocational information for high school students in Marin and Sonoma counties will be offered at a Marin-Sonoma Career Guidance Center April 24-29 or tn the Petaluma fairgrounds.

The center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

One grade level from each school will be invited to participate, the choice being up to the school, according to Arthur Walker, coordinator of occupational and technical education for the Marin County superintendent of schools.

Forty-two occupational areas will be presented to students, ranging from advertising, agriculture, architecture and art, to truck driving, veterinary, and youth service agencies, he said.

Mill Valley Candidates Center Talks On Middle School Plans

The proposal for a middle school — sixth, seventh and eighth grades —at Project 17 on Camino Alto was a prevailing issue at Park School last night.

Three candidates for the Mill Valley School District Board fielded questions about the proposed school and $3.5 million school bond issue in June at a candidates' night session. Tamalpais High School District candidates also appeared on the program.

FAVORS SITE

Joseph E. Bodovitz, an incumbent, favored the Project 17 location for a middle school, saying it is centrally located, will provide a saving to taxpayers and provide recreational facilities.

John K. Robinson said "the time is right" to work with the city on development of Project 17 and joint facilities.

Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Hepp said she supports the middle school, but opposes phasing out neighborhood schools and creating an "educational park."

Bodovitz said "no one has proposed an educational park" and the issue has become a "gremlin" in the campaign.

BOND NEED

He said the chief problem facing the district is facilities, and noted that the bond issue would finance not only the middle school, but improvement of existing schools.

Robinson said there are problems of inadequate buildings and financial resources. He said he will resign from the city planning commission if he is elected to the school board.

Robinson said there is a need to keep up communication between the school board, parents, teachers and students. He suggested occasional meetings at homes of trustees with parents, teachers and students to discuss education.

Mrs. Hepp said there has been a diversity in viewpoint as to what direction "to take in our schools." the extreme opposite views might be leaving the schools unchanged or tearing everything down and building one central school, she said.

As for an educational park, she said that "it may be brought up again. It is a decision of the board, a policy they can make, and change."

One resident asked Bodovitz why the proposed middle school would have to have "50 classrooms."

Bodovitz said that it would provide additional facilities, and would be able to accommodate the growth. "There is a great deal of undeveloped land in Mill Valley now that will be developed," he said.

Bodovitz said the district is at its maximum tax rate, and the rate cannot be raised without a vote by the people. The board is not contemplating a tax boost in the next fiscal year, "but there will be a fiscal problem in the following fiscal year," he said.

The session was sponsored by the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association Council, the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, and the Mill Valley Branch, American Association of University Women. Mrs. Samuel Newson was moderator. About 100 persons attended.

District's Record Argued By Tam Board Candidates

Appearing on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program were David D. Ring and incumbents John C. Siemens and Bette Wallace.

The incumbents devoted themselves largely to endorsement of the present board's record of accomplishment while Ring renewed earlier campaign charges that the district's $2.5 million reserve fund is too large; that not enough had been done to forestall crowding at Sir Francis Drake and Redwood High Schools; more effective liaison between the district and the elementary schools was needed.

Siemens and Mrs. Wallace took the position that the building program to alleviate crowding was under careful scrutiny by the board, and that close community relations being developed by the board would help to secure passage of future building program bond issues.

In response to questions phoned in by the radio audience, none of the candidates offered any hope of reducing the present $1.90 tax rate, the maximum the district can levy, and has almost consistently since 1959. Relief, they agreed, will have to be sought at the state level.

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording on KTIM at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen Support Little League

Spring training for the district's softball team was scheduled for next Tuesday, weather permiting.

The old-timers ball game at Judge Field was scheduled for May 20 at 3 p.m., a game in which "active youngsters and oldsters in the fire department" will compete, according to Lawrence J. Bogel, vice president.

Chief Franklin J. Buscher announced the volunteer force is four men short of the regular 32-man crew.

SAN CLEMENTE CANDIDATES' NIGHT SLATED

Candidates for Tamalpais High School District and Larkspur-Corte Madera School District boards will speak at a candidates' night next Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. at San Clemente School, sponsored by the Mariner Cove Improvement Association and San Clemente Parent-Teacher Association.

Candidates for the high school district board are David D. Ring and incumbents Dr. John C. Siemens and Bette Wallace, and for the Larkspur board, incumbents Curtis P. Kamai and Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone.

Reagan Backs Master Plan For Redwoods

The plan "will permit government and private interests to go about their respective jobs without further harassment," he said in his message on state parks to the legislature.

He also confirmed his intention to freeze spending of most park bond funds pending "a thorough re-examination of all proposals." The only bond monies to be spent, meanwhile, will go for "critical land of unquestionable quality."

The governor said he will propose legislation to merge the state park and recreation commissions into one nine-member body to develop recreation policies.

Patrick To Address Mill Valley Jaycees

William Penn Patrick, president of Holiday Magic Cosmetics ad political aspirant, will speak at Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce's eighth annual distinguished service award dinner and bosses' night April 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the community and youth center.

The distinguished service award is given a young man in Southern Marin "who has demonstrated outstanding community service, leadership and business in the past year."

Blood Test Use Upheld On Appeal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Blood samples of suspected California drunk drivers may be taken without court warrants, without the suspect's permission and even if they are unconscious, an appeal court has ruled.

The case involved misdemeanor drunken driving charges against Ellen Dolores McDonald, brought originally in Yuba City Justice Court. Subsequently, Sutter County Superior Court issued an order restraining the lower court from prosecution, however.

But the Third District Court of Appeal ruled yesterday that California law clearly recognizes police officers in emergency or exceptional circumstances may make "reasonable search without a warrant or consent."

The appeal court, reversing the Sutter court order, said it made no difference that charges against the driver involved misdemeanor, rather than felony, drunken driving.

More than 2,700 makes of automobiles have been manufactured in the United States since 1893.

Novato Dumping Causes Creek Woes

Trash dumped in Novato drainage ditches and creeks caused some minor flooding in last week's rains, according to Lawrence A. Coleman, Novato public works director.

Warning that it is against a city ordinance to dump either on private or public property, Coleman said his department will start a patrol to catch violators.

Withholding Tax Pressure Mounts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Pressure on Gov. Ronald Reagan to abandon his firm stand against withholding state income taxes from paychecks soared today, extending even to top Republicans, as well as Democratic leaders.

Something of a disagreement between the state's two top elected officials, both Republicans, developed yesterday when Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch conditionally endorsed the hotly debated withholding system.

He told a reporter "I'm against withholding just to impose withholding for revenues, but I'm willing to take the bite if it is couped with inventory tax relief."

Such relief for the businessman is included in the $1.15 billion tax bill sponsored by Republican Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto. The Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee he heads adopted, at his request, an amendment to the bill earlier in the day inserting the withholding tax method into the measure.

Before he met with a committee aide and Republican State Controller Houston I. Flournoy—who has said the state would benefit from withholding — the Lieutenant Governor told a reporter he felt Reagan "hasn't made any final judgment" on withholding.

He met later with the Governor, however, and admitted when he emerged that Reagan seemed to be more anti - withholding than Finch had reckoned on.

Veneman and Finch weren't the only ones bringing direct or indirect pressure on the Governor. The head of the Assembly's 42-member Democratic majority, Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood, commented:

"The inclusion of income tax withholding in Assemblyman Veneman's tax bill now places the responsibility squarely on the Governor to indicate his reasonableness and willingness to compromise on a sound revenue plan . . ."

Reagan's last public statement on withholding was, "I'm just unalterably opposed . . . My inclination now would be to say I would veto it." He quipped, however, that his resolve might break if he were "bound hand and foot . . . and they held a hot iron to my feet."

Rumford Act's Repeal Claimed A Certainty

In a surprise move yesterday the Senate's toughest committee — Governmental Efficiency—cleared for floor action a Rumford Act repeal bill authored originally by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin.

Three weeks earlier the committee had heard the bill but took no action. Opponents thought it was bottled up in the committee, which often serves as the Senate's "graveyard" committee.

Yesterday, however, Sen. Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, the Senate's powerful president pro tempore, added his name as the major sponsor and the bill came out on a voice vote with a "do pass" recommendation. There was no discussion.

The move caught the Senate's most vocal proponent of open housing—Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles—by surprise. He is the Senate's only Negro.

Dymally said because of a feeling the bill would not come up again in the Senate many civil rights groups "just took it easy so to speak."

The repeal bill could come up for floor action tomorrow. Schmitz predicted flatly it will pass.

It will be the Senate's second struggle with open housing this session. Last month Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, led an attempt to block Gov. Ronald Reagan's nomination of Burton E. Smith as state real estate commissioner, because he had worked for Proposition 14.

The Senate went ahead and confirmed Smith's appointment.

Schmitz said he expected his repealer to pass the Senate with the support of all the body's Republicans and "at least four" Democrats. Dymally said he also expected the vote "is going to be awful close." Democrats hold a narrow 21-19 margin in the upper house.

When Clemson University opened its doors in 1893 there were only 446 sutdents. Today the enrollment is more than 5,000.

Drugmobile Nets Agents Lots Of LSD

DENVER (AP)—Federal agents, who already claim to have seized more than 15 pounds of LSD, continued their search today through a truck - mounted chemical laboratory that apparently produced the hallucinogenic drug.

The 15-pound lot, if marketed illegally in individual capsules, would be "well worth $1 million" if it tests the same quality as an earlier seizure of eight ounces from the truck, an agent said.

The truck, equipped with condensers, heaters and other chemical - producing apparatus, was confiscated last Friday at the Dinosaur port of entry in northwestern Colorado after the two men riding in it failed to stop at the port. The truck was westbound.

They gave their names as Nicholas Sand, 25, and David L. Mantell, 26, both of Los Altos, Calif. They are held in jail at Craig, Colo., but officials said no federal charges have been filed.

Resnick Trial Opens In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) —The prosecution began to build its case today in the trial of Painters Union official Ben Rasnick, accused of killing fellow union official Lloyd Green.

A jury of seven men and five women was impaneled yesterday in Alameda County Superior Court.

Judge Redmond C. Statts Jr., before the start of testimony, set rules for news coverage of the trial. He banned picture-taking during recesses and ordered the press not to publish the names of the jurors.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Laws May Block Some Damages

In a recent case Charlie Crash made a fast turn in a parking lot and ran into Phil Fumble's car. Charlie knew that he had hit Phil's car and should have stopped, but he drove off.

Unknown to him, Phil was nearby and ran after Charlie yelling for him to stop. Poor Phil wasn't watching where he was going. He tripped over a curb and broke his arm.

Charlie had to pay for the damages to Phil's car but the court refused to make him pay for his broken arm. Though Charlie had broken the law, the law was not really aimed to protect him from the harm of which he complained. It was to protect owners of unattended cars from financial loss by persons who hit and run. It was not to protect persons chasing after the hit-and-runners.

To be the basis of a new law suit the violation of a law must be directly related to a person's injuries or damages.

For example, a driver may have had an expired license when the accident occurred. This does not mean that the driver was negligent. The purpose of the licensing laws is partly for driver safety, but also for revenue, for identification and the like. Just an expired license does not prove negligence in driving.

In another case, Smith left his key in his unattended car in a downtown business area, a violation of the city ordinance. The car was stolen and the thief negligently ran into Jones. A car owner could not be to blame for a thief's bad driving. Some other evidence of negligence must be shown.

Perhaps he left the car parked in a skidrow area where an irresponsible person could easily take a car for a joy ride. That would show negligence for which an innocent bystander injured by the thief could base a claim against the car owner.

Special laws may limit the right to recovery even where there is negligence.

For example, a city cleaned out its water lines and closed off one of the valves and forgot to open it again for a month. Meantime a fire broke out at Brown's house. Lack of water kept firemen from stopping the blaze and Brown's house burned down.

Brown sued the city, but the court refused to give Brown any relief. The city could not be sued for its inability to stop a fire nor for its lack of water to fight a blaze. This is so even though the City had failed to open its water main.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

U.S. Jury Indicts Banker Again On Big Theft

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Roger Lee Williams, 28, a former bank official who disappeared with $500,000, has been indicted for the second time by a federal grand jury.

The indictment returned yesterday supercedes the one handed down last Jan. 18. It charges the former assistant cashier of the Security - First National Bank branch in Riverside with larceny from a national bank and entering a bank with intent to commit larceny.

The indictment said Williams stole $196,348 in cash, $158,900 in traveler's checks, 600 bank money orders, 600 cashier's checks and an electric check protectograph.

Suspect Hears Marijuana Count

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entry for 2 p.m. April 19.

Hernandez, released without bail, is accused of having a small tin can full of marijuana in his possession last Sept. 30 in San Rafael. He was arrested Monday in Novato by Jesse P. Foster, state narcotics agent.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Emotions Play Major Role In Proper Heart Functions

VAN DELLEN

Love and pity are emotions that are not harmful to the heart. The old ticker works best when the individual is courteous, generous, and friendly. In contrast, uncontrolled anger, hate, jealousy, resentment, frustration, and selfishness, are enemies of the heart. The same can be said of fear, insecurity, and worry.

Such feelings set up impulses that stimulate the cardiac organ. During anger or excitement, for example, the structure beats faster and its muscle demands more blood which the coronary arteries must furnish. When these vessels are narrowed by arteriosclerosis they may be unable to supply the demand. This is the basis for the pain of angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis.

EMOTIONAL OUTBURSTS are not easy to avoid because our world is complex and competitive. The heart is likely to suffer when we conceal our tensions and allow anger and fear to smolder within ourselves. Some obtain relief by "blowing their top."

One of my colleagues never hesitates to even the score when someone makes a cutting remark; he claims he feels better when he gets these comments off his chest. I must admit that this attitude has not enhanced his popularity but it meets his special need. There are easier ways to let off steam, but to each his own.

IT IS BETTER to recognize the origin of fear, anxiety, and frustration. Anger or hostility toward those we love or are associated with is childish. Look at the bright side and be willing to recognize honest differences of opinion. An internal safety valve of this kind is not easy to acquire and may be difficult to put into action, but once mastered, clear thinking and peace of mind follow.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

SAWDUST ALLERGY

Mrs. B. R. writes: My husband is a carpenter and has received a diagnosis of allergic dermatitis from sawdust. Does any special type of wood cause this condition?

REPLY

A small percentage of woodworkers become sensitized to wood or its components (resins, oils, and the like). Occasionally the allergy is a fungus infection of the tree. The condition has been noted in those who work with virtually all types of wood: poplar, alder, oak, birch, and down the line.

MOTHER'S BOY

Mrs. D. L. writes: I have trouble getting my husband out of bed in the morning. His mother always used to call him and when I try to waken him he calls me mother. I can't understand this as we have been married six years.

REPLY

How long had he been a bachelor before getting married? This may be the time to buy an alarm clock and tell him he is on his own.

ICE CUBE EATER

N. R. K. writes: I'm an ice cube addict but the habit does not seem to harm me in any way. Yet my friends keep nagging me to stop eating the cubes. Can you give me one good reason why I should quit?

REPLY

No, if your teeth and tummy can take it. It's a much better habit than chewing tobacco and indulging in Scotch on the rocks.

WOOL BLANKET

F. K. writes: Is it harmful to sleep with a wool blanket next to you, without a sheet? I stay warmer this way during chilly nights.

REPLY

No harm unless wool causes itching or allergy symptoms.

DOTES ON BREAD

T. G. writes: I eat a lot of bread. Is it injurious to my health?

REPLY

No, provided room is left for meat, fruit, eggs, vegetables, milk, and other food essentials.

OUR CONSTITUENTS

R. T. writes: My doctor says I'm 80 per cent nerves and 20 per cent anemia. What do you suppose he means?

REPLY

Anyone who makes this diagnosis should prescribe the remedy. I have read that we are 91 per cent oxygen, hydrogen, carbon, and nitrogen, but this has nothing to do with your problem. I assume he means that 80 per cent of your symptoms are of nervous origin.

JACKSONIAN EPILEPSY

M. B. writes: What kind of epilepsy is jacksonian?

REPLY

A peculiar form of the disease in which the convulsive movements start in the muscles of the hand, foot, or face and spread slowly. The seizure may end spontaneously or it may be stopped by squeezing the part; if severe, it may involve the remainder of the body with generalized convulsions and loss of consciousness.

EARLY GLAUCOMA

V. M. writes: Can glaucoma be detected in an early stage?

REPLY

Yes. Careful examination of the eyes by a competent ophthamologist is required, however. Many glaucoma victims postpone examination because they do not recognize the telltale symptoms.

NASAL LESIONS

M. R. L. writes: You stated recently that rectal polyps are precancerous. Does this mean nasal polyps also?

REPLY

Nasal polyps rarely, if ever, become cancerous and in this respect differ from the type that develop in the rectum or intestine. Allergy is the most likely cause of these nasal lesions.

A BAD HABIT

Mrs. P. R. writes: My 7-months-old baby eats and sleeps well and seems healthy but some days her temperature goes up to 100 degrees. Does this indicate an infection somewhere in her body?

REPLY

Not if she seems otherwise healthy and behaves in a normal fashion. A rise to 100 degrees F. in children is not unusual after activity. Is there any particular reason why you keep taking her temperature?

Curbs On Naming School Buildings

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A school district couldn't name a building after a living board member of district employee under a bill approved 30-4 by the Senate yesterday.

The bill "gives the school district the opportunity of avoiding pressure put on it . . . by persons connected with the district," said Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, sponsor of the bill which now goes to the Assembly.

Blood Bank Schedule

The mobile unit of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank will be at Woodacre Improvement Club from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, the San Geronimo Valley Lions Club has announced. Appointments for donors are not required, the club said.

Engineers Leave Shows To Complicate TV Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Walkouts by engineers and other technicians in sympathy with the AFTRA performers strike took hold today in sevegal areas of network radio and television, as officials of NBC and ABC said "amateur" replacements were responsible for a night of wavering sound and blurred pictures.

"We'll have them rerunning reruns soon," a union leader said after engineers stayed away from work today at ABC and NBC in New York. Their ABC and NBC counterparts at Los Angeles said they too would refuse to work.

The engineers, members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, were among 15 theatrical unions, including cameramen, technicians, stagehands, set designers, musicians and electricians who voted yesterday to support the nine-day old strike of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

The move "will obviously hurt us," a network spokesman said. AFTRA's executive secretary, Donald F. Conaway commented: "If this doesn't shut down the networks it will surely slow them down."

In immediate jeopardy was weekend sports coverage, including the Masters golf tournament on CBS, although that network reported its engineers were on their jobs.

News staffs will be reduced for President Johnson's scheduled trip Monday to Punta del Este, Uruguay, and the networks said there will be no satellite coverage as once contemplated.

It was also announced yesterday that Monday's presentation of motion picture Academy Awards would go on as scheduled even if the strike is not resolved and the Oscar show is not broadcast.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Caesar, Coca Show Falters In Places

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —"The Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris Special," an informative title if there ever was one, was the name of last night's CBS-TV hour reuniting four stars of television's early days.

Viewers who recall the wit, gaiety and wildness of the foursome will remember that they brought genuine sophistication and satire to the home screen in their better moments —which were many—on the series called "Your Show of Shows."

I use the qualifying phrase—"in their better moments"—because I think it is something of a legitimate excuse for the fact that the hour probably left many viewers rather disappointed at not seeing sheer genius for a solid hour. The old "Your Show of Shows" wasn't always so great either despite its superior batting average, but I must confess I remember it as being decidedly more inspired — even on its off-nights—than it was last night.

I was encouraged at the start by a sketch in which Caesar and Miss Coca played two Americans, strangers to each other, who meet at an outdoor cafe in Paris. Their timing sparked memories of the happy past; the lines that savored the cutting up of cliches were dandy and the mood of comedic finesse was set.

Then suddenly things fell apart, and it struck this viewer that perhaps it was just unreasonable to expect everything to be just perfect for the stars after so much time apart.

Council Asked To Stall Main Street Decision

Sausalito Planning Commission last night asked the city council to defer to May action on widening of Main Street, reported Vice Chairman Robert L. Nissen.

Public Works Director Norman Wohlschlaeger was asked to present details of his plan for the widening to commissioners April 19. Commissioners received a copy of a letter Wohlschlaeger sent property owners on the five-block street, but declined to consider the proposal without a full presentation of the plan, Nissen said.

City councilmen agreed Tuesday to take a field trip Saturday at 11 a.m. to look at the street. Many residents of the street oppose the widening.

Sausalito Planning Commissioners also:

GATE THEATER — Recommended a conditional use permit sought by D. Mordant to convert the Gate Theater to commercial use, agreeing the conversion would not conflict with the proposed central waterfront general plan. A variance from off-street parking requirements still will be necessary.

COFFEE HOUSE — Recommended a permit to Gary W. Penders to operate a small coffee house with entertainment at 2222 Bridgeway.

PURITY STORE — Deferred to May 3 a use permit application from Trident Productions to convert the former Purity store to commercial use, pending study of proposed swap with the city of land outboard of the site.

PARKING—Denied a variance application by Gustaf Ronsen to provide two parking spaces instead of the four required for a Duplex at 36 Edwards Avenue.

Victim Improving

Workman Hit, Telephone Service Cut

A telephone repairman suffered a fractured leg yesterday and phone service was out to 70 homes in Forest Knolls throughout the night because a car went off Castro Street and hit the man and his equipment at 7:10 p.m.

William J. Martin, 35, of Petaluma, an installer for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., was working on a defective telephone concentrator on Castro Street.

A crew worked all night to replace the concentrator, according to Peter W. Tibbetts, southern Marin Pacific Telephone manager. Service was expected to be fully restored by 10 a.m. today, Tibbetts said.

Veteran Julius Boros In Early Masters Lead

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Thurs., April 6, 1967 37

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Veteran Julius Boros carved out a one-under-par 71 today and took the early first round lead in the wind-swept Masters Golf Tournament.

The 47-year-old Boros, a two-time U.S. Open champion and winner of two tournaments this year, overtook faltering Dave Marr in the early going, while co-favorites Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus were just getting started on the 6,980-yard Augusta National Course.

Marr, the 1956 PGA champion, was three under par at 33 on the front nine, but slipped to a 40 coming home for 73.

A strong, gusty wind wrecked a number of scores but the bright, sunny weather lured a huge gallery to the lush, flower-bedecked course.

Don January, another of the early starters, also had his troubles on the back nine. He turned in 34 and finished at 74.

Marr had bogey son five of the first six holes coming home and January bogeyed four of the first five.

But it didn't bother Boros. He had a birdie four on 15 and played the rest of the back nine in par after a birdie and a bogey on the front nine.

Palmer, a four-time champion, parred the first six holes he played, while Nicklaus picked up a birdie on two and was one under after three.

Nicklaus needed only a three-foot putt for the birdie after driving far over the new trap in the fairway that forced most players to play short.

He appeared to be ignited by a tremendous second shot on the first hole after he had hooked his drive into the trees. He punched a five iron under the pines, over a trap and five feet from the hole.

Giants Get One Vote But So Do The Cubs

HOW SWEET IT IS — Okay, you guys, watch the language. No dirty stories today. And let's all be on our very best behaviour, shall we?

Don't tell the guys down in the locker room, but we have lady visitors in the sports department today.

The sugary little confectioneries of the I-J's Marin Women section, apparently fed up to their auxiliaries with Chantilly lace cages, eggshell linen, white moire, peau de soie, delune peau and peau-peau-bedo, have tippy-toed into this sweat box we call an office with their annual forecast for the 1967 National League pennant race. I must say, their mere presence in this den scared heck out of us.. It isn't every day we have four skirts marching in the door, you know.

MOST SOCIETY cupcakes think baseball is a dance at the Hamilton Field Officers Club and that an audible is a woman's prerogative. Take one to Caldlestick and she'll admire the lawn. They think a two-bagger is a double ring ceremony and that sliding pads belong in the lingerie repair shop.

But not our little social lollipops. No sir, the I-J's baggage department has four sports-minded scriveners who KNOW that Candlestick is a baseball stadium and that the National League has nothing to do with the League of Women Voters.

SO, I WANT you guys to pay attention to these predictions by the I-J's Barbara "Spike" Hosmer, Patricia "Home Run" Zinn, Lois "Golden Glove" Sens and plain old Molly Marin. (To tell the truth, I have never met Molly, but I've heard a lot about her family.)

Anyway, "Spike" Hosmer favors the Giants to pilfer the ol' senior loop bunting. She picks the Pirates second and the Braves third.

MISS ZINN sees a gonfolan for the Pirates with the Giants second and Dodgers third.

Miss Sens senselessly but perhaps sentimentally scents a flag for the Chicago Cubs (I kid you not). She picks the Houston Astros to finish second (to the Russians?) and the Giants third. (No one has told her about the Cubs, oviously.)

AND, BY GOLLY, Molly Marin predicts a championship for the Planned Parenthood Association, followed by the Degree of Pocahontas in second place and Pixie Parents third.

ALL STARE — Drake High's Jerry Sprout and Chet Carlisle have won honors on the All-North basketball squad announced today by the San Francisco Chronicle. Sprout was named to the first team while Carlisle gets honorable mention.

TV TIP — For good listening with your viewing, turn off the sound on your TV set and listen to Bill (KNBR) King's radio account of the Warriors-Hawks game Saturday night. This just proves that Sausalitan King doesn't miss a dribble.

FOURTH ANNUAL Marin Sports Injury Conference is booked for Saturday, May 6, at San Rafael High School, the cosponsoring Marin Medical Society and Marin County Superintendent of Schools have announced.

One lively topic on the agenda will be the "Emotional Aspects of Sports."

Gary Player, Once A Tiny Tiger, Has Turned Into A Coy Kitten

The fiercely burning competitive drive that made him one of the most feared golfers in the world has dwindled to a flicker and he's the forgotten man of the Big Three.

"I don't get charged up any more," the dapper little South African said today as he teed off in another Masters. "I keep trying to get it back, get that drive, that desire, but it just isn't there any more.

"When you have achieved all your goals, your thinking changes, your whole outlook on life changes."

Player, along with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, made up the Big Three that dominated the game for several years. But that all changed in 1965 when Gary won the U.S. Open championship in St. Louis.

"I was so wound up then I didn't know where I was," Player recalled. "I didn't want to talk to people. I had a short temper. I was almost obsessed."

That changed when he won the title in a playoff with Kel Nagle.

"That did it," Player said. "When I won that one I felt I had achieved everything and I stopped working on golf."

The victory made him only the third man to win all four major tournaments — the Open, the Masters, the PGA and the British Open — and he went into semi-retirement.

He made infrequent appearances last year, was not a factor in any major tournament and isn't expected to be in this one.

Palmer, the only four-time Masters champ, and Nicklaus, defending champion and three-time winner, were co-favorites at 6-1 when the field of 83 of the world's best golfers teed off on the demanding 6,980-yard, par 72 Augusta National Course.

Doug Sanders and U.S. Open Champ Billy Casper were next at 8-1 while Player, Gay Brewer and Julius Boros were listed at 10-1.

"I'm playing quite nicely — but not great," he said, then turned philosophical.

"Golf is a lot like marriage," he said. "You have to work at it to make a success of it. And I just haven't been working at golf. I used to practice six hours a day. But I don't any more.

"I'll play until the day I fall over, but there are other things in life. I have five lovely children and a wonderful farm and all the money I'll need.

"I'm happy and content."

Seals Lose Playoff Opener On Two Lucky Totem Goals

SEATTLE (UPI)—The California Seals played well, but still were 1-0 down in their Western Hockey League semi-final battle with Seattle today.

The Totems took a 3-1 decision last night in the opener over California, but the Seattle goals were a bit lucky and the last one came in the open net.

That one was a 115-footer with 50 seconds to go as Don Chiz took the puck from the six attacking Seals and registered a tally.

The first Seattle goal came when Tom Thurlby put the puck into his own net during hectic action around the net. Bill Dineen got credit since he was the last Seattle player to touch the puck. Jim Powers sent a soft one off Jack McCartan's skate moments later and the Seals were down 2-0 after six minutes. Ed Hoekstra scored later in the first period for the Seals, who were blanked thereafter.

McCartan stopped 30 and Seattle's Jim McLeod 29 in a busy night for both netmen. One bright spot for the Seals was the performance of Ron Harris, who returned off the injury shelf recently and has picked right up where he left off. He dominated play when he was on the ice, but just couldn't shove through a goal for the Seals.

He and the rest of the Californians will try again tomorrow night at Seattle in the second game.

Defunct League Owes Sharman

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The American Basketball League called it quits five years ago, but it lost another decision yesterday to coach Bill Sharman, who is now the successful head man of the San Francisco Warriors.

The California Appellate Court upheld a Superior Court decision awarding the ex-Boston Celtics star $17,682.90 as unpaid salary on a two-year contract with the defunct Los Angeles Jets.

Sharman contended in his suit he had been hired at $20,000 a year by the ABL club but that his services had been severed on Jan. 12, 1962 when the circuit folded.

Redwood Prep Golfers Win

Redwood High School's golf team yesterday increased its practice record to 4-0 with a 25 261 victory over Lincoln High of San Francisco, at Hurding Purk in San Francisco.

The match was played over nine holes instead of the regulation 18 due to rain.

Redwood Winners — Tim McMurray, 42; Al Fritz, 43; Norm Hantzsche, 41; Richard Grey, 46; Scott Murphy, 41; Lance Krigbuam, 43.

Tito Fuentes Reinjures His Ankle

That's especially true in baseball. Many a kid has gotten his big chance whn an established player has suffered an injury.

The latest to fit that category are shortstops Tito Fuentes and Cesar Gutierrez. Tito is the injured incumbent and Cesar the hungry young kid.

Fuentes suffered an ankle sprain early in spring training this year and as a result has played only five innings.

While Tito sat and fretted, Gutierrez, who played with Fresno in the Class A California League last year, was given a chance to make good. For the most part he split shortstop duties with the veteran Jim Davenport.

Yesterday, manager Herman Franks dropped the bad news when he announced Fuentes suffered torn ligaments in his bad ankle while trying to play in a scrub game last Sunday with the Phoenix farm club. Now there is no telling when he will be able to play.

Fuentes hit .261 with nine homers in his rookie campaign a year ago and the Giants were counting on a big year from him in 1967. Gutierrez, who stands only 5-9 and weighs 155 pounds, has been sparkling afield in Fuentes' absence and has a .341 batting average to boot. Davenport, starting his 10th year wih the Giants, is hitting an even loftier .382.

Franks said he isn't sure who will be in the opening day lineup against the Cardinals in St. Louis next Tuesday. One thing for sure: Fuentes won't.

Clinic At 1 O'Clock

The lacrosse clinic scheduled Saturday at Drake High School is at 1 p.m., not 10:30 a.m. as reported Tuesday in the Independent-Journal.

Giants Oppose Angels

FRESNO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants served Cleveland a baseball potpourri yesterday — a three-run homer, a freak Willie Mays tally, and a run-scoring double—but finally emerged with a 6-5, 10-inning victory. That gave them their spring series with the Indians, 5-4.

Today, San Francisco's National Leaguers challenged another American League club, the California Angels, with left-hander Mike McCormick the probable Giant pitcher.

The potpourri served in Modesto:

Willie McCovey hit a three-run homer, his first circuit clout of the year, to propel the Giants into a 3-0 first inning lead.

MAYS SCORES

Willie Mays got an infield hit and so worried the Indian pitcher, Steve Hargan, that Hargan threw wild in a pickoff attempt, putting Mays on second. An infield out and a wild pitch by still unsettled Hargan put Mays across.

In the tenth, Ken Henderson doubled to the center field fence scoring Dick Dietz who had singled.

Ollie Brown had singled McCovey home with the other run.

McCovey, who has been struggling for hits all spring, nevertheless is leading the Giants in runs-batted-in with 13. Mays and Jesus Alou each has 10.

Willie Mc had a single along with his home run and has included five doubles in his total of 15 hits in 56 at bats for a .268 batting average.

ANXIOUS

He's so anxious to improve that at Berkeley on Monday he asked — and was granted—permission to play in a Giants B game.

Ron Herbel may have won the fourth spot in the Giants pitching rotation behind Juan Marichal, Gaylord Perry and Bob Bolin.

He gave up all Cleveland runs —three of them in the fourth on a walk and four singles — but had pitched exceedingly well. In 13 previous innings he had an earned run average of .69 but saw it soar to 2.84 yesterday.

42-POINT RALLY

St. Louis Third Quarter Too Much For Warriors

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bill Bridges, a demon off the backboards, and a 42-point third quarter by St. Louis proved too much for San Francisco last night.

The Hawks clipped the Warriors 115-109 in the third game of the National Basketball Association's Western Division final playoffs. The victory cut San Francisco's lead in the best-of-7 series to 2-1.

The 6-foot-5 Bridges pulled down a career high 32 rebounds and scored 25 points.

High-scoring Rick Barry, who averaged better than 45 points in the first two games, scored 31 for the Warriors, 15 on free throws.

FOUL TROUBLE

The big problem for San Francisco, however, was Nate Thurmond, who was hampered with five personal fouls, three in the first quarter. The big center scored only 10 points but did get 21 rebounds.

The Hawks started slowly and didn't catch up until Bridges scored with 9:13 left in the third period. St. Louis then opened up a 15-point lead, outscoring San Francisco 42-28 in the period.

The Warriors outscored the Hawks in the other three periods.

The two teams play the fourth game of the series in St. Louis Saturday night. The fifth game will be played Monday night in San Francisco. Saturday night's game will be televised live on KTVU, Channel 2, as was the game last night.

GOT JUMP

Player-Coach Richie Guerin of the Hawks said, "Every game we've played so far in the series we've had a slow start in the first and third quarters. It happened again tonight in the first quarter, but in the third quarter we played well and got the jump.

Guerin added that "under the conditions, this has to be Bridges' best game. He was playing with an ankle that had to be given a shot before the game and a bad knuckle."

Thurmond, 6-foot-11, said his shorter rival, Bridges, "played a heck of a game." But the big Warrior said his foul problems stymied him.

SETTLE FOR SPLIT

Thurmond added that he didn't expect to win the series in four straight games. "I'd settle for a split in St. Louis," he said.

Bridges, who has 129 rebounds and 109 points in six playoff games, admitted that "some nights rebounds fall better."

When asked why he did so well in the playoffs, Bridges said, "I think I play well in the playoffs not because I'm a money player, but because I haven't played on a championship team since high school.

"Ever since I've been with the Hawks, we've been in the playoffs and come so close to winning. . . but we just haven't won one yet."

Rookie Lou Hudson trailed Bridges in scoring with 18 points, 12 in the big third quarter.

ONE-HORSE RACE?

Aqueduct May Open Gates On Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Aqueduct race track, closed for two days by a boycott of horsemen in a dispute over purses, will open Saturday even if only one horse is entered in a race, the chairman of the New York Racing Association said today.

The chairman, James Cox Brady, declared "we have every sympathy for the horsemen in their fight for increased purses and fully understand their resentment. But they have made their point. Now we expect the owners and trainers stabled in New York to cooperate with management in putting on a full card of races on Saturday."

There was no immediate response from Jack Dreyfus Jr., temporary head of the New York division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, an organization of owners which instigated the boycott.

The dispute centered on the failure of the New York State Legislature, which adjourned Sunday, to allocate an additional $3.5 million for purses.

In the past two days horse owners have refused to enter any races and the big track has been closed.

"Even if only one horse is entered in a race, that race will go on," said Brady.

"We have a responsibility to the public and a serious obligation to the more than 2,000 employes who have been thrown out of work."

The entry box was opened again today for tomorrow's races but at 11 a.m. EST not one horse had been entered.

Turbine Car Enters Field For Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A turbine-powered car developed by Studebaker's STP Division was entered by Andy Granatelli today for the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Auto Club, which sanctions the 500, announced Harlan Fengler of Dayton, Ohio, will be chief steward for the 10th straight year.

His chief assistants again will be Don Cummins, Columbus, Ind., referee, and Paul Johnson, Los Angeles, steward.

Henry Banks, USAC director of competition, said other returning veterans will include S.A. Silbermann, technical committee chairman; Richard E. Sauer, timing and scoring director; Ray House, chief timer; Pat Vidan, chief starter; Walter R. Myers, chief observer, and Dr. Thomas A. Hanna, medical director.

With April 15 the deadline for entries, 66 cars have been entered for the race. Time trials will be the weekends of May 13-14 and May 20-21.

Terra Linda-Novato Game Is Called Off

Terra Linda High School's scheduled baseball game with Novato High tomorrow at Albert Field in San Rafael has already been called off, Trojans' coach Don Lucas announced today. Makeup day was tentatively set for next Wednesday.

Heavy Hollywood Gamble On Gregory Peck's Horse

Different Class, the 7-year-old owned by Peck, has won twice and placed third twice in his last four outings.

Fans at Aintree said there had been a heavy Hollywood gamble on Peck's horse in the four miles, 856 yards race over a turf course involving 30 rough obstacles.

This is the second time Peck has tried to win the National — a race first run in 1837. His Owen's Sedge finished seventh to Ayala four years ago.

Oakland Will Get 50 Cage Games

OAKLAND (AP) — Fifty professional basketball games will be played in Oakland next season.

The new American Basetball Association's team and the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association each will play 18 games in the new Oakland Arena.

The ABA team will play 14 more home games in the Oakland Auditorium.

The Oakland ABA team will play four home games at Reno, Nev., and two each at Fresno and Portland, Ore.

PREP NOTEBOOK

Weather Making Coaches Grumble

By GARY TISCHLER

There haven't been so many cancellations and postponements since the airlines strike and the sun was shining then at least.

We're talking about the weather, and most of the talk has been closer to grumbling, coming from Marin County Athletic League spring sports coaches.

It's been raining so much, the top items on their equipment budgets may be arks. The Terra Linda and San Rafael baseballers don't even remember what Albert Field looks like, it's been so long. When the MCAL thinclads hear the starting gun at a meet, they call the police.

NO LESS THAN 16 baseball games have been washed out, rescheduled, reshuffled and what not until the schedule has begun to look like a Chinese checker board. Tamalpais has gotten in all of three games. It's getting so the pitcher checks the catchers signal, the runners and the clouds before each pitch.

No wonder they're calling it a wishy washy season. Don't be too surprised if they issue galoshes with spikes on them.

REDWOOD BASEBALL coach Al Endriss, undaunted by the deluge, just has to get in a game somehow. He recently placed a long distance call to Tulare, near Fresno, to see if anybody would or could play.

"We've got a dry field but it's overcast," was the answer. Endriss decided to skip it, weather being the way it was.

SPEAKING OF REDWOOD, which has gotten in nine games, the Giants have three pitchers whom they're going to start calling agents double 000 Zero. Mike Terry, Kevin Wilson and Barry Stockwell all sport earned run averages of oh-oh.

STILL ON BASEBALL, Marin County teams have nothing to be ashamed of. Right now, they're 22-22 against outside opposition with San Rafael (3-1) Redwood and Marin Catholic (6-3) and Novato (3-2) showing the way. Only Drake (1-6) has been really suffering, and even the Pirates have a victory over what is supposed to be the best team in San Francisco, Polytechnic.

THE NEWS THAT Steve Woodward, all-around super-star and super-student from Tamalpais, will not be able to play because of a diseased bone in his arm, is certainly a jolt for the Indians, if not for the whole league. An all-leaguer twice in basketball and all-MCAL second baseman last year, Woodward will have to keep his arm in a sling, totally inactive for the remainder of baseball season. An indication of the type of boy and athlete Steve is comes from the fact that he was picked non-playing captain for the Indians this year.

WHILE WE'RE at Tam, the Indians inaugurated their brand new track Tuesday with easy dual meet victories over Marin Catholic and San Rafael but Tam coach Bruce Grant was not too happy with the times and distances. The Class B time in the 880 and height in the pole vault, in fact, was better than the varsity and the frosh dash times came close to the varsity.

The Indians have to have the league's mightiest mite. Freshman Mike Biancalana ran the mile in a 5:15, not bad for a freshman but it's a super-effort when you consider that he weighs in at 88 pounds and stands all of 4-10.

THERE MAY BE SOME looking around on Drake's golf team. The No. 4 man shot the best round during the Pirates' match with San Rafael Tuesday and the No. 1 man wound up with the highest throwaway score.

SOME LEFTOVER Drake basketball notes. The five Pirate starters on the Tournament of Champions team (Chet Carlisle, Jerry Sprout, Stu Clemons, Don Alvarado and Karl Stein) were honored at a San Anselmo Rotary Club luncheon meeting last week and were given pen and pencil sets.

DRAKE'S TRACK, getting some refurbishings for the new season, inadvertently was torn up in the process and won't be in use for a while.

THERE MAY BE a Marin County representative on the East-West Northern California all-star basketball game slated for June 30 at Foothill College.

The East team would include players from Oakland, Alameda, Sacramento, Stockton and Marin County.

Black Hawks, Maple Leafs Each Missing Key Player

CHICAGO (AP) — The champion Chicago Black Hawks and third-place Toronto Maple Leafs each could be lacking a star performer as they launch their Stanley Cup semifinal series at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Toronto definitely goes without veteran goalie Johnny Bower, injured in practice yesterday, and Chicago's brilliant winger, Bobby Hull, is a doubtful starter because of an ailing knee.

The dicision on whether Hull, hobbled since March 28, plays in the opener of the best-of-7 series was to be made after a pregame medical checkup.

"Bobby can't start and stop like he wants and if the doctor feels a couple more days of rest are needed, that's the way it will be," said Hawk Coach Billy Reay.

Soccermen Draw 4,000 In Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—About 4,000 Phoenix sports fans were indoctrinated in the international sport of soccer last night when they turned out at Montgomery Stadium to watch the Chicago Spurs defeat the San Francisco - Oakland Clippers, 3-1.

Forward Willy Roy of the Spurs provided some good lessons for the fans and so did Clipper back Monsilo Garvic when he easily beat his foe to the goal area to break a 1-1 tie with a 12-yard goal with 40 minutes gone in the National Professional Soccer League exhibition match.

Two Draft Picks Sign With 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two linebackers from Tuskegee Institute—Walter Johnson and Jim Hall—have signed contracts with San Francisco's 49ers of the National Football League, the club announced yesterday.

Johnson, 23, stands 6-foot-4-inches and weighs 225. He hails from Lithonia, La., is 6-3 and 230. Johnson was an eighth round draft choice and Hall was picked in the 12th round.

PHILADELPHIA STORY — Boston Celtic Larry Siegfried found the going rough as he tried to get around 76er star Wilt Chamberlain in playoff game last night in Philadelphia. Siegfried was forced to pass off on the play. (UPI Telephoto)

76ers Take Commanding 3-0 Lead Over Sagging Celtics

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With still one more game to reap the fruit, the Philadelphia 76ers claim a distinction no other team in the National Basketball Association can — they've beaten the Boston Celtics three in a row in a playoff series.

They won their third game last night, 115-104, to take a 3-0 edge in the NBA's Eastern Division best-of-7 playoffs.

'DISGRACE"

"It's a disgrace the way Philadelphia players faked injuries to get a little extra time out. This is really chicken play," said the man who coached the Celtics to eight straight championships before turning over the reins to Player-Coach Bill Russell.

It was the only sour note recorded. Russell said it was the best game of the season for both teams. He wouldn't comment on Auerbach's charges and no one seconded them.

"I tried to shuffle the line-up putting in John Havlicek and Bailey Howell in spots to eliminate the dead periods that our team had been running into this season," said Russell.

Auerbach suggested that the NBA rule that permits a player 45 seconds to recover or leave the game be done away with.

He acknowledged, however, that the tactics he complained of, which possibly occurred four or five times by Philadelphia and also several times by Boston "didn't win the game — but it sure lengthened it."

"WE DON'T FAKE"

"The most disturbing part of this is that Boston over the years had made a farce out of the 45-second rule and certainly it has had nothing whatever to do with the outcome of the three games which we won by our play, not by our resting," said Hannum.

Hal Greer pumped through 30 points to lead the 76ers' followed by Wally Jones with 21. Wilt Chamberlain had 20 and pulled down 41 rebounds for an NBA record for a playoff game.

Havlicek was high for the Celtics with 33 points.

The fourth game will be played Sunday in Boston.

Game Called Off Because Of Sun

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sportswriter

It was former Dodger pitcher Bill yLoes who once explained an error by claiming he had lost a ground ball in the sun, but that could hardly have prepared the baseball world for the great Las Vegas sunout.

It happened yesterday when the Chicago Cubs and California Angels were locked in a fierce exhibition struggle in the gambling capital.

The score was 10-10 and Angels' pitcher Rickey Clark leaned in, looking for the plate, but couldn't find it. The sun, on the horizon directly behind the plate, was so blinding, in fact, that he couldn't see much of anything.

GAME CALLED

Clark called umpire Stan Landes to come out to the mound and take a look. Landes agreed the situation was intolerable and called the game off.

Billy William sbatted in five runs for the Cubs, two each on a pair of tremendous home runs. But the Angels scored four unearned runs in the ninth that tied the game.

Paul Schaal and Jimmie Hall hit home runs for the Angels.

Elsewhere on the baseball scene, the Baltimore Orioles assigned Steve Barber to their Rochester farm club to see if he can work into shape for the opening of the major league season next week. A mainstay of the Orioles' staff last season, Barber has been troubled with an inflamed tendon in his pitchin gelbow.

ORIOLES WIN

In a night game with the New York Yankees, the Orioles took a 5-3 decision despite six innings of shutout pitching by Mel Stottlemyre for the Yanks.

Bob Aspromonte's three-run homer was the big blow in Houston's 10-3 victory over Los Angeles.

Washington came up with four runs in the ninth, two scoring on a single by Doug Camilli, and bounced Boston 5-1. Jim Northrup hit a sngle with the bases full and two out in the ninth, driving in the winning run for Detroit, which downed Kansas City 7-6. Northrup also homered for the Tigers.

THREE FAST ONES

Atlanta scored three times in the first inning and beat Minnesota 4-3 despite a homer by Rich Rollins for the Twins. Lee May's single in the 12th inning gave Cincinnati a 1-0 win over Pittsburgh. Billy McCool gave up one hit in six innings for the Reds and Woody Fryman allowed only one hit in five frames for the Pirates.

Rich Allen and Bob Uecker homered for Philadelphia, but St. Louis rallied for two runs in the seventh innings and beat the Phils 5-4.

JACK HANLEY

Southpaws Hold Key To Giants' Chances

MODESTO—Several logical deductions, positive and negative, may be made about the 1967 Giants on the basis of six weeks evidence that unfolded in spring training. Let's look first at one of the big plus points.

The brightest bit of evidence these past six weeks was submitted by the Big Five of the team's pitching staff. The Big Five? Juan Marichal, Gaylord Perry, Bob Bolin, Lindy McDaniel and Frank Linzy. Numerically they represent half of the 10-man staff but 70 to 75 per cent of its strength.

CONSERVATIVELY, Marichal and Perry should win 40 games between them this year. Bolin is expected to contribute 15 victories. McDaniel and Linzy are expected to save their customary quota of games but they also are hopefully listed for 15 wins between them.

This totals 70 victories and leaves a 25-game gap to a successful pennant bid assuming 95 will be needed to win the 1967 National League pennant.

SO THE BIG QUESTION revolves around the contributions that will or will not be made by the second half of the pitching staff: Mike McCormick, Ron Herbel, Ray Sadecki, Joe Gibbon and Bill Henry. All but Herbel are southpaws. Can they collectively contribute 25 victories?

On the basis of his spring training camp efforts, little can be expected from Sadecki whose 7.82 ERA in exhibition games (20 runs in 23⅓ innings) was the worst of the pitching staff. Still, Sadecki may be good for half a dozen wins. At least, the Giant front office men who urged the Sadecki-Orlando Cepeda trade last May fervently hope so.

SIX WINS FROM Sadecki would leave 19 to be won by Herbel, McCormick, Gibbon and Henry to make up the needed 25 from the second half of the staff. Both Herbel and McCormick, particularly Herbel, believe they are going to make substantial contributions this year. If they won 16 between them that would leave only three for Gibbon and Henry to win.

None of these quotas is fanciful. The 40 wins allocated to Marichal and Perry certainly are not unrealistic. After all, Marichal was a 25-game winner for the second time in his career last season and Perry joined the 20-game club for the first time with a most impressive 21-8 record.

THE 15 ALLOCATED to Bolin may seem high but not on BB's strong potential. He was 11-10 last year, four of his wins being shutouts. He went six shutout innings or more in 11 other starts before giving up a run. If BB's teammates had gotten more runs for him in 1966 he easily would have had an additional half dozen victories.

The 15 allocated to McDaniel and Linzy may also seem high because they are relief stoppers, not starters. Yet last year, in addition to their saves, they shared 17 victories — 10 for McDaniel, seven for Linzy. The 7-11 record of Linzy last year was one of the team's disappointments.

JUST TWO MORE wins from Linzy last season would have made the difference between a first and second place finish. But his sinker wasn't working on several occasions and when it was at other times he became a victim of missed double plays.

This spring Linzy's sinker began dropping out of sight like it did in his rookie year of 1965. It it continues to disappear in the games that count from April 11 to Oct. 1, Linzy could very well hold the key to the pennant.

Lebanese Say Don't Draft Cassius Clay

A similar message to Johnson was sent by the head of a sporting club in Beirut, and the newspaper Al Anwar said signatures were being collected for a document asking Johnson to exempt Clay from the Army.

Aly Jarady, head of the Boxing Federation, said his message yesterday was prompted by purely sporting reasons and had no political motives.

In the message he said:

"America will not benefit from Clay as a soldier as much as it benefits from him as a sportsman. His exemption from military duty is a service to sportsmen all over the world."

He added: "Clay has put new muscle into world boxing and he should be left free to continue to do so."

The message from Wafik El Ajouz, head of the Jazireh Sporting Club, said "millions of humans" expected a decision from Johnson exempting Clay from the draft.

"This decision would prevent Clay from entering a battle he does not want to fight," the message said.

Clay is scheduled for induction April 28 in Houston, three days after his next heavyweight title defense against Floyd Patterson in Las Vegas, Nev. Clay, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, has requested deferment on the grounds that he is a Black Muslim minister.

Patton Retires

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Patton announced his retirement from pro football yesterday. He had been a defensive back for 12 years with the New York Giants of the National Football League.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Often You Can Help Partner Solve His Defense Worries

In some hands the defense is difficult from one side of the table but easy from the other.

If you are a good partner you must make things easy rather than present a problem to the unfortunate person across the table from you.

Opening lead — ♡ A

When today's han dwas played by a few thousand students last month in the annual intercollegiate championships, Wes usually opened the ace of hearts and continued with a heart to the king.

Now West was in trouble.

NO DIAMONDS?

It was possible that South had no diamonds.

In that case East might defeat the contract by returning a heart at once in the hope that West would get two trump tricks.

Whenever East did so South made the contract by discarding his singleton diamond on the third round of hearts.

West could ruff, but then declarer easily won the rest of the tricks.

WEST HOLDS KEY

East cannot be faulted for making the wrong decision at the third trick. Actually West holds the key to the problem.

West should assume that his partner holds the king of hearts and an ace.

Any defense will work if East has the ace of spades, but East must be guided if he has the ace of diamonds.

East is forced to take the ace of diamonds.

Then he cashes the king of hearts and leads another heart.

If South ruffs low, West overruffs; and if South ruffs with an honor, West's 10 of spades eventually becomes high.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump (16 to 18 points) and the nest player passes. You hold:

♠10 6 4 3
♥ A J
♦ J 9 7 6 3
♣J 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have only 7 points, and partner's maximum is 18, so that game is very unlikely.

Let your partner make a comfortable part score.

Free Shave, But What About Shine?

PRAGUE (AP) — All men employed at the factory at Jecicko have to shave at work, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

The factory produces razor blades and the shaving-room serves for "technical control." The management said it regrets that so many women are employed in the plant, "and the practical tests cannot be extended to all employees," according to the CTK.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, April 6, the 96th day of 1967 with 269 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and full stage. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

U.S author and world traveler Lowell Thomas was born on this day in 1892.

On this day in history:

In 1830, Joseph Smith organized the Church of the Latter Day Saints, or Mormon Church, in Fayette, N.Y.

A thought for the day: Belgian poet Maurice Maeterlinck once said: "Men's weaknesses are often necessary to the purpose of living."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marvelous Marin Insurance Agency Has New Co-Owner

A new co-owner has been added to Marvelous Marin Insurance Agency, Inc., San Rafael for the first time in its history.

Frank T. Follin of Santa Venetia has acquired an interest in the company after being general manager since 1963. At that time he joined the office after the death of F. Lloyd Grandi. Now he is teamed with Mrs. Grandi in the business. He has a backlog of many years experience in multiple lines and fire rating bureaus in the Bay Area.

Marvelous Marin was organized in 1933. Since its reorganization in 1963, many of the lines have been expanded. Life and hospitalization coverage have been added to general insurance lines.

LES GIRLS BEAUTY SALON in San Anselmo has been purchased by Lee Montrose, a San Francisco hair stylist. The name will continue unchanged. For the past three years Montrose has been with the Joseph Magnin beauty salon.

The transaction was handled by John Manzone of Tamarin Realty Associates, Inc.

Former owner Sarah Sosa has moved to Campbell in Santa Clara County.

A RECENT ADDITION to Drug Giant in the Ignacio Shopping Center is Ignacio Nursery —an 8,500-square-foot area devoted to extensive lines of nursery stock, insecticides, fertilizers and the like.

Operating manager Richard Zunino, who says he is offering quality merchandise at competitive prices, is also a co-owner of another nursery in Sebastopol, where he lives. He divides his time between both places.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mrs. Salle Seaman Soladay of Kentfield, who has entered the general practice of law in San Rafael in association with Lawrence A. Cowen. Their offices are in the Cheda Building.

As the wife of James R. Soladay, head of the English department at Terra Linda High School, she has had to acquire her law degree the hard way. She managed to have two babies while attending Hastings Law School and running for student body president. As a result of the extracurricular demands she was dropped from the rolls and had to put in an extra year before being graduated.

AGENCY APPOINTMENTS. Dearborn Routh and Associates, whose co-owner John Dearborn is a resident of San Anselmo, has been appointed to direct the new advertising and promotional campaign of James Allen and Sons, meat packers . . . Wenger and Michael, Inc., San Francisco has been appointed advertising agency for the Northgate Fashion Mall in Marin. Don McDaniel is account executive; Miss Miriam Goodman is his assistant.

OUTDOOR RECREATION, INC., 521 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael has been appointed exclusive dealer in Marin for the Heilite line of tent trailers and pickup tent campers. Models are available for inspection.

IT'S A BIG YEAR for science fairs in the Bay Area — there will be three of them.

Already in progress is the First Annual Santa Clara Valley Science Fair at the County Fair Grounds in San Jose. That lasts through Sunday.

If you miss that one, the annual San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair opens to the public Saturday at the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, and lasts through Wednesday.

Finally, an International Science Fair will be held in Brooks Hall at the San Francisco Civic Center May 8-13.

Top Stocks Weaken To Cut Late Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Late weakness in some leading stocks made it difficult for the stock market to hold a modest gain at the close today. Trading was fairly active.

In late dealings, losses of a point or so were shown by Montgomery Ward, Goodrich and Sperry Rand, which paced the list on volume.

IBM held about 8 points of a dozen-point rise earlier.

Gainers outnumbered losers in the closing minutes.

Volume for the first four hours was 6.8 million shares compared with 6.4 million yesterday.

The market rose from the start. In late trading gainers outnumbered losers by about 7-to-4, falling below the two-to-one ratio that prevailed earlier.

Here was the picture near the close:

The industrial average had a small gain which was clung to. Softness in some of its component blue chips made the average look weaker than the overall list.

Occidental Petroleum led in activity as it pushed ahead nearly $2 points. Second most active was Sperry Rand, which eased.

Also heavily traded, Sperry & Hutchinson, Avon Products and First Charter Financial gained more than a point each while Denver, Rio Grande & Western advanced almost 2, Scientific Data 4 and Bell & Howell sank 4½.

IBM rose 8, Polaroid 4, Pennsylvania Railroad 3, New York Central 2 and General Electric about a point.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

ANYONE FOR AN ELECTRIC CAR?

Westinghouse announced plans this week in Los Angeles to produce and market the "Markette," an electric vehicle which would be powered by a dozen six-volt batteries. Top speed will be 25 miles an hour and the auto will go about 50 miles between chargings. The basic function of the auto, a company spokesman said, is to provide short-range, convenient, smog-free transportation for urban dwellers.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Cyclical Stocks Unwise For Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We are in our early forties with two sons to educate. We own Allegheny Airlines, American Telephone and Fulton Industries. We are disturbed about the latter stock which shows a big loss. Do you believe there will be an early recovery? Would you switch Allegheny into Eastern Air Lines?" W.B.

A. I am very much pleased to try to help someone with your responsibility to a fine family. You have yourself pinpointed the weakness in your list from the standpoint of growth — in textiles where a general downturn became apparent last year. I look for no early recovery in Fulton.

As a general rule, I do not believe that investors in your position should hold cyclical stocks. I advise you to switch this issue into Gillette, a growth issue which should be relatively immune to any moderate decline in our economy.

Allegheny is a good local service airline with a rather uneven earnings record. Eastern is highly leveraged and has speculative attraction. For your objective I would prefer Pacific Southwest Airlines, which operates wholly in California.

Q. "Please list for me some preferred stocks or bonds yielding five per cent or more. We are retired and need good income with safety." V.Y.

A. I will be glad to do so. Bonds and preferreds are both fixed as to income. With the exception of convertibles, they offer you no protection whatsoever against future decline in the purchasing power of your money. With this understood, I suggest Pacific Gas & Electric six per cent preferred, selling to yield 5.41 per cent; N.Y. State Elec. & Gas 3.75 preferred, offered on a 5.43 basis. Among bonds with reasonable call protection, I like Gulf Oil 5.35s of 1991, selling to yield 5.28 per cent and Commonwealth Edison 5¾s of 1966, selling to yield 5.43 per cent.

Oil Tragedy Points Up To Size Versus Economy

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)— Britain's stout attempt to disperse with detergents a flood of oil that breached its coastal defenses is more than a symbol of man's naive hope that soap and suds will always lick slick and slime.

What is demonstrated also is the awesome size of today's ships. Such an unlikely disaster to Britain from the seas it once ruled could not have happened a couple of decades ago. Ships then were a fraction of the size they are now.

If the typical tanker of 1950 had gone aground in the same spot the resulting disturbance would have been a nuisance rather than a tragedy, leaving no more residue on the Cornwall beaches than a midterm holiday by a college crowd.

Until after World War II tankers were about 16,000 tons. Larger ships might have been possible during the war but, moving languidly, they would have been easy submarine targets.

The Torrey Canyon, now a wreck off England's southwest coast, represents a peacetime development. Fully loaded it weighs more than 118,000 tons.

The Torrey Canyon nevertheless was not nearly the largest tanker afloat. The Japanese, whose shipyards have pioneered the new size and shape of things, has afloat the Idemitus Maru, all 205,000 tons of it.

And still this is only the beginning. An oil company hopes to begin operating sometime next year the first of six tankers, each with a total weight, fully loaded, of 300,000 tons.

Such tonnage causes tanker design to stretch beyond 1,000 feet. This was once considered dangerously long because a tanker does not have nearly the supporting framework of such ocean liners as the Queen Mary or the United States.

Now plans have been drawn — by the British, in fact — for a 500,000-ton oil tanker measuring more than a quarter-mile long. The motivation, of course, is the desire to ship oil less expensively.

Business Inventory Tax Should Be Phased Out

The business inventory tax is recognized as one of the most inequitable and discriminatory taxes in California.

But because it does bring in substantial revenue to county coffers, past efforts to abolish the tax have failed. This may be the year when the state Legislature takes action to send the business inventory tax toward its ultimate grave. Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy has started the ball rolling.

The inequity is evident. Businesses that have a low markup and depend on volume sales, such as newspapers, which sell products at 10 cents apiece, get stuck for a frightfully high tax when inventory is assessed on the first Monday in March.

Other businesses that have a high markup and low turnover and do not require huge stocks on hand get off with an unrealistic low inventory tax.

Because of this, it is only natural that many businesses attempt to take evasive action by depleting their stocks to the absolute minimum on the first Monday in March. Jewelry wholesalers ship gems out of the state, even though they ultimately plan to sell them here.

Railroad cars loaded with goods sit idly across the line in Nevada until after inventory day. Barges laden with newsprint pile up at the docks, waiting for the day after inventory day for unloading.

The volume dealers, especially those who depend on seasonal business suffer heavily because they are forced to stock up heavily in February and March in preparation for pre-Easter and spring sales. Their business depends on a complete stock of goods on the shelves, not in railroad cars in Nevada.

To a degree, this same inequity applies to the household goods tax on private homeowners. Because an on-the-spot check of each household is physically impossible, the assessor must use an arbitrary formula to assess household goods. This leads to undertaxing some and overtaxing others.

Senator McCarthy has introduced legislation to abolish the household goods tax and to phase out the business inventory tax over a period of five years.

The Governor has come out in favor of the McCarthy proposals. We applaud them for exercising leadership in the move to correct the inequities.

The phase-out of the business inventory tax must be accompanied by some type of offset. Alternative sources of revenue must be found for county coffers, or the Governor's economy program must reduce government spending to the point where business inventory tax revenue will not be missed.

Otherwise, the warnings issued by Marin Assessor Bert Broemmel may come to pass: Cutting out the business inventory tax without any compensating offset could mean an added 17 cents on the county tax rate.

TEENAGERS BUILD $20,000 HOME

A high school class built a modern home—doing all the work from original design to finished product—and sold it for $20,000.

The trades class of a West Plains, Mo., high school completed the project in just two years. The boys designed and laid out the floor plans, did the carpentry and bricklaying, finishing and decorating.

The three-bedroom house has a willow paneled kitchen, a fireplace, indirect lighting and a heated bath-tub.

Asked how it was done, the boys' instructor said: "When you have 25 boys under control and they are interestd in what they are doing, they can do a lot of work."

Young people want to participate in projects that serve a constructive use. Once their desire is aroused and practical steps are offered, the energy the Lord has given them can often work wonders.

Look for ways to bring out and guide the innate powers of young people, particularly in activities that will profit people less advantaged.

(Sirach 9:17)

Open my eyes, Lord to the untapped resources of youth and help me to guide rather than criticize them.

School Unification Problems Multiplying For Legislature

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The problems of school unification are multiplying as far as the state legislature is concerned.

They reach into the basic fundamentals of self-government, and appear to hinge on whether or not the state shall dictate the make-up of the various school districts, or whether the people of a given district shall be allowed to say whether or not the district shall exist.

There is no question but many arguments favor unification of school districts, and are valid in their content, especially when they relate to reduction in costs of operation.

BUT THE QUESTION before the legislature is not only one of money, but how to retain the inherent concept of self-government and at the same time insure efficient operation of the schools.

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, has a bill before the legislature which would have material bearing on the requirements of the state for school district unification. It is AB 243, which was heard recently before an assembly sub-committee on education. No action was taken on the bill, as a great many other bills on the same subject are before the two houses.

Ryan's measure is directed to the interests of middle-sized school districts. He declares the unification law now on the books is unfair, and claims it was written for rural districts, rather than heavily populated suburban districts.

BUT ON THE other hand, districts with fewer than 200 pupils in many instances, want their district autonomy maintained.

In fact, a long string of representatives of the smaller districts appeared before the sub-committee and protested the Ryan bill on the grounds it would create many hardships for the smaller, isolated districts.

Ryan pointed out that the assembly committee has more than 14 bills on school unification.

He does not expect that his measure will come out intact, but anticipates an over-all committee bill, which will take care of the needs of some of the surburban districts, and attempt to meet the objections lodged by the smaller districts which wish to retain their autonomy.

ONE OF THE major complaints at the present time is that the state is the virtual dictator of unification requirements, all of which takes away the perogative of the people in operating their own school districts.

The state, of course, is in the picture because of the financial aid it dispenses to all school districts. By and large, the state board of education does reasonably thorough job of approving and disapproving unification plans, as is required under the law.

Thus, the legislature this year is up against a fundamental question. And the question is, how much local autonomy can be arranged, and in what areas, and at the same time, provide for efficient district administration.

Doll Project Leader Says Thanks For Aid

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to thank everyone for their contributions of dolls, materials and cash which were sent to me as a result of the item in the Independent-Journal of Dec. 20 about my project of dressing dolls for underprivileged children at Christmas.

Much of the credit must go to my daughter, Mrs. Betty Grieswell, for helping in a financial way; also locating the dolls for me and buying boys' toys. Credit, too, must go to my niece, Mrs. Edith Crocker, who dressed some dolls. We are all planning a bigger and better Christmas for the foster and other less fortunate children this coming Christmas.

National Policy Hit For Inconsistency

Editor, Independent- Journal:

Never in the history of the United States has the foreign policy of this nation been so guilty of criminal inconsistency. While U.S. soldiers are being drafted and shipped in huge numbers to Vietnam to fight the Communists, the following acts of appeasement (to mention only a few) and accommodation of Communism have taken place in just the past 16 months—all as official government policy:

U.S. troops are sent halfway around the world to defend South Nietnam from the North Vietnam Communists; yet the U.S. government refuses to take any meaningful steps to protect the United States from increasingly aggressive Communist Cuba only 90 miles from our shores.

The Administration in November and December, 1965, enthusiastically cooperated with Socialist Great Britain in imposing an economic blockade against anti-Communist Rhodesia in Southeast Africa; yet refused to order a blockade against Communist Cuba.

After rushing U.S. troops to the Dominican Republic purportedly to prevent a Communist takeover, the U.S. backed down and, according to a statement by Senator Hruska on Nov. 19, 1965: "Known Communists and Communist sympathizers were not only allowed to remain but were appointed as important and high-ranking members of the new regime."

In November, 1965, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that members of the Communist Party, USA, need not register with the U.S. Government as previously required by the Smith Act for protection of our Republic. This ruling negated 15 years of work by the FBI to control subversion in the United States.

The U.S. continues to send billions of U.S. taxpayer dollars in foreign aid to socialist, pro-Communist, and Communist countries and to permit U.S. businessmen to trade with Communist countries.

Those liberty-loving Americans who are now finally revolted by these and other enemy-aiding actions should so inform their Congressional representatives—NOW!

Parent Criticized Over School Issue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Tonight, I feel very sorry for the 11-year-old son of Maurice Erickson.

Not because he got his hands sore from cleaning up a mess he made. He made the mess; he should have had to clean it up. Since when is cleaning up cruel and inhuman? Or, is it cruel and inhuman that as a housewife I sometimes get my hands very sore from scrubbing floors, walls, pots, and pans?

I feel sorry for the 11 year old because he is being taught to be a crybaby. He is being taught that when you get caught, you bellyache. You crucify anyone who dares to punish you for your misdeeds.

Mr. Erickson, you have a son to raise. What will happen to him in future years, because of this action? Will he grow up with the idea in his head that so many teen-agers have today: that whatever they do is right; whatever any Authority says, is wrong? The logical outgrowth of this line of thought is exemplified when a policeman is sued because he dared to use a little force to arrest a thief or a murderer.

Mill Valley Bond Election Questioned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is very difficult to understand the decision of the Mill Valley school board to call a bond election in June for the most expensive and inefficient scheme for developing our schools. The board has chosen to establish a new middle school, which is necessary, but also to do patch-up work on its eight existing schools. These schools serve about 3,000 students with less than 300 in some.

It is a mistake to believe that many small schools necessarily provide better teaching situations than a few larger ones. The excessive duplication of facilities raises the cost of plant and maintenance so that less funds are available for sufficient teachers to make possible close student-teacher relations. Having many small schools also limits money for libraries and special programs, such as those in art, music, foreign languages and remedial work.

This is made especially clear by the present discussion and administrators concerning which existing special programs must be eliminated from next year's curriculum because of insufficient funds. If we cannot afford a curriculum which at present is in need of improvement, how can the school board expect to strengthen education here by maintaining our inefficient and costly accumulation of country school houses?

At present one-third of Mill Valley children ride buses to school. The bond to preserve the eight existing schools would not alter this. Hence, those residents of Mill Valley who cry for neighborhood schools should in all fairness support the building of two or three more to serve these 1000 bussed children. But this would obviously spread thinner the community's limited resources and weaken all our schools.

Clearly, the maximum use of our tax dollar and educational advantage lie in the other direction — toward consolidating our schools. Rather than duplicating facilities, let us employ the $3.5 million bond on the planned middle school and concentrate facilities for the lower grades by phasing out the least efficient schools and enlarging the others. Only by this means can we provide our children with the quality teachers, small classes and special programs they require.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN WOODROW Wilson was campaigning for President in 1912, he made a whistle stop at Hannibal, Mo., and being a great admirer of Mark Twain, slipped away from his entourage to wander for a bit among the boyhood haunts of the famous humorist.

Accosting a native, he asked, "Do you know where Tom Sawyer lived?" "Never heard of him," was the answer. "Well, how about Huck Finn?" persisted Wilson. "Never heard of him nuther," declared the native.

Wilson made one more try. "How about Pudd'n-head Wilson?" he inquired. The native's face brightened. "I heard of him, all right," he said cheerfully. "In fact, I may even vote for the durn fool."

QUICKIES:

There was a hotly contested election of a new mayor for a town in Corsica last month which evidently brought out all the voters. 31,000 ballots were cast. The town has 1,561 registered voters.

Mechanics in a Wichita auto repair shop have been cautioned not to say "Body shop" when they answer the phone. It seems their phone number is just one digit away from that of one of the city's leading funeral homes — and there have been a couple of touchy incidents.

What's Being Done About Shrinking State Business?

WASHINGTON — Are the states going out of business?

Isn't state government being washed away by a new political alliance — the federal government and the big cities?

It is, but can't it be stopped?

Three forces are bringing it about:

1. The unwillingness or the inability of the states to meet the mounting problems of urban living — education, transportation, poverty, pollution.

2. The willingness and the ability of the federal government to act as it is doing today in these fields.

3. The tendency of the nation's mayors to keep turning to Washington where they get help instead of turning to their state capitols where they get neglect.

THE END RESULT is that, what the Federalists of 1787 sought but failed to accomplish by force of theory, the Federalists of 1967 are accomplishing by force of events. It was Alexander Hamilton who argued that the states ought to be abolished entirely or at the very least the governors should be appointed by the President.

While the states are not being formally abolished, their functions are being increasingly discharged by the federal government. The tide of federal power has risen so high that, in the judgment of a federal-state advisory commission, state governments "are on the verge of losing control" over the mounting problems of the nation's vast metropolitan areas.

This means, the report concludes, "that if they lose this control, they lose the major responsibility for domestic government in the United States and in turn surrender a vital role in the American federal system."

THIS OMINOUS judgment does not come from officials eager to see the decline of the states but from a commission whose chairman is former Gov. Farris Bryant and whose members include governors and state legislators.

The beginning of any real efforts to arrest and reverse this trend must come from a clear recognition that it has been state neglect of city problems, not federal eagerness to take over, which has thrust the national government so deeply into local affairs.

As the federal government and the cities are growing more closely together, the states are finding themselves more isolated. In very large part this is due to the states' "can't do" attitude toward the cities.

For example, the Advisory Intergovernmental Relations, which I quoted above, says that only 11 states have even gone so far as to establish an office of urban affairs, while only eight states assist cities in the crucial problems of pollution.

If the answer is to be no, it must come soon. John Gardner, the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, believes in a more even distribution of power between federal, state and local government and he is anxious to increase state and local responsibility for programs now financed in large part by Washington.

Former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford is pressing a heroic crusade to modernize and strengthen state governments.

He has galvanized the Carnegie Foundation to help him create an Institute on State Programming for the 70s and is working with the Governors Conference and Council of State Gvoernments and others to lay out what needs to be done to enable the states to save themselves.

IF THE STATES fail to do their part, their demise will be suicide, not murder.

Red Educators Overflowing U.S.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Johnson Administration is replete with contradictions when it comes to financing the activities and foreign travels of educators and students.

While President Johnson has banned the covert financing of these by the Central Intelligence Agency, the State Department is increasing its underwriting of the visits of Communist educators to the U.S.

A STATE DEPARTMENT report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee disclosed that U. S. grants to Soviet bloc educators doubled in the past year as the administration strives to "build bridges to the East."

The report, titled "Exchanges with Soviet Union and Eastern Europe," also reveals that the State Department increased the number of grants to U. S. educators to visit and attend conferences behind the Iron Curtain.

Prepared under the supervision of Boris Klosson, director of the Soviet-Eastern European exchange staff, the document lists more than 70 Communists whose visits here in 1966 were paid for by the department, as compared to 35 in 1965.

COMMUNIST EDUCATORS whose visits were financed by the State Department include:

Poland — J. J. Wiatr, A. Jasinaka-Kanial and K. M. Ostrowski, of the Polish Academy of Sciences, to participate in the Second International Roundtable on Values in Politics, at University of Pennsylvania; Leopold Tyrmand, educator and writer, to give a series of lectures; Stanislaw Marian Zalwski, Warsaw University, for lectures and research at several U. S. universities.

Czechoslovakia — Jiri Krivanek, Academy of Sciences, to visit Washington; Karol Dlouhy, School of Journalism, Bratislava, to lecture; P. Smrz, Institute of Prague, to attend conference of American Physical Society.

Although U. S. authorities have evidence that many of these Iron Curtain educators are involved in the same type of activities as those financed by the CIA, there has been no review to determine whether they should be continued.

DURING THE RECENT presidential review of CIA aid to private education groups, several attempts were made by the CIA to include the State Department grants to Red visitors in the inquiry.

The former attorney general took the position that since the State Department reports regularly to Congress on this matter, there was no need to include it in the inquiry.

Also in discussions at the White House, Katzenbach expressed the opinion that these State Department activities should be expanded "as one of the ways of merging views and increasing cooperation between U. S.-Soviet bloc educators."

San Anselmo Councilmen Using Strange Logic On Saving Cash

San Anselmo Councilmen Robert M. Scott, Woodrow V. Capurro and Arthur W. Smith have some odd ideas on how to save city money.

About 400 San Anselmo residents, on a recent rating of 11 city services, placed the council eighth on the list, and street maintenance 10. But the council trio's plan for saving money, which passed with a 3-2 vote, is to cut the city street crew back one man, with the result that the street crew now has two men less than it had in 1946.

THE SAVINGS to the city is $458, the salary of one maintenance man. That is $292 less than the city will be paying out each month in salaries for councilmen starting in July.

There may, however, be additional savings involved. Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell told the council that if the position was not filled, the street crew would probably not be able to do all the work for which materials are budgeted this year. And if the money isn't spent, it's saved, right?

But this seems, at best, an odd way to reach a decision. The council budgeted the money presumably because the council felt the work need to be done. And if the maintenance man was not needed, then why did the council approve paying him a salary until the position accidentally became vacant?

(Mayor John M. Reichmuth voted to hire the maintenance man and voted against council salaries, but was on the losing side both times.)

A POINT of interest in the maintenance man fiasco was the heat with which Scott and Capurro defended their stands.

Capurro, when Councilman Duane C. Ragan noted that San Anselmo's streets are in "deplorable condition" and the street crew is now smaller than it was in 1946, answered that in 1946 the crew did not include "a street foreman who rode around in a car 8 hours a day."

The interesting thing about Capurro's statement is that he was half out of his chair and shouting.

Later, when Capurro proposed that the city authorize an appraisal of the American Legion Hall, with an eye toward buying it for recreation, Ragan questioned:

"YOU'RE PROPOSING we buy it? A while ago you objected to spending money for an employee, and now you want to buy property?"

Scott sniffed: "Is it difficult for you to follow, Duane?" The same Scott later called William Trewhella "insulting" and "out of order" when Trewhella questioned the maintenance man decision. One might easily conclude, however, that it was Scott who was out of order and insulting.

Another item of interest at the same council session: Those who remember the heat with which residence as a requirement for a city administrator was defended when City Administrator Douglas Flautt lived out of town, probably were not surprised to see how quickly the issue died as soon as the man in question was no longer Flautt.

Not a single councilman felt new City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel's nonresidence would be a problem.

Car Burglars Hit College Parking Lot

Car burglars struck twice Monday at a College of Marin parking lot in Kentfield, making off with auto stereophonic sets and tapes worth $210 total, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

Deputies said the car of Edward F. Gazanno, 23 Knoll Road, San Rafael, was entered by forcing a right ventilator window. His stereophonic set and one tape were taken.

Mrs. Patricia A. McKee, 453 Hickory Lane, Terra Linda, told officers Monday someone cut the canvas sliding top of her locked car parked at home. Stolen from the vehicle was a $200 box of tools, she said.

Donald T. Wood, custodian of Marin County Star Club, 100 Sacramento Street, San Anselmo, reported Monday that intruders pried a window screen for entry to the unoccupied building. Nothing was believed taken, however.

Hans Raven told deputies that burglars entered a feed shed at his dairy farm south of the Marin-Sonoma County line in the Valley Ford area, last Sunday stealing a $300 welding machine.

Intruders also entered an open garage door last Friday of the home of Jack Walsh, 632 Bamboo Terrace, Terra Linda. Taken from a purse in the house was $9.

Jacqueline O'Leary, 843 Rincon Way, Santa Venetia, told officers Sunday that burglars entered an unlocked bedroom, then stole candy, crackers and cookies from the kitchen.

Many Forget That Fiscal Sanity Is Two-Way Street

COMMENTING ON the conservative sweep last November, I wrote, thinking of California particularly:

"We won—but don't expect instant miracles. There's still a long row to hoe. And remember we have no right to ask the government to pull in its belt unless we're prepared to pull in our own. You don't get fiscal sanity just by voting for it—it's a two-way street."

But my warning was written on wind and in water. I just saw a wry line in a note Gov. Ronald Reagan sent a mutual friend: "Life is interesting, even confusing at times."

I knew what he meant. A liberal hates nothing more than a victorious conservative. But that hatred is doubled when the conservative actually tries to make good on his promises — that's the unforgivable crime.

Pat Brown had declared he had left things in excellent financial condition but, alas, the very first audit showed the state was spending a million dollars a day more than it was taking in. And other deficits keep showing up. Medicare is coming to far more than anticipated, and hundreds of druggists and doctors have not been paid in months.

REAGAN'S FIRST appeal was naturally to the educational field, which gets the lion's share of state revenues. He asked the academicians to pull in their belts and suggested tuition fees from those students who could afford it, as is done in almost all of the other states.

But from the howl that went up, you would have thought the last crumb of bread was being taken from the starving. Though California has boasted of its average income, it suddenly developed that practically all our university students came from impoverished families suffering from acute malnutrition.

A local TV broadcaster, George Putnam, revealed the dire need that often exists in the midst of apparent plenty. He took a helicopter over UCLA, where the moaning was loudest, and showed the hundreds — maybe thousands — of student cars parked there. And — as he observed and his audience could see — there were few 1912 Maxwells but plenty of shiny new models there. Perhaps never in history have so many ragamuffins ridden to class in such style. I wept for days.

You all saw — or read of — the pitiful march to Sacramento, where tattered teachers and students alike crawled to protest to the governor. They kept on protesting right through his answer, too.

I MISSED SOME of that but I did hear the local head of a teachers' union cry out that the proposed cut really ran to a frightful 28 per cent. Asked how he got that figure, he explained it readily. The university had asked for 18 per cent more and Reagan offered it 10 per cent less — and 18 and 10 make 28. . . . I take it this wizard specializes in the New Mathematics.

And wherever Reagan has turned, the tactic has been the same. "Get it from somebody else," has been the scream, "but our field is sacred. Cut a penny from us and you destroy civilization!"

Naturally, our liberal radio and TV commentators are not taking this assault upon humanity lightly. Louis Lomax has already accused the governor of opposing education, mental health patients, Negroes, and everything else. He has publicly prayed that Reagan would restore the cuts and at the same time jeered at the higher taxes such a course entails. How else the bills could be paid he has not bothered to explain. Still, he's not governor, so that's hardly his concern.

THERE FLASHED ACROSS my mind as he tore into the governor some old newspaper pictures I came across while doing some research a few years ago. Sometime around the World War I — I cannot state the date with precision — the English pound was falling, and the Prime Minister appealed to his people to pay their taxes in advance in order to weather the crisis.

And there were the pictures of queues, as the citizenry lined up in droves to meet the Prime Minister's call to save the credit of their government. Cockneys in caps and bigwigs in bowlers, conservatives or laborites, they responded as one. Nobody said, "Not me!"

But, of course, there were no California liberals. That's the difference, Governor.

SEA LIONESS SKIPS

Alice, Dear Alice, Please Come Home

Alice! Where art thou?

Paddling up and down San Rafael canal, waving a friendly flipper at the apartments? Or have you — oh shame! — taken off for the ocean and those big boy sea lions!

Eberyone is out looking for you, Alice.

Last night the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol, the entire board of directors of the Louise M. Boyd Museum, and Dr. George Lindsey, director of the Academy of Sciencec, scoured the San Rafael Canal by boat and tramped the banks searching to no avail.

Why did you jump over that four-foot fence surrounding your pond at the museum? Why did you waddle across the footbridge, up Albert Lane, cross Lindaro and plunge into the canal? In the dark, too!

Could it be those vitamin shots the vet gave you yesterday were just too powerful?

Alice, sweet Alice Parsons, come home.

(And if anyone does spot Alice Parsons, a brown sea lion, please call the Louise M. Boyd Museum, 76 Albert Park Lane, San Rafael. She escaped some time last night. A cage, truck, and crew of rescuers are standing by.)

First Draft Card Burner Sent To Jail, Still Defiant

NEW YORK (AP) — David J. Miller, 24, the nation's first draft card burner, was sent to jail today for still refusing to get a new draft card.

Miller sat down on the courtroom floor when Federal Judge Harold R. Tyler sentenced him to two-and-one-half years as a violator of probation.

"I will sit down, because I want to show you it's against my will," said Miller. Marshals grabbed his arms and legs and carried him to an elevator.

Judge Tyler had found Miller guilty on March 15, 1966 of burning his draft card. He had sentenced him to three years in prison, but suspended it on condition he get a new draft card within 15 days. The conviction was upheld by appeals court and the Supreme Court refused to review it.

Meredith Talk At U.C. Draws Mixed Reaction

BERKELEY (UPI) — James Meredith, who recently changed his mind about running against Adam Clayton Powell for Harlem's congressional seat, received a mixed reaction yesterday during a speech to about 1,500 students at the University of California.

Meredith said the nation's racial problems "could be solved almost overnight if the generals of society would give the order." He said Negroes should "work together for political gains" and seek ways of gaining economic power.

He described civil rights activist Stokely Carmichael as a "25-year-old man who is trying to dodge the draft."

Radar Trap Nets Illegal Drugs

Police arrested Douglas A. Hansen, 18, Santa Cruz, after he was stopped for speeding yesterday. They said a routine search of his car disclosed a suitcase full of LSD, marijuana, suspected methedrine and other drugs.

Hansen was held in lieu of $6,600 bail.
